JFK Moves To Halt Nationwide Rail Strike

Delays Work Stoppage For Sixty Days

Three-Man Board Will Try To End Rules Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy invoked emergency procedures Wednesday to put off for at least 60 days the threat of a possible nationwide railroad strike. A walkout had been threatened for next Monday.

Kennedy, acting under terms of the Railway Labor Act, named a three-man board to try to settle a 4-year-old work rules controversy.

The railroads have been trying to lay off workers they claim are "featherbedding" — filling jobs management believes are no longer necessary — costing the carriers $600 million a year.

The President picked former New York Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, onetime special counsel to former Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, as chairman of the emergency board.

The other two members are Nathan Feinsinger, University of Wisconsin law professor, and Dr. Clark Kerr, chancellor of the University of California.

All three men have had long experience on such government boards and in mediating and arbitrating a wide variety of labor disputes.

Kennedy's action means that the board will have 30 days, a period that could be extended by common consent, to propose settlement recommendations. The law requires another 30-day period for negotiations.

During this period the five operating unions, representing some 200,000 on-train employes, are prohibited from striking. The carriers also are banned from putting their proposed manpower cuts into effect.

The railroads had announced they would start the job reductions next Monday — a step that inevitably would have led to a strike.

The White House announced that the board will begin its work here Thursday.

In an executive order creating the board Kennedy said the dispute threatened "substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive a section of the country of essential transportation service."

The five unions are the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen, Conductors, Trainmen, and Switchmen.

The unions have stoutly resisted the proposed manpower economies. They claim the rail work force has been cut from 1.2 million in 1947 to less than 700,000 now. They say the carriers are trying to cut the work force down eventually to some 350,000.

The Right To Vote?

Greenwood Police Again Halt Negroes On Way To Register

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — Nineteen Negroes marching to register to vote stood their ground Wednesday after police repeatedly ordered them to break up the mass march.

Police grabbed them one by one, pushed them into a bus, and jailed them.

The Negroes had walked two-by-two from their registration campaign headquarters. Police met them and barred their way after 11 blocks.

His voice booming over an amplifying megaphone, Police Chief Curtis Lary told the Negroes at least half a dozen times to disperse in small groups. He said they would not be stopped if they scattered.

"We will not disperse," Ida Hallen, a Negro girl at the forefront replied.

Uniformed officers and auxiliary police with riot sticks started picking off the group from the end of the line and herding them into the bus.

Officer Roy Logan spun around a big Negro who resisted and, with the aid of another officer, half-dragged, half-carried the man to the bus.

The Negroes, part of a group pressing a bitter voter registration drive in this cotton-growing delta country, were charged with disorderly conduct and disobeying a police officer.

U.S. Dist. Judge Claude Clayton has set a formal hearing here Thursday on a government request for a court order banning interference with Negro voter reg istration efforts.

Police Commissioner B. A. Hammond said police offered to take the Negroes back to their vote registration headquarters — as had been done after police broke a march Tuesday. They refused, he said.

Hammond said police had no chioce but to lock them up.

Negro entertainer Dick Gregory, left standing by himself after the marchers were driven to jail, said he has canceled his contracts.

"I will stay here until the federal government does something about police brutality," he said, "and allows these people to go to the courthouse to vote."

British Unveil Budget With Tax Slash

Deficit Spending Designed To Help Jobless, Underpaid

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government unveiled Wednesday a deficit budget for 1963-64 that will free some 3.75 million low-income Britons from income taxes. The main aim is to encourage business expansion without inflating the economy.

Spending will exceed revenues by $198.8 million under estimates of this budget, drawn up at a time when regional unemployment is a problem and the opposition Labor party is striking vigorously at Conservative policies.

This is the first time a British government has come up with a red ink budget since 1946-47.

As presented to the House of Commons by Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, the treasury boss, expenditures will be 6,929,000,000 pounds — $19,401,200,000, against income of 6,858,000,0 pounds. The outlay is to be 546 million pounds—$1,579,200,000—greater than last year.

The money earmarked for defense, however, will drop the equivalent of $98 million to $4,718,000,000.

Contrary to general expectations, Maudling left the stiff basic income tax rate unchanged. But as a sweetener to the man in the street he increased exemptions at the lower levels. That is expected to cost the treasury $753.2 million a year.

Maudling said his aim is to bring about an increase in the gross national product of four per cent, or about twice the average increase of recent years.

In moves to encourage industry, he proposed to:

1. Grant firms up to 95 per cent of the cost of clearing and rehabilitating derelict building sites, compared with the present 75 per cent.

2. Permit industries to write off the cost of capital equipment in plants installed in areas of severe unemployment at any rate they choose for tax purposes.

3. Give enterprises moving into or expanding plants in these distressed areas government grants covering 25 per cent of building costs and 10 per cent of the cost of their equipment.

"The theme of my budget," Maudling said, "is expansion — expansion without inflation."

Severe unemployment has badly eroded Macmillan's popularity in recent months. The total of jobless reached nearly a million in January and still stood at 701,930—3.1 per cent of the working population — in mid-March.

In U.S. monetary terms, the main income tax concessions to individuals were an increase of $168 in the present $560 exemption for single persons and an increase of $224 in the $672 exemption for married couples.

President Tangles With Ike's Views On Spending, Space

Tells Press Conference More Red Troops Have Left Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy tangled Wednesday with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's views on spending and space—and said the fiscal record of his predecessor is not one "we plan to duplicate if we can help it."

Kennedy recalled that Eisenhower's administration ran up the biggest peacetime deficit in history.

On a key, thorny issue of international concern, Kennedy estimated at a news conference that the Soviet Union has pulled 4,000 troops out of Cuba in the last month. This is 1,000 more than the figure he gave two weeks ago.

As for the man who ordered them out, Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Kennedy grinned and brought a laugh when he was asked about the political struggle in the Kremlin.

"I don't know for sure," he said, "but I would suspect he has his good months and his bad months like we all do."

Long-Range Duel

With Eisenhower, Kennedy got into a long-range duel, at first rather indirectly and then more pointedly.

He was told Eisenhower had "taken a crack at the national budget" and suggested about $13 billion could be whacked from its total of nearly $100 billion.

He was told, too, that: "The general was especially critical of your space program. He said that there were enormous sums being wasted in that field."

This led to a request for comment. Kennedy seemed happy to comply.

Kennedy went after Eisenhower first by way of former Budget Director Maurice Stans, on whom he said the former president relied for guidance.

Largest Peacetime Deficit

"Under Maurice Stans," he said, "this country had the largest peacetime deficit in history. It took a $500-million surplus and put it into a $12.5-billion deficit. It had the largest outflow of gold in dollars in our history, 1959, about $3.9 billion. We had two recessions, 1958 and 1960, and we had the highest peacetime unemployment, 1959, since World War II.

"That is not a record that we plan to duplicate if we can help it."

Branching into space, Kennedy said he thinks the United States should continue to make a major effort to be first in space. He added that Congress almost unanimously reached a decision to make the attempt.

Not New Position

Eisenhower's opposition to this, he said, "is not a new position to him." He said he believes it goes back to the time the Soviet Union launched the first successful space satellite.

"But it is a matter on which we disagree," the chief executive said.

"It may be that there is waste in the space program. If there is waste, then I think it ought to be cut out by the Congress, and I am sure it will be.

"But if we are going to get into the question of whether we should reconcile ourselves to a slow pace in space, I don't think so."

Reverting to the budget, Kennedy said it couldn't possibly be cut by "nine or ten billion without cutting the heart out of the military budget."

Elaborating on the problem of the continued presence of Soviet troops in Cuba, Kennedy said his figures were only rough calculations because it is impossible to take a detailed head count.

The 4,000 he estimated were removed in the last month would bring the total withdrawn since the peak of the Cuban crisis to 9,000. The total in Cuba at that time, he said, was about 21,000 or 22,000. This would mean that 12,000 or 13,000 still may be on the island.

No Announcement

The President discussed the Soviet troops in Cuba in response to a question. He often opens his meetings with reporters with one or more announcements, but this time he had none.

Another question was about the difficulties of preventing hit-and-run raids against Cuba by exiles.

"Florida has a long coast," he said, commenting that it was hard to police every inch of the coastline.

But he said it was necessary to make the effort to halt the raids, which he said appeared to

Navy Leader Is Ready To Talk Truce

Fighting Stops With Both Sides Claiming Victory

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The commander of an Argentine navy fleet threatening Buenos Aires arrived by plane in the capital Wednesday night to discuss a truce with the government. Both sides were claiming victory in the two-day-old rebellion.

Rear Adm. Eladio Vazquez flew here via the big navy base at Puerto Belgrano, 350 miles south of here.

Loyalist military leaders claimed the rebels had laid down their arms after being pushed back in heavy fighting south of here. But a rebel source said Vazquez "is not coming to surrender. He will only negotiate a truce."

Retired Adm. Isaac Rojas, a former provisional vice president of Argentina, was reported still aboard one of the fleet ships. A report from Montevideo, Uruguay, said Rojas was quoted in a radio broadcast as rejecting any arrangements with the government of President Jose Maria Guido.

Sources here said the two retired army generals who sparked the revolution — Benjamin Menendez and Federico Toranzo Montero — also had flown to Puerto Belgrano.

A rebel radio broadcast earlier in the day announced a new national government would be set up in the port city of Bahia Blanca, near Puerto Belgrano.

A few defections were reported from the rebel ranks. Two more navy planes flew into Montevideo to seek asylum, bringing to 16 the number of rebel officers who have fled to neighboring Uruguay during the revolt.

The navy launched the revolt Tuesday to remove Guido and cancel elections June 23 for a new president and Congress. The navy fears that followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron — controlling a third of the nation's votes — will win and gain control of the government. The rebels claim Peronist rule will open the way for a Communist takeover of Argentina, South America's second largest nation.

Despite loyalist claims that the navy had given up the fight, army and air force units loyal to Guido were ordered to remain at their battle stations.

The correspondent for the newspaper La Nueva Provencia of Bahia Blanca told The Associated Press that Vazquez had arrived at Puerto Belgrano under heavy navy guard. Earlier, the government reported Puerto Belgrano had been in control of the loyalist army.

Loyalist claims of an end of rebel operations were branded by rebel sources here as "lies, not near the truth."

Four Hoodlums Stomp FBI Man During Funeral

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four Brooklyn men stomped an FBI agent nearly to death Wednesday because he was making pictures with a candid camera of hoodlums attending the funeral of Carmelo Lombardozzi, father of a key figure in the Appalachin underworld conference.

They left federal agent John P. Foley critically injured on the sidewalk in front of the church and ran inside.

Police respected the traditional right of church sanctuary and waited for them to come out before they arrested them.

After the services, police hustled off to jail John Joseph Lombardozzi, 37; Camillo Charles Lombardozzi, 27; Daniel Joseph Marino, 22, and Michael Joseph Zampello, 23. John Joseph is a son of the deceased and the other three are grandsons.

Carmine Lombardozzi, 49, a reputed leader of the Mafia, was at the funeral, but stayed out of the attack on Foley.

Carmine spent 14 months in jail because he refused to answer questions about the underworld meeting in November, 1957, at the estate of Joseph Barbara Sr.

Investigators contended that Lombardozzi beat an underworld death sentence at the meeting by paying a court composed of gangland's top crime chiefs a $10,000 fine.

John Joseph currently is free on bail awaiting trial on charges he transported $100,000 worth of stock certificates in the million dollar Bache & Co. theft last year from New York into New Jersey.

Two Brothers Rescued From Mine Cave-In

HAMILTON, Ala. (UPI) —Two brothers were rescued from a coal mine at nearby Winfield early Wednesday after spending 32 hours trapped by a cave-in. Their only complaint was that they ran out of cigarettes.

Bobby Gene Johnson, 23, and Lewis Ray Johnson, 20, both of Carbon Hill, were freed shortly before dawn by rescue workers who by-passed a 150-foot section of the tunnel blocked by fallen rock.

The brothers were examined by a physician when they were brought out. He said they were in "good condition" despite the lack of food and water.

The men complained only of running out of cigarettes while trapped some 2,000 feet from the mine entrance.

Bidault Gets Visa To Brazil

BRASILIA (UPI)—The Brazilian government Wednesday authorized an entrance visa for anti-Gaullist Georges Bidault, presidential press secretary Raul Ryff said.

Bidault, a former French premier, is now in Lisbon, Portugal.

Bidault, who has dedicated himself to toppling the regime of French President Charles de Gaulle, refused asylum in West Germany because of the condition he cease his political activities. He went to Lisbon and was told there he must cease his anti-Gaullist activities if he remains there.

Cairo Officials Almost Asphyxiated

CAIRO (AP)—A glass partition separated the driver from his two passengers in the back seat—visiting Vice President Rashidi Kawana of Tanganyika and Egyptian Minister Mohamed El Bahei.

It wasn't until the driver stopped the car at nearby Mehalla Tuesday that he discovered the two dignitaries were unconscious.

The air conditioning in the back of the car had failed and the dignitaries were almost asphyxiated. They spent the night in a hospital.

Employes Reject Politeness Prizes

LONDON (AP) — The government-operated British European Airways offered prizes to its employes for politeness to passengers.

The employes rejected the idea Wednesday.

"We don't want prizes for doing our job properly," said a spokesman for stewards and stewardesses. "The company's plan is childish and crazy." He added the employes want more pay and better working conditions.

French Miners Capitulate To DeGaulle Stand

PARIS (UPI) — Leaders of France's 200,000 striking coal miners Wednesday night caved in before the firm stand of the Gaullist government and initialled an accord with the National Coal Board that could end a 34-day-old walkout.

Leaders of the four striking mine unions must submit the agreement to ratification before the miners could return to work, probably on Friday.

The wage increases granted were virtually the same as those which the mining unions rejected at a first round of negotiations on March 24. Miners said then they would strike until they received an immediate 11 per cent wage increase.

The agreement Wednesday night called for an immediate 6.5 per cent wage increase to be brought to 7.25 per cent July 1 and 8 per cent Oct. 1. The increase will reach 11 per cent Jan. 1, 1964, and 12.5 per cent on April 1, 1964.

The agreement also promised to review miners' wages in September in light of increases in other industries. The mines are nationalized and under control of the government.

Miners also had asked for a fourth week of paid vacation and a reduction of working hours from 48 to 40 per week. On this the government promised only to give miners 24 days off a year.

Greeks Thwart Ban-Bomb-March

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek government Wednesday banned a 26-mile ban-the-bomb march from Marathon to Athens scheduled for April 21 by the Greek Youth Association for Nuclear Disarmament.

The Interior Ministry said the march was organized by local Communists. The Communist party is outlawed in Greece.

India To Get Arms From Yugoslavia

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Yugoslavia has agreed to sell rifles, machine guns and mountain artillery to India, a Yugoslav Embassy spokesman said Wednesday.

India is bolstering its defenses against the Red Chinese along the disputed border in the Himalayas. The United States, Britain, Canada and Australia are sending $120 million worth of arms to India.

Explosion Hits Chemical Plant

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP) — An explosion at the Dow Chemical Corp. plant near here Wednesday night erupted into a tower of flame and shook a wide area.

State police said apparently there were several injuries.

The explosion reportedly occurred in an ethylene unit.

Authorities at nearby Baton Rouge sent dozens of sheriff's deputies, doctors and nurses to assist in emergency operations at the plant.

White House Fountain Makes Good Swim Pool

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The warm spring weather in Washington was just too much for the Kennedy children Wednesday.

While surprised and excited tourists watched from the other side of the iron fence, Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2, went swimming in the large fountain on the south grounds of the White House.

No President's children have ever jumped into the circular pool surrounding the fountain before. Ordinarily it serves as a decorative centerpiece in the White House landscape and is lighted up at night.

But Wednesday Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy took her two children and three visiting playmates to splash around in the fountain.

Caroline and John Jr. paddled about contentedly. The temperature was in the 80's, the sun was bright, and soon the three playmates joined them.

Higher Ceiling On ARA Borrowing Being Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An official of the United Mine Workers of America said Wednesday the ceiling must be raised on the amount of money a community may borrow from the Area Redevelopment Administration to encourage new industry.

Joseph P. Kennedy, assistant to UMW President W. A. Boyle, testified before the House Banking Committee on a bill to extend the benefits of the Area Redevelopment Administration, set up two years ago to help depressed economic areas.

"One of the major problems of the depressed areas is a shortage of available capital," Kennedy said. "Because of this fact, the ARA act allowed the government to make available money on favorable interest terms and for relatively long periods of time."

The money is to be used to provide the necessary financial support to allow a community to attract new industry or to expand existing industry.

Under the present law, there is a ceiling of $100 million on such loans. The amendment before the committee would raise the level to $250 million.

"We believe that such an increase is in the national interest and will further the ends of the ARA," Kennedy said.

Canada Faces Prospects Of Indecisive Election

EDITOR'S NOTE — Canada holds an election April 8. Will it bring a decision on the long-delayed question of accepting nuclear warheads on Canadian soil? Max Harrelson, AP correspondent, reviews in the following story the problems facing Canada as the voting nears.

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada appears to be resigned to the grim prospect that another indecisive election will bring it a minority government powerless to act on defense, unemployment and other vital issues.

This would virtually rule out an early decision on the long-delayed question of accepting nuclear warheads on Canadian soil—the issue which led to the fall of Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's government last month.

It also could delay action on pressing economic problems—unless the winning party achieves a working arrangement with one or more of the opposition parties.

Political Stalemate

Many Canadians are concerned over the continuation of this political stalemate which has kept the country in a state of uncertainty for nine months.

"There may never have been a time when there were greater misgivings," says the influential Montreal Gazette.

One commentator, somewhat weary of the frequent elections, quipped that Canada is an old Indian word meaning "Land of Perpetual Elections, Running From Sea Unto Sea, From Year Unto Year."

The last election, held June 18, gave Diefenbaker's Conservatives 116 seats in the House of Commons—17 short of a clear majority. The Liberals won 100, the Social Credit party 30 and the New Democrats 19. Diefenbaker's government was toppled Feb. 5 when the three opposition parties joined in a vote of no-confidence.

That brought the election which will be held April 8.

Here is the outlook as the campaign enters its final days:

—Lester B. Pearson's Liberal party appears to be holding a narrow edge over the Conservatives and hopes to form the next government.

—Indications are that the right-wing Social Credit party is gaining at the expense of both Liberals and Conservatives, decreasing the likelihood that either of the two major parties can get a clearcut majority.

"If this comes to pass," says thr Toronto Star, "Canada will be doomed to political instability. No party will be able to govern without the help of at least one other party, and this means that no strong policies can be pursued."

Coalition Rumors

There have been rumors of a move for a coalition between the two major parties if neither wins a majority. At this stage it seems improbable. At the moment, certainly, neither can afford to suggest that it might lose the election.

A more likely election result could mean that the Liberals, with a minority in Commons, would have to turn to a third party, the Socialist New Democrats, for support. Such support is not likely on the nuclear issue. The New Democrat leader, T. C. Douglas, opposes the acceptance of nuclear weapons under any conditions. The Liberals have said they would accept them to the extent necessary to fulfill previous commitments.

Lack Confidence

The basic difficulty seems to be a lack of confidence in the two major parties, which traditionally rule the country. Canada has always left the governing to a single party—even though this was done sometimes under a constant threat that the opposition would force a new election.

The most successful example of this practice was the administration of Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King, who carried on without even controlling the largest number of seats in Parliament. He had a stable government and put through an impressive program, including Canada's first old-age pension plan.

In the present campaign neither Diefenbaker nor Pearson appears to have been able to inspire the degree of confidence needed to heal the divisions in the country and to rally any great measure of enthusiasm.

The Montreal Gazette summed it up this way: "While Mr. Pearson appears embarrassingly light in the presence of weighty issues, Mr. Diefenbaker appears embarrassingly self-engrossed. Neither attitude is timely, nor enough."

Shifts to the Social Credit and New Democratic parties in recent voting are partly a protest against the policies of the major parties. This is especially true in Quebec Province, where the Liberal stand on the nuclear issue has met strong opposition.

The Social Credit party has cashed in on the disenchantment of Quebec's French-speaking population with both old parties. Real Caouette, the dynamic Social Credit leader in Quebec, has concentrated on alleged discrimination against French-speaking Canadians and the acceptance of nuclear weapons.

Surveys Seem Accurate

Public opinion surveys indicate Caouette's reading of public sentiment was accurate. His party was reported to be gaining and the Liberals sagging.

Caouette has also used suspicion of the United States as a weapon in his Quebec campaign. He said U.S. domination was shown when the provincial government — run by Liberals—borrowed money in the United States in order to take over privately owned power companies.

Anti-Americans

Pearson has run into some anti-American demonstrations from time to time, but these have not been extensive or frequent. In Hamilton, Ont., the Liberal leader was greeted by booing and jeers from 75 pickets carrying antinuclear placards. These included one calling him "the Pentagon Pet" and another saying, "Let's Teach Pearson How to Say No."

Diefenbaker, perhaps aware of surveys indicating a rise of U.S. prestige in Canada, has not hit the anti-American issue as hard as had been forecast. He has touched on it to some extent in connection with the nuclear question.

A Fickle Partner

On one occasion he referred to the United States as a "fickle partner." On other occasions, he declared, "Our policy won't be dictated by Washington" and said Canada will not become "a dumping ground for (U.S.) nuclear weapons."

Since 1958, the Diefenbaker government has spent $700 million on missiles and planes designed to carry nuclear warheads, but Canada's 56 Bomarc missiles and her Voodoo jet interceptors are still without warheads.

Economic Problems

During the campaign Diefenbaker has stuck to his position that Canada will accept nuclear weapons when and if an emergency arises. Negotiations with U.S. defense officials on the question of control are still going on, he says.

Of more interest to Canadian voters than the nuclear question, probably, is the state of the economy and which party can best promote it. The nation is fairly prosperous, but a continuing rash of unemployment has brought talk especially among Liberal candidates, for tightened fiscal responsibility.

Medical School Aid Bill Goes To Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee, carrying out the wishes of President Kennedy has cleared for floor action a bill to provide $205.7 million aid for medical and dental schools.

The bill, sidetracked earlier by a 7-7 vote in the committee, sailed through by voice vote Wednesday. It probably will not be considered by the House until after the Easter recess.

Invisible CAT, "Clear Air Turbulence" Is Termed Greatest Menace To Air Transportation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — They call it CAT for "clear air turbulence."

It has killed a lot of people and hurt and menaced many more.

It is invisible. Unlike killer storms, it flies no warnings.

It has been encountered by U2 airplanes at altitudes up to 70,000 feet in cloudless and sunny skies. It was first discovered about 13 years ago.

It is a potentially deadly booby trap for high-flying, high-speed jet transports and their cargoes of human life.

CAT, the weather bureau said Tuesday, is "one of the major unsolved problems in aviation weather forecasting."

So the bureau is trying, in a program it has been pushing since 1960, to develop means of forecasting CAT in time to warn pilots to steer clear of it.

Clear air turbulence may take many forms. A level wind of 40 or 50 miles an hour may suddenly reverse itself. A smooth jet of air tearing along at 200 miles an hour may abruptly break up into violent eddies, like water rushing over boulders.

Sometimes so-called vertical shears may occur, compounded of rapidly rising wind currents next door to rapidly descending currents.

Whatever form it takes, CAT "can at times cause discomfort and even serious injury to the crew and passengers, possible loss of control of the aircraft and even serious stresses on the plane."

The weather bureau said CAT was cited as "one of the contributing factors" in the Tell City, Ind., crash of March 17, 1960. In that disaster, a transport plane "exploded" in the air, killing 63 persons.

A bureau spokesman said it is "conservatively estimated" that at least two giant B-52 H-bombers were brought down by CAT.

The causes of CAT are still obscure. It occurs suddenly. It usually is small scale—10 to 50 miles in width or length and 2,000 to 3,000 feet thick. It may last for half an hour or less.

Occurrences usually are scattered, and a plane flying through a "high probability" region stands no more than a 50-50 chance of running into a rough patch of CAT.

The weather bureau has been collecting reports of upper air conditions from pilots of planes flying above 15,000 feet. It is searching for information relating CAT to specific time periods, regions, and general weather patterns.

Any form of energy traveling through a medium such as air is distorted in some way by breaks in the medium like those caused by sudden turbulences. It is at-

Maryland Board Fails To Hire Fair Director

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Board of Public Works would not approve Wednesday the hiring of Robert Filliettaz as executive director of the Maryland World's Fair Commission.

The commission had hired Filliettaz at a salary of $1,250 a month, effective last Monday.

The commission will handle Maryland's exhibition at the fair which will be held in New York during 1964 and 1965.

Members of the board said it was the first time they had known that an executive director had been hired and wanted more information before taking any action.

The board also approved a $230,000 purchase price for the acquisition of 584 acres at the southern tip of St. Marys County on which Point Lookout State Park will be established.

Delaware Whip Post Law Is Called Legal

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Public whipping is legal under both state and federal constitutions and if a change is desired it is up to the legislature not the judiciary to revamp the law, the Delaware Supreme Court said Wednesday.

The ruling came on an appeal by Franklin W. Cannon, 20, from a sentence of 20 lashes as a probation violator. The whipping would be inflicted in accordance with the sentence and the law—publicly by "strokes on the bare back well laid on."

"It is argued to us that we should recognize that modern view condemning corporal punishment for crime and declare that infliction of lashes as punishment is the remnant of a cruel age, and should be declared a violation of the constitutional prohibition against cruel punishments," Delaware's highest court said.

"We think, however, this is not our function."

The court said in effect that legislation, not judicial action, is the way to get rid of Delaware's 144-year-old whipping law if this is what the people want.

The decision, the court said, "may not be taken in any sense as an expresson of opinion of any or all members of the court upon the broad policy question."

Delaware is the only state to allow whipping of criminals, although no such sentence has been carried out in the state since 1952. Cannon, who had a record of juvenile arrests, originally was sentenced to 20 lashes for auto theft, but was placed on probation. When he was arrested several months later and charged with larceny, Judge Stewart Lynch reimposed the whipping sentence.

Counsel for Cannon had argued before the Supreme Court that public whipping is cruel today, although it may not have been at one time. He claimed the state legislature had not set a definite legislative policy on it since before the Revolutionary War.

The date of Cannon's whipping now will be set by Judge Lynch unless there is a further appeal.

Charles Boyer Taken Ill On Stage

NEW YORK (AP)—The curtain was dropped halfway through the last act of the Broadway play, "Lord Pengo," Tuesday night when the star, Charles Boyer, became ill.

One of the other actors ad libbed a line, "Are you all right, Dad?" Boyer answered, "I'm not feeling so good." The two walked off the stage and the curtain was rung down.

The audience was told Boyer had a slight case of food poisoning.

Duke Reappointed Insurance Consultant

Henry Duke, local insurance consultant, Tuesday was reappointed to handle the various insurances of the county by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Duke analyzes all insurance which the county purchases and recommends various changes in coverage of policies. He did similar work for the county during the past few years.

Maryland News Briefs

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP)—The mayor and City Council are apparently deadlocked over whether a council vacancy should be filled before the municipal elections in May.

Mayor James Vancherie has asked for immediate approval of a Negro woman, Mrs. Mildred Stansbury, to fill the seat of the late Phillip Jones. The council has urged that the mayor elected in May be permitted to name the councilman.

Vancherie called a special meeting of the council Tuesday to discuss the nomination but it was cancelled for lack of a quorum.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Walter Allen, 33, has been charged with being a fugitive from Fort Walton, Fla., where he is accused in the 1951 murder of Romeo Beaudry, a service station attendant.

Police said Allen was stationed at Eglin Air Force Base at the time of slaying of the 59-year-old crippled man. Anthony E. Glionna, 32, recently surrendered to police at Johnston, N.Y. and said he was also implicated in the slaying.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington's cherry blossom festival tripped the Senate schedule Wednesday.

The Senate convened two hours early to try to speed action on the mass transit bill. But, after one vote, Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced that all further roll calls would be put off until afternoon.

The reason: Several proud senators were going to escort their daughters to a luncheon for state queens at the festival.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Federal agents were searching the Baltimore area today for a fugitive from a South Carolina prison camp.

Thomas J. Jenkins, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, said his office had received reports that David Bracey, 31, is in the area. Jenkins said Bracey was serving a life term for murder and has escaped twice from the prison camp.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland announced the appointment of Dr. Clodus R. Smith Wednesday as director of the 1963 term of summer school.

Dr. Smith is associate professor of agriculture and extension education. He has been with the university since 1959.

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—The state committee promoting National Library Week from April 21-27 will use the observance to direct attention to impact of modern times on democracy.

Lawrence E. Rohde, committee chairman, said the emphasis would be placed on contemporary democracy through distribution of reading lists relevant to the subject.

Some species of Chihuahua, the world's smallest breed of dog, weighs only 16 ounces.

Washington Co. Delegate Quits

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Del. J. Herbert McElwee, D-Washington, submitted his resignation from the Maryland House of Delegates to Gov. Tawes Wednesday.

McElwee gave no reason for the resignation but said it had nothing to do with his application for the postmastership of Hagerstown.

McElwee was elected to the house last November. he had served in the house once before, in the early 1940s.

Charles F. Delphey, chairman of the Washington County Democratic State Central Committee, said the resignation was unexpected.

McElwee served as civil defense director for Washington County prior to his election to the legislature.

Skis To Work

DUBLIN CORNERS, Mich. (UPI) — Tree farmer Otto Sekanina lugged a gasoline power saw to work on skis this winter. He said the oak pulpwood market was so good he couldn't afford to let a mere 30 inches of snow keep him from working.

B&O Seeks Permission To Reduce Rates On Coal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) Wednesday for permission to cut its coal rates to match slashes granted for other Eastern railroads earlier.

The rates, already granted to New York Central, Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and Pittsburgh & Shawmut Railroads, apply to coal shipped from mines in Pennsylvania and West Virginia to the Middle Atlantic states.

The B&O asked that the ICC waive the usual 30-day waiting period for rates to go into effect and allow it to make the new schedule applicable Thursday.

The rates for the other four went into effect last Saturday.

Police Give Report

The Police Department made 276 arrests and collected $495.80 in fines in March, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said Monday. There were 32 fire calls during the month. Minor damage resulted.

Lakes Above Spillways

Lake Gordon is two inches above the spillway and Lake Koon 1½ inches above, a report by Ray Nixon, water plant foreman, to the Mayor and Council, showed Monday. Consumption for the week ending Sunday was 59,420,000 gallons compared to 64,780,000 the same period a year ago.

Health Group Celebrates Anniversary

An entertainment program featured the 15th anniversary celebration of the Cresaptown Lay Health Group, which was held in the form of a luncheon at Barton's Restaurant Tuesday. Mrs. Lester McGill, chairman, extended the greeting. Mrs. N. S. Yoder offered the invocation and Mrs. Dirk Vandenberg led group singing.

A comedy after dinner speaker entitled, "The Distinguished Guest" was presented by Mrs. Vandenberg and Mrs. James Ritchie. Mrs. Carl Moreland gave a humorous reading, "What Husbands Is," and conducted a quiz entitled "15 Years Ago."

Guests were Mrs. Yoder, Pinto, the first lay worker in Allegany County; Miss Myra Nefflen, Keyser, retired principal of Cresaptown School when the group was organized; and Miss Margaret Morrissey, health nurse, who with the late Dr. Winter R. Frantz, was in charge of organizing the group.

The regular business meeting will be May 7 at 1:30 at the Cresaptown School.

The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Mrs. Moreland, Mrs. Haydn Phillips, Mrs. Hubert Martz and Mrs. McGill. Others present were Mrs. Martin Sharp, Mrs. Leon Knotts, Mrs. Robert Cessna, Mrs. Milton Moon, Mrs. Brownlee Armstrong, Mrs. William Riley, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Donley Kidwell, Mrs. Edward Lewis, Mrs. Marshall VanMeter, Mrs. Donald McGill, Mrs. Dale Kelley, Mrs. A. G. Wallis, Mrs. Betty Werner, health nurse assisting in the area; Miss Peroni Grassi, chief nurse at the Allegany County Health department; Mrs. Betty Lepley, health nurse at Cresaptown area; Mrs. Jessie Ferrone, Mrs. James Armstrong, Mrs. John Bancord and Mrs. Harry Grimes.

PACKING FOR CONVENTION — Twenty students of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, accompanied by Mrs. Wilhelmina Shockey and Miss Barbara Haan, advisors, will leave Friday morning to attend the Student Nurses Council of Maryland 1963 convention in Annapolis. It will be April 5-7. Beginning with a social hour Friday, there will be health agency exhibits; speakers on "Public Health and Missionary Nursing"; "The Nursing Anesthetist" and industrial nursing a business meeting, talent show, spring fashion show, and dance with the Midshipmen at Carvel Hall. Left to right seated are Miss Dorothy Glover, who will model the Memorial uniform; Miss Norma Cover, Miss Charlotte McIntyre, who will be in charge of refreshments. Standing are Miss Judy Manges, who will take part in the talent show; Miss Mary Ellen Aldridge, Miss Madelyn Blonskey, showing part of their bus poster, and Miss Barbara Morgort, who will model her Easter costume.

Mrs. Arnold Honored On Birthday

A group of friends entertained with a surprise party for Mrs. Sarah Arnold in celebration of her 86th birthday. The party was held at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Forrest Green, 15 Asbury Avenue, LaVale.

The widow of Frank Arnold, Mrs. Arnold is a native of Barton. Gifts were presented to the honor guest and the prize for the evening was won by Mrs. William Valentine.

Others attending were Mrs. Lucy Balsley, Miss Alice Dawson, Mrs. Cecil Warnick, Mrs. Virgil Ice, Mrs. Francis Rinker, Mrs. Darald Smith, Mrs. George Baughman, Mrs. Herman Cunningham, Mrs. Dorthea Tucker, Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Culp, Mrs. C. E. Crabtree, Mrs. A. L. Brown and Mrs. Hubert Bloom.

Tile Surface Cleans Easy

There's little need for "elbow grease" when it comes to cleaning real ceramic floor and wall tile. Warm water, household detergent and a soft cloth are all the cleaning equipment needed to keep a sparkling sheen on a ceramic tile surface. Waxing of ceramic tile also is unnecessary, since its tough, durable surface needs no protective coating.

Bonnie Lou Ullery Is Bride Of E. W. Troxell

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McClellan Jr., 113 Weber Street, announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Bonnie Lou Ullery, to Edward (Ted) Troxell, son of Mrs. Nora Troxell, 716 Gephart Drive, and Robert Troxell, city.

The ceremony was solemnized in the parsonage of Zion United Church of Christ, with Rev. George A. Hazen officiating. Miss Nancy Stephen, Keyser, and Edward Lydinger, city, were their attendants.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1960, the bride attended Frostburg State Teachers College and is employed by the Times and Alleganian Company.

Mr. Troxell is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1954; served three years in the Army, attended Potomac State College and is a sports reporter for The Cumberland News.

The couple is residing at 109 South Smallwood Street.

Iota Epsilon To Have Initiation

Iota Epsilon Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda Sorority of the Supreme Forest Woodman Circle will have initiation for two new members at the meeting tonight.

The new members are Miss Janet Bennett and Mrs. Mary Ann Carney.

The meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Girl Scout house. Mrs. Catherine Dailey, Parkersburg, state manager, will be a special guest.

George Millenson, 831 Windsor Road, is recuperating following an eye operation at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Honored At Shower

Mrs Henry R. Spies, 915 Bedford Street, was honor guest of Mrs. Walter Spies, LaVale, at a stork shower at the former's home. A pink and blue color scheme was carried out in the decorations, which featured miniature storks.

Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Evelyn Baker, Mrs. Oda Spies, Mrs. JoAnn Robinett, Mrs. Katherine Funk, Mrs. Margaret Martin, Mrs. Goldie Spies, Mrs. Pearl Bucholtz, Mrs. Shirley McDonald, Mrs. Shirley Baker, Mrs. Beverly Baker, Mrs. Linda Norris, Mrs. Barbara Couter, Mrs. Greta Couter and Miss Ellen Butts.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Who, Me? Take Drugs?

The word "drugs" has unpleasant connotations that make us think of addiction to narcotics and criminal behavior. We seldom stop to think that such things as coffee, cigarets, and cocktails are drug-containing, though we're aware that they have at least mild effects on our emotions.

Medical advances have put an increasing number of products into wide use which have such effects. If you've had occasion to purchase a non-prescription product of this type, you've seen the wide array of items designed to pep you up or calm you down. An even greater variety of prescription drugs have brought about great changes in the treatment of emotional illnesses.

The wise woman will exercise great care in this field. For all the warnings issued by those who know most about health, it's apparent that a great many people are finding a need to gulp down stimulants or tranquilizers — the very volume of offerings and sales is amazing. In the nonprescriptive field, this may be no more than silly and expensive; those who meddle with the use of prescription-limited items without medical supervision truly "have a fool for a doctor"—themselves. The casual use of barbiturates, "pep" pills, anti-depressants and the like involves grave risks.

Your desire to be a charming woman should never lead to such foolhardiness. In spite of the wonderful benefits drugs can give with proper use, there is still no wondrous pill that will confer peace of mind, a cessation of ordinary problems, or an ideal outlook on life.

Those whose emotions are really out of kilter should, indeed, seek help—qualified, professional help—and then follow the course of treatment faithfully. If it includes medicines, then you are one of those who can reap their benefits.

Without such authority, stick to methods of self-improvement that are not dangerous—and that will really help. You may very rarely find one of the antihistamine products will help you get some needed sleep. You can probably trust your own judgment on those cups of coffee and such, in the absence of any complications! But remember that a sparkling personality doesn't come in tablet form—and beware of relying too much on any emotional crutch.

I feel quite safe in recommending "Your Thirty Days to Charm" for a little emotional up-lift and fun! Its short tips for daily self-improvement may be habit-forming, but not dangerous. It's available on request, accompanied by 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, sent to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper.

Farm Bureau Dinner To Be Held April 18

The annual spring dinner, sponsored by the Associated Women of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, will be held April 18 in the North Branch fire hall, beginning at 7 p.m. A turkey dinner will be served by the North Branch Firemen's Auxiliary.

A program, prepared by the Associated Women, will be presented consisting of vocal and instrumental music. Prizes will be awarded.

Vernon Loar, president of the Farm Bureau will extend a welcome. Mrs. Arch Davis, president of the Associated Women, will speak briefly.

During a brief business session, spring membership dues will be collected. The regular meeting of the Associated Women will be held in the form of a luncheon May 28 at Nave's Dining Room.

April 12 is the deadline for reservations for the dinner. They are to be made with Mrs. Vernon Loar. Tickets may be obtained from her, Mrs. Clara Pollock, Mrs. Theodore Stegmaier, Mrs. Robert Lee Heavner, Mrs. Lester Rice, Mrs. Marvin Hinkle, Mrs. George Clingerman, Mrs. Philip Brode, or Mrs. Robert Appel.

The committee for the dinner consists of Mrs. Loar, tickets chairman; Mrs. Pollock, table arrangements; Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Brode and Mrs. Stegmaier, prizes.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

With a score of 129½ Mrs. Barney Leibowitz and A. J. Feigus topped the field in the Potomac Valley Bridge Club game Tuesday evening at the Woman's Civic Club house. Nine and one half tables were in play with an average score of 108. Other East-West winners were Mrs. A. J. Feigus, Miss Rose Jackson, 126; John Moberly, Morton Peskin, 113½; Mrs. Ray Goetz, and Mrs. James Rexroad, 112½.

North-South winners were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Castelle, 124½; Mrs. William Douglas, Mrs. Frederick Puderbaugh, 123; Mrs. William Snyder, Mrs. James Hugglestone, 122; Miss Kathryn Laughlin, Mrs. Madeline Mewshaw, 110½.

Ridgeley Class Play Tomorrow

Friday the Junior Class of Ridgeley High School will present "The Perfect Idiot."

A matinee will be at 2 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The evening performance will be at 8 o'clock.

Snack Bar Protection

A spilled beverage, misguided squirt of mustard, or an upended bowl of soup won't bother your snack bar or kitchen counter if it's surfaced with stainproof ceramic tile. A wipe with a damp cloth will restore the countertop to sparkling cleanliness. Countertops of ceramic tile will add an extra decorative note to your kitchen, since real tile is available in more than 250 different colors, sizes and shapes.

Saddle Club Discusses Procuring Own Property

Hyder Reed appointed James Elder a new member of the board of directors at the meeting of the Allegany Saddle Club, held Monday evening at the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

Mr. Reed also suggested that members investigate locations of a few acres of ground for a home for the horse shows. They are to report at the next meeting.

Invitations were received. The Garrett County Horse Show Association invited the local club to participate in the McHenry Horse Show July 4. John L. Smith of Keyser, W. Va., invited the club to take part in a jousting tournament, which will be held April 20, at Fort Ashby.

Members were reminded of the carnival to be held April 22-27 at the LaVale Plaza. Miss Peggy Paddleford was appointed chairman for the chuck wagon, which the club is operating at the carnival. Ride tickets were distributed.

Linda Hershberger, Junior Saddle Club president, reported on her club's meeting and requested and received permission for the Junior Riding Club to hold a clinic sometime in April. The clinic is to include instruction and help in horse show technique, particularly in showing their horses in halter. As a trail ride is scheduled for April 13, the tentative date for the clinic will be after Easter.

Visitors were Ronald Clatterbuck and Paul Kidwell, from Paw Paw, both members of the Morgan County Saddle Club.

A social hour concluded the evening and refreshments were served with Mrs. John Earsom and Mrs. Hyder Reed as hostesses.

Meeting Postponed

The Madhatters workshop and luncheon meeting of the community service group of the Woman's Civic Club has been postponed from today until Monday. It will be at the club house at 12:30. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. F. Allan Weatherholt, PA 4-2199.

East Side Appoints Delegates

The East Side Homemakers Club appointed Mrs. Herman Curry and Mrs. William Flora delegates to Rural Women's Short Course at College Park the week of June 17.

Mrs. Thomas Buser conducted the meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Hinkle, with Mrs. Curry cohostess. The collect was recited and the history of the hymn, "Hosanna, Loud Hosanna," was given by Mrs. William Flora. Routine reports were given by Mrs. James Gall and Mrs. Carl Smith. Mrs. Earl Smith gave the sunshine report.

Committee reports included one by Mrs. Curry, who showed each step in making lined drapery, using a small sample to illustrate her talk. Mrs. Hinkle told of the regular club workshop. The next will be held today at the home of Mrs. Curry, Weber Street, beginning at 1 o'clock. A few will complete their cushions. Work will be on plated and smocked hats.

Flowers and cuttings were exchanged. "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" was sung.

Plans were made the May 7 meeting. It will be in Melvin Methodist Church hall. A food and nutrition demonstration will be given and the recipes made will be served as refreshments. Work from the art workshop will be shown and a Mother's Day program will be presented.

Two new members were received. They are Mrs. Charles Frost and Mrs. Ruth Simons. Others present were Mrs. Nettie Dicken, Mrs. Stanley Leasure, Mrs. Lawrence Miller, Mrs. Ella Simons and Mrs. Stanley Morris.

Auxiliary 209 Discusses Department Get-Together

The Department officers "Get-to-gether" was discussed and a report on the Cresaptown Community Council meeting given at the regular business session of Chilcot-Cresap Ladies Auxiliary to the American Legion Post, 209, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Isabelle Anderson conducted the meeting at Toohey's Restaurant. Quite a number of members signified their intention of attending the get-together, which will be held in Westernport April 28, beginning at 2 p.m.

Reporting on the Community Council meeting, which she attended as a delegate, she said plans were discussed for a "Fun Night," and festival to be held tentatively either in June or August. If a place can be found the council will sponsor a "donkey baseball game" as soon as possible. She said the council wants two representatives of every organization in Cresaptown to attend each council meeting. It was decided that Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Lee will represent the auxiliary.

Mrs. Margaret Ware was accepted as a new member. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Edgar Hounshell and Mrs. Anna Lee Ramsay. Plans were discussed for the Memorial Service to be held May 26. The next meeting will be May 7 at Toohey's Restaurant with Mrs. Myrtle Hill as hostess. Mrs. Anderson was hostess Tuesday evening. Others present were Mrs. Rose Kane and Mrs. Orpha Toohey.

Training Meeting To Be Friday

The family life training meeting will be held Friday instead of the original date. It will be at 10 a.m. in the extension office. Mrs. Joanne S. Moehn, College Park, will lead the discussion on "Woman's Role in a Changing World."

Eckhart Club To Hear Report

The Eckhart Homemakers Club will meet tonight instead of April 11, because of Holy Week. It will be held at the social hall of the Eckhart Methodist Church, beginning at 7:30. Mrs. Ora Meyers will report on the arts and crafts meeting she attended at the Court House.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. May Hansel, Mrs. Edgar Hansel, Mrs. Anna Holsinger and Mrs. Edna Lancaster.

Attend Zone Meeting

Mrs. J. A. Leader, Mrs. Melvin Hughson, Mrs. Herbert Cessna, Mrs. R. J. Barbero, Mrs. H. V. Bender, Mrs. R. Findley Thompson and Mrs. E. F. Phillips attended the meeting of Asbury Zone at Trinity Methodist Church, Martinsburg, W. Va. They are members of the executive committee of the Hagerstown District WSCS.

Charles Dick, 395 Roberts Place, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Dance Committee Reports

A meeting of the ticket committee of the Beta Sigma Phi Cruise Ball was held Monday at the home of Mrs. Loy Lou Martin, chairman, on Massachusetts Avenue. Discussing the sale of tickets, Mrs. Martin announced that reservations must be made to the ticket chairman of each chapter by April 19 for those tickets sold by chapter members. Anyone else desiring reservations may call Mrs. Martin at PA 2-4970, or Mrs. Grace Moore at PA 2-6972.

Reservations at the club will be in charge of Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Sara Rank, general dance chairman.

The annual Beta Sigma Phi Cruise Ball will be held on April 20 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Music will be by Wally Ginger's Orchestra. The proceeds of the dance will be given to the new Sacred Heart Hospital.

Tickets are available from any Beta Sigma Phi Sorority member.

Those present were Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, Miss Ruth Lester, Mrs. Charlotte Northcraft, Mrs. Grace Moore and Mrs. Rank.

The Twiggtown Homemakers Club will meet at 7:30 Friday at the home of Mrs. Charles Frost, 225 Cole Street. A plant exchange will be held.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Most of the problems in your column are personal. This problem involves ALL Americans.

Why do we allow foreigners to come to our great country and create problems for Americans? There is only so much room here and so many jobs. We owe it to our own true Americans to take care of them first.

Everyone knows there are at least five million jobless Americans. Plenty of these people are living in slums. The foreigners will work cheaper so they get first crack at the jobs. Is this fair to our own people?

If the foreigners don't like the policies of their respective countries why don't they fight for what they think is right and gain their independence? America did.

—A PROUD AMERICAN

DEAR PROUD: Every now and again I hear from an ignorant malcontent who waves the American flag in an attempt to divert attention from the central problem his own miserable failure.

Anyone who has ever looked at an American history book knows this country was made great by "foreigners" who came here in search of freedom and opportunity. We all have roots in another part of the world—unless we happen to be American Indians.

In case you've forgotten, the words of the Statue Of Liberty read:

"Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses, yearning to breathe free. The wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless and the tempest-tossed to me."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am one of four college seniors living off campus in a private home. Together we pay $100 a month for two bedrooms plus kitchen privileges.

During the past few weeks I've been washing and ironing my fiance's white shirts. He is struggling to get by, as most of us are, and I am helping him out in this way. My fiance wears four white shirts a week.

The landlady feels that I am running up her electricity bill because of this extra ironing. Instead of speaking directly to me about it she has been talking behind my back.

I'm upset over this and would like your advice on how to handle it. Thank you in advance.

—PRESSING FOR A SOLUTION

DEAR PRESSING: Even if you are a slow ironer you can iron a white shirt in 15 minutes. It costs 1½ cents per hour to operate an electric iron. This means you are kiting the lady's electric bill by 6c a month.

The next time you pay the rent, put 6c in an envelope with a little note explaining that you insist on paying for the extra juice.

DEAR ANN: I was a psychology major in college and prided myself on being able to work out most of my problems in a mature, adult manner. My "mature, adult manner" somehow has deserted me.

Henry, my 16-year-old brother, was made a ward of the state because my parents were unable to handle him. My father is an alcoholic and my mother is a neurotic with an uncontrollable temper.

When I married last year I took Henry into our home. My husband and I were appointed his legal guardians by the court. The boy has shown remarkable progress. He is friendly, cooperative and does better in school.

My mother, seeing the vast improvement, insists that we give him back. I wouldn't consider it and legally she can't take him. I've told her this repeatedly but she keeps harping. Henry hates living in her home and is frightened to death of her. Whenever she comes over he has a "relapse."

What shall I do? —SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Visit your mother in HER home. Tell her she cannot come to yours.

Henry is fighting a tough battle and it's obvious that his mother's presence makes him ill. This may seem cruel but it is essential for the boy's recovery. Let's hope your mother will come to understand why.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this Newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sacred Heart Auxiliary To Sponsor Two Socials

Plans for two socials were announced at the meeting of the Sacred Heart Hospital Auxiliary, conducted by Mrs. Joseph J. Coleman, Tuesday evening at the nurses' home.

Mrs. Joseph A. Levens reported the third annual Sacred Heart Ball will be held in June at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Raymond O'Rourke will be co-chairman with Mrs. Levens. Mrs. William Keller announced the membership tea will be held May 16. It will be at the nurses' home, from 2 until 4 o'clock. The regular May 7 meeting is to be held at Barton's Restaurant, McMullen Highway, at 8 p.m., at which time a program will be presented.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Robert Welsh, Miss Kathleen Mantheiy, Mrs. Mortimer Nehring, and Mrs. Vincent Leasure. Mrs. John Glick and Mrs. Lawrence Matt gave their sunshine reports. Mrs. Ernest Wilson reported on pledges. Mrs. Joseph Naughton announced the auxiliary had sold its allotment of tickets for the Pittsburgh Symphony concert and thanked the members for their cooperation.

Pictures of the Victory dinner were shown by Sister Mary Richard, following the business session. There were 45 members present.

Personals

Mrs. David D. Miller, 1915 Frederick Street, owner of the Supreme Music Company, is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Charles Wolfe Sr., 118 Bedford Street, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Mrs. Lee Fuller, Woodside Avenue, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Chandler Smith, 514 Regina Avenue, is a surgical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Mrs. William Senn, Ridgeley, is a medical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Mrs. Leilah Toms, 217 Glenn Street, is a medical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Demonstration Presented

A demonstration on drapery construction was given by Mrs. David Bittinger and Mrs. Edward Lewis at the meeting of the Cresap Homemakers Club, held in the Methodist Church. Roll call was answered with housecleaning hints. Prayer was by Mrs. William Brown.

Others present were Mrs. Arthur Ferguson, Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Lester McGill, Mrs. Hubert Martz, Mrs. Floyd Harper, Mrs. Ralph Phillips, Mrs. Edward Lewis, Mrs. David Bittinger, Mrs. Lester Sherman and Mrs. Annie Shank.

The art group of the Woman's Civic Club will hold a luncheon and card party today at 12:30 at the club house.

4-H Girls Plan Two Visits

Members of the Flintstone-Polish Mountain 4-H Girls Club voted to sing at the Sylvan Retreat and County Infirmary and make an educational tour of the Ort's Bakery, at the meeting held at the school.

The trip to the retreat and infirmary will be made as soon as a date can be arranged. Dates for rehearsals will be announced later. April 26 was set for the tentative date to visit the bakery.

Following the 4-H pledge, the group sang, "Dreaming." Roll call was answered with a fact about 4-H. Announcements included that seeds and money are to be turned in so a report may be completed; that the club's window display for 4-H Week received a blue ribbon and county championship.

Several members are preparing for the County Public Speaking Contest. Jean Robinette led a discussion on preparing the speech. The points she brought out were to collect information through reading or first hand as trips or interviews; outline the information; practice presenting it as many times as possible; and in presenting the talk shown pictures to illustrate it.

Mary Lou Burgess gave a demonstration on matching plaids.

The topic for the April 25 meeting will be health and safety. Miss Joann Nichols, physical educational teacher will discuss health; Cathy Howard, safety. Mary Baker will give a demonstration to complete her flower project.

Md. Rainbow Girls To Meet

The third annual session of the Grand Assembly of Maryland Order of Rainbow for Girls will be held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The formal opening will be at 9 p. m. Officers will be elected at the Saturday morning session. Following the luncheon candidates for Cumberland Assembly will be initiated. Installation of officers will be Saturday evening, followed by the "Grand Worthy Advisors Ball." The session will close formally with attendance at the 11 a. m. service at Emmanuel Episcopal Church Sunday.

Reservations for the luncheon and banquet are to be made by today with Mrs. Maxine Zerbach, Mrs. Jessie McElfish or Miss Teryl Chaney.

SHE DIGS IN THE PAST — Dr. Florence Ellis, anthropologist, studies Indian lore for clues to the past.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Pick and shovel are no strangers to the hands of Dr. Florence Ellis, one of few women in anthropology.

In the Southwest she and her coworkers have uncovered myriad bits and pieces of bone, pottery, metal and stone that tell the story of ancient Indian civilization and the coming of the white man.

Dr. Ellis currently is directing the excavation at the site of San Gabriel del Yunque, the first European capital in what is now the United States. The ruins, discovered only recently, are north of Santa Fe.

Her job often requires living among primative people or spending days on end in isolated areas.

After many years in the profession a backward look produces no regrets for the professor. "But there are drawbacks for women." It takes longer for a woman to establish herself than a man. But if the girl is dedicated, she'll find opportunities. I always advise girls to look into the related fields of ethnology, linquistics and such," Dr. Ellis says.

Field Grows

She adds, however, that the demand for anthropologists is growing.

"Today's girls are not bashful about being athletic. I commonly have as many girls on field trips as men although most don't stay in the profession," she says.

Prof. Ellis describes the girl who could succeed in anthropology as one "with a good sense of direction, dedication and not too aggressive." The too aggressive woman frightens people.

"She can't be too delicate," Prof. Ellis adds. "Most of the women anthropologists I have known have not been ultra-athletic, but can do pick and shovel work."

Mine Background

In the field the brisk-mannered 56-year-old professor is a denim-clad, bandana-wearing foreman. In her office at the University of New Mexico the air of authority remains but the appearance is part professional woman, part grandmother.

She was born in a Mexican copper town where her father was a mine company chemist.

Revolutions there kept things lively. During quiet periods Mrs. Ellis' early education was provided by her mother, a former school teacher.

In 1914 the family moved to Miami, Ariz., another copper mining community where the head of the house developed an interest in archeology. It became the family hobby to which thy would devote weekends. Indian ruins were their joy.

Through her father Mrs. Ellis met Dean Byron Cummings of the University of Arizona anthropology department.

What's of Value?

Mrs. Ellis was 21 when she got her first teaching job in 1928. Five years later she had her doctorate and along the way she became an expert in the then-new science of tree ring research.

Her association with the University of New Mexico began with participation in field trips while she was teaching in Arizona. She went to work in 1934 and has been there most of the time since.

In her years of scratching among ruins Dr. Ellis has never found anything but academic treasures. "Treasure to us means a piece of pottery" or anything that helps complete the puzzle of a lost time."

Dr. Ellis married Bruce T. Ellis, a historian, in 1950. This was her second marriage. Her knowledge of the Southwest has been called upon by both the government and Indian tribes to settle land disputes.

IBEW Auxiliary Names Various Chairmen

The by-laws were read and approved and committee chairmen appointed at the business meeting of Ladies Auxiliary, Local 307, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Monday evening at the Labor Temple.

Mrs. Mary Jane Stephens presided. Other officers serving with her are Mrs. Virginia Lee Elliott, vice president; Mrs. Janice Northcraft, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Bowman, treasurer and Mrs. Susan Kelley, chaplain. The board consists of Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Mary Hauser and Mrs. Bettie Abe.

Tips Offered To Persons Taking Cruises

By WALTER LOGAN

ABOARD M.S. ITALIA (UPI)—The Home Lines, which sends this ship sailing to Nassau each week with a load of carefree cruise passengers, advises "light summer clothing for stay in Nassau" but some of the men failed to read the fine print.

While packing in the icy north it is difficult to believe it can be so warm in the south and people tend to take heavier and darker clothes than they need. And some tourists, if they are making a lengthy stopover in the sun, find they have to buy a second wardrobe.

So if you are planning a southern cruise on this or any other cruise vessel here are some clothing tips:

Evening clothes: A dark suit the first night out. Dinner clothes are usually optional but more and more men turn up in dinner jackets. Black is still the most fashionable but there is always a sprinkling of white jackets and a few seersuckers and novelty batiks.

Shoes: Leather heels are dangerous, if the decks are wet. Black shoes at night but they look lousy with sports clothes and especially with shorts. Brown loafers still the best though there are some handsome "leisure shoes" around. Rubber soles better than rope-soled espadrilles which can slip.

Slacks: Most men stick to conservative dark grays or some other drab color but the very-well dressed men at such swanky places as the Lyford Cay Club or the Bahamas Country Club go in heavily for pastels in every shade under the sun or vary the scene with such combinations as striped seersucker pants worn with a navy blue blazer.

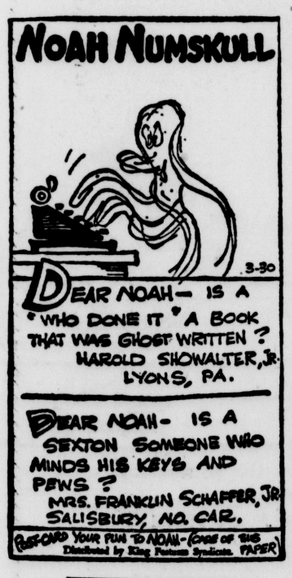
Sports jackets: Again the tendency if you are from a cold climate is to stick to overly dark jackets, many in a somber navy blue and olive plaid combination. But the well-heeled winter residents in Nassau turn up in such combinations as a lime green jacket worn with lemon yellow slacks or a lemon yellow jacket worn with white pants. Blues running from pale to the classic navy blazer were much in evidence.

Hats: Everyone runs out and buys a straw hat the minute he sets foot in Nassau so that is no problem. A cap aboard ship is more convenient since it is less likely to blow off.

Shorts: The sky is the limit with madras about as popular as anything Bermuda knee length the accepted standard. But too many tourists go ashore in Nassau wearing shorts with black business shoes and business socks dangling around their ankles (to wear the garters would look even more ludicrous). Youngsters tend to wear white canvas shoes and white sweatsocks. Less emphasis on knee-length hose with shorts than in previous years.

Sports shirts: Again the sky is the limit but the best dressed men usually keep the patterns neat and leave Hawaian shirts to the Hawiians. Newest thing this year is the short sports shirt which doesn't tuck in but is worn more or less as a jacket.

Also—the more wash and wear clothes you have the happier you will be since they stay neater.



The Constitutional Congress consisted of about 55 members, sitting in Philadelphia. All states except Rhode Island responded to the call.

Draftsman Credited With Making First Auto Map

By SUSAN K. POLLOCK

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American motorist on tour would be lost without a road map and sometimes he gets lost with a road map, but things would be worse without John G. Brink.

Brink is credited with developing the first effective system of symbols for identifying roads and highways and, later, creating a system of highway numbers.

A draftsman and commercial artist for Rand McNally & Co., Brink came up with his idea for a road map in response to a $100 company contest back in 1916.

"I had been doing county maps for Rand McNally at the time," Brink said. "These maps were photographs of towns and other spots in the country as well as a few supposed roads and trails.

"When the company announced the contest, I submitted my plan —a state road map with symbols marking the roads. They thought that was a revolutionary idea."

Although most of the roads were dirt ones in those years, Brink figured that with state road maps the motorist could follow the same road from county to county.

"They gave me the first map to do," he said. "It was of Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin. That map was so successful that my department and I went on and covered the whole United States."

Brink headed 60 draftsmen in the Blazed Trails Department.

"Trained them myself," he said. "We had an enormous task and had to travel from city to city to get the data and mark the roads."

The modern explorers relied solely on their compasses and sense of direction to match the right road with the right symbol.

"We found our way by experimenting," Brink said. "We usually had to try several different roads until we hit our destination."

Rand McNally soon discovered its symbols were not the only ones appearing on trees and utility poles throughout the country. Other map companies and touring agencies started tacking up their own map symbols.

Some poles began sporting as many as 15 or 20 symbols and the Rand McNally "trail blazers" began campaigning for a uniform system. Brink devised highway numbering, which he introduced to the American Association of State Highway Officials in 1925.

Individual states adopted highway numbering before it was placed on a national level.

His first retirement project, recently completed, was the Dictionary of Places of Interest in the United States, printed by Rand McNally.

Chambers of commerce throughout the country received letters from Brink inquiring about scenic and historic spots. He compiled a list of 7,000 places to see and enhanced them with 2,300 pen drawings.

In the 50 or more years he's been driving, Brink says he was really lost only once.

"I was in New York trying to make a detailed map of the city," he confessed.

Stainless Razors

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) — Starting this year, stainless steel will try to capture a lion's share of the $270 million dollar U.S. shaving instrument market now held by carbon steel. Schick Incorporated, pioneer electric shaver manufacturer, already has equipped its full 1963 line of shavers with surgical stainless steel heads. Razor blade manufacturers are expected to have stainless steel blades on the market later this year.

Legal Twist

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The waltz and fox trot are dances, but the twist isn't, tavern proprietor John Haskins contends.

Yes, it is, Municipal Judge Ray Harrison said recently as he gave Haskins a choice of a $25 fine or five days in jail on charges of permitting dancing in his tavern without a permit.

Haskins was accused of twisting with several lady customers in his tavern. He testified the twisting lasted only 50 to 60 seconds and wasn't really dancing.

Researcher Says Boiling Helps Produce Cancer

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Boiling, which quickly destroys most living things, helps produce cancer.

A researcher has disclosed that boiling increases by three-fold the ability of the genetic material of the tumor-causing Polyoma virus to produce new viruses and cancer in animals.

Some viruses such as Polyoma cause cancer in animals and it is suspected, although not proven, that there are viruses which might induce cancer in man.

A virus is an elemental life form consisting only of a piece of nucleic acid (genetic material) wrapped in a protein coat.

"The heat resistance of the Polyoma virus is astonishing," said Dr. Roger Weil, physician and research fellow in chemistry at the California Institute of Technology.

With its protein coat removed, the "naked" genetic material of the polyoma virus becomes three times more infective after a minute or two of boiling in water, Dr. Weil reported. And its infectivity remains at this high level following 10 to 15 minutes of boiling.

Dr. Weil explained how viruses infect cells.

"A virus has no means of locomotion of its own," he said. "in the animal it moves with the body fluids. If it touches a cell wall, it can attach itself to the membrane. This is the first step in the process of infection.

"In the second step," he added, "the virus enters the cell, possibly by engulfment by the cell wall."

Infection with Polyoma virus leads to development of many kinds of tumors in most organs of pigs, mice, rats and guinea pigs.

Dr. Weil also said experimental evidence 'ni'ciates it is likely that Polyoma contains some unusual structural property, the nature of which is unknown."

Delta Airlines Has Ability To Make Profits

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Delta Airlines got its start as a crop dusting company.

Today is ranks as the nation's most profitable airline.

Although it is only the fifth largest U.S. scheduled air carrier, its ability to make money is the open envy of the rest of the industry—including its bigger competitors.

Item: In 1962, Delta's profits hit more than $13 million, far ahead of all other airlines, including giants like American and Eastern. It has lost money only twice in its 35-year history, 1941 and 1947, and has led the industry for the past three years in earnings and low debt.

Item: Delta's return on investment last year also was high for the industry, a whopping 15 per cent. It has averaged 9 per cent over the last five years, coming close to the CAB's 10 per cent standard for a "reasonable" rate of return. Few airlines have come even close to matching that record.

Item: Delta's common stock sells at the highest price of any carrier.

What makes Delta tick?

"They don't do it with mirrors," says one grudgingly admiring rival airline executive. "Delta counts pencils and paper clips—but it isn't afraid to spend money where it's necessary. They run one sweet operation and they give good service."

Service seems to be the key to Delta's successful operation. Throughout the years, the Atlanta-based carrier has managed to create a corporate image that literally reflects the South's own reputation for gracious hospitality. None other than Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) Chairman Alan S. Boyd recently stated publicly that the CAB got fewer passenger complaints about Delta than any other airline flying.

Passenger loyalty toward Dixie's airline is no myth. To cite one example, Delta competes with one of the "big four" airlines between Savannah, Ga., and New York. The latter has non-stop authorization. Delta must stop at Atlanta—not only a longer route but one requiring higher fares. The CAB's own figures show that Delta has collared 65 per cent of the Savannah-New York traffic.

Competitors are quick to point out that Delta enjoys a monopoly in many of the markets it serves—which is a logical explanation for at least some of its money-making abilities.

Only 14 per cent of its routes involve competition against two or more carriers—compared to TWA industrywide high of nearly 43 per cent, American's 40 per cent, United's 30 per cent and Eastern's 34 per cent.

And Delta also got a hefty boost two years ago when the CAB awarded it a southern transcontinental route to Los Angeles, changing it overnight from a regional carrier to a coast-to-coast airline with more profitable long-haul routes.

But Delta's relatively good route structure is not the only explanation. The industry readily concedes that Delta's management has produced some canny major policy decisions, such as:

—Being the first to introduce both the DC8 and Convair 880 jets, chiefly by taking advantage of delays on the part of both Eastern and TWA, which actually ordered the planes earlier.

—By-passing the prop-jets and going directly into pure jet service; Delta at one time was interested in the Lockheed Electra, found American and Eastern had tied up production for a year, and decided to concentrate on jets. It was a decision that meant black ink, for Delta not only avoided the Electra's troubles but saved the expense that other carriers went through buying what amounted to an "interim" airliner.

Delta's management decisions lie mostly in the hands of the 73-year-old man who has headed the company since its birth—Collett Everman Woolman. He literally runs a one-man airline, for Woolman's personality and philosophy permeates Delta from the lowest janitor to the top company brass.

The cynics regard Woolman's direction of Delta as the ultimate in corporate paternalism. Woolman himself would refer to it as a "family image" rather than paternalism. Whichever it is, Delta is the most non-unionized airline in the United States. Only its pilots are organized and every attempt to unionize the rest of Delta's 9,000 employes has foundered. Even Delta's pilots are not regarded exactly as strong unionists. Wryly comments one official of the air line pilots association:

"The worst union man in the world is a Delta DC8 captain based in Atlanta. He couldn't care less."

In turn, Woolman and Delta's other brass extend loyalty downward as well as expecting it upward. It is a common crack around Atlanta that "the only way to get fired from Delta is to lie, steal or insult a passenger."

One of Delta's chief departments, flight control, has not had a personnel change in 16 years except to add new employes. Every major executive has been with the airline for at least 20 years.

Mechanical Chopsticks

TOKYO (UPI) — A U.S. Air Force officer has invented what he hopes will be the biggest thing in Oriental cuisine since the fortune cookie: mechanical chopsticks!

They should be a boon to the Westerner who finds himself in an Oriental restaurant with neither the experience to use chopsticks nor the nerve to ask for a knife and fork.

But Capt. George A. Dawes of Okmulgee, Okla., is thinking big. His invention, called "E-Z Chops," is aimed first at the tourist trade and then at the Japanese—95 million potential customers.

And there's the rest of the Far East, too. "We are not anticipating a revolution in eating in Japan for another 15 years," Dawes told UPI.

"My Japanese friends are deft enough with regular chopsticks. But they've told me my invention would be excellent for small children. And we're coming out with a junior model.

"Imagine a child who has been started on mechanical chopsticks being told he is big enough to use the regular ones. He is going to say, 'No, thank you, I want my E-Z Chops.' "

The ancient Omans started the custom of docking a dog's tail. They believed that all the evil of the animal could be found in his tail.

Microfilms Aid Libraries Get Classics

NEW YORK (UPI) — A space age application of photography called microfilm is making it possible for libraries everywhere to acquire literary and historical treasures formerly available only to a few fortunate scholars and historians.

Some of the world's greatest collections of human wisdom such as those in the Vatican Library, the Library of Congress, the British Museum and the Ambrosian Library in Milan have been microfilmed and placed in libraries in the United States and throughout the world.

In the United States, the Adams Papers, phenomenal family archive of early American history, recently were made available to scholars through microfilm. According to a study by the Rekordak Corp., microfilm subsidiary of Eastman Kodak, the Adams Papers, in 608 reels, amounting to more than five miles of film, already have been placed in 40 or more institutions, including the Baker Library at Dartmouth College.

An indication of the insight into Revolutionary War and Post-Revolution history provided by these microfilms is the diary of John Quincy Adams, which extends over 70 years and for 50 years without a single day's omission.

Documents chronicling the first two and a half centuries of the Catholic Church in the United States on microfilm have been acquired by the University of Notre Dame and will be housed in its new 13-story library.

Notre Dame also announced it has obtained permission to microfilm the entire manuscript collection of the famed Ambrosian library in Milan. This project, will make available for the first time more than 30,000 classical, medieval and Renaissance manuscripts.

TV Notes

Barbara Hale, Della Street on "Perry Mason," receives quantities of mail from real secretaries, asking her how to get a boss like hers.

Parley Baer, the mayor on "The Andy Griffith Show" on the CBS Television Network, has been a press agent, wild-animal trainer and accountant.

Although Alfred Hitchcock, overseet of "The Alfred Hitchcock Hour," lives next to a Bel-Air golf course, he has never taken a club in hand.

Vivian Vance of "The Lucy Show" landed a role in the operetta "Music in the Air" by belting a brassy version of "After You've Gone."

Charles Gray, Clay Forrester of "Rawhide," was first engaged in the business side of the stage as operator of a legitimate theater in Houston.

Don Galloway of "The Secret Storm" worked at a variety of jobs, including book greasing (rubbing neatsfoot oil into the covers of rare books).

Janet De Gore of "The Real McCoys" studied at the Hayden Planetarium in New York for three years, and owns her own reflector telescope.

The first adhesive postage stamps were five and 10 cent issues of Benjamin Franklin and George Washington.

American Clubwoman Well Informed

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — The average American clubwoman isn't just chit-chatting or eating creamed chicken and peas these days. She appears better informed and more interested in the world around her.

This was my conclusion after a three-week lecture tour of the United States that took me from New York to Portland, Ore., with eight stops between.

"What is the extent of the rift between the Soviet Union and China?" was a question at a Chicago women's club after my lecture on the Soviet Union. "Are the Russians really making progress in living standards?" a woman in Bridgeport, Conn., wanted to know. "Where is Bulganin?" was a Portland question.

The officers of a women's club in Pittsburgh, Pa., debated French President Charles de Gaulle's action against England in the Common Market.

When I mentioned that Soviet grade schools taught foreign languages, mothers in Scarsdale, N.Y., and my home town of Missoula, Mont., told me that schools in their communities were teaching Spanish and Russian.

When I suggested to a Chicago women's club that some members might be interested in reading the serious English news magazine, "The Economist," one woman said she already subscribed to it.

Many clubs had public service programs and members regularly attended current events lectures. In each city I unfailingly was bombarded with questions about Anglo-French relations and the reaction of the French people to de Gaulle.

"What is the Common Market all about?" asked a Louisville, Ky. woman. "My husband won't tell me—he says it's so complicated I never could understand it."

I also discovered the legend that lecturers eat creamed chicken on biscuits each day isn't true any more.

The food in the interior of the United States still may not satisfy a Frenchman, but the food in cities I visited appeared to be catching up with the cuisine on the East and West coasts.

I ate a souffle in Pittsburgh and a chicken, with sauce, in Missoula that could have been out of San Francisco restuarants.

To an American making her first extended trip across the country in six years, it was comforting to see progress in many areas.

House Hints

Protect corn meal and whole grain flours from weevils by storing them in canisters with moisture-absorbing crystals in the lid. The weevils thrive on moisture.

Use baking soda as a cleanser to restore the transparency of an oven glass door.

At zero degrees, pork can be kept in the freezer for six months, lamb for eight months, and beef for 12 months.

Pork chops won't become hard on the outside if they're soaked in milk before frying or broiling.

Give baby his cod-liver oil while he is undressed for his bath. Any spills can be washed off in the soapy bath water.

Before painting over a knot, fill any small holes with plastic wood or wood putty. When this has dried, sand smooth and apply a sealer or shellac.

Port Of Eilat Top Tourist Attraction In Israel

By MURRAY J. BROWN

EILAT, Israel (UPI) — Bidding fair to become one of Israel's prime tourist attractions as well as its major gateway to Africa and the Far East is the Red Sea port of Eilat.

Here sun and sea combine to offer the tourist the kind of vacation resort one dreams of. Rain is so rare (an average of ½ inch per year) that children are let out of schoool to enjoy the phenonema when it does fall. The average temperature of the waters of the Red Sea — which incidentally are dazzling blue — is 68 to 70 degrees.

The townspeople admit it does get hot during the summer months up to 120 degrees, but insist the prevailing north wind keeps the humidity low and the nights are comfortable.

Eilat, Israel's southernmost town, is about 220 miles from Tel-Aviv. It was a sleeply little fishing village with a population of barely 200 until the sea was opened to Israeli shipping after the Sinai campaign of 1956.

Today, it is a bustling port of nearly 9,000 and is still growing.

Eilat has numerous attractions besides climate for the tourist.

There is swimming, water-skiing, sailing, skin-diving and spear-fishing. A definite "must" is the trip in one of the glass-bottomed boats to the underwater "Coral gardens," wierdly beautiful inhabited by exotically colored fish.

Historically, Eilat lies close to the route taken by Moses when he led the children of Israel from bondage in Egypt toward "The Promised Land." Near here also was Biblical Etzion-Geber, a major port in Solomon's time where the Queen of Sheba was believed to have landed on her way to Jerusalem for the historic encounter with the King of Israel.

Just north of Eilat are Solomon's copper mines, discovered after a years-long search based on biblical accounts by Rabbi Nelson Glueck of Cincinnati, Ohio. The old diggings have not been reopened but new mines nearby at Timna are being worked.

Close by are the Pillars of Solomon, cliffs towering 10 feet and more above the Negev desert floor, pock-marked and carved into awesome shapes by the winds and sands of countless centuries.

Part of the road which winds across and through the lunar-like bare rock formations of the Negev from Eilat to Beersheba is said to follow the path of Moses northward. At Gadna is a brackish well which tradition says Moses made potable with a touch of his rod. An agricultural training camp for youths has been established there and the water — still brakish — is used for irrigating the land.

Guides say the Bible also led the modern-day Israelis to another watering place of the ancient Israelites during the exodus from Egypt. The sweet-water well at Yotvate today provides Eilat with water supplies through a 25-mile pipeline.

Eilat is about one hour's flying time and around six hours by road from Tel Aviv. Israel's domestic airlines (Arkia) flies six daily flights with twin-engined DC3s.

There are several first-rate hotels on the beach which offer air conditioned double rooms with full board from around $10 to $18 daily per person during the peak winter season (March 1 to April 31.).

Rates at other hotels run from as low as $3.50 per person daily, double occupancy, including breakfast.

For after-dark fun, there are the "End of the World," a combined restaurant, bar and night club built underground like a catacomb, and the "Fishermen's Club," decorated with fishing equipment.

Artist Has Strong Feelings Toward Modern Art

By PAUL CHWAT

PARIS (UPI) — Georges Mathieu is a painter who won fame by laying his paint on in blobs, often straight out of the tube, and by ignoring any of the accepted rules about his art.

And he has nothing but scorn for anyone, including Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who dares oppose his or anyone else's modernistic art form.

Mathieu, holding a whisky in a magnificent Bohemian blue glass in his luxury mansion in suburban Auteuil, talks in the same quantity as the paint he lays on his canvases. He spoke for one hour and 10 minutes before the interviewer could get a question in.

Finally he was asked about Khrushchev's attack on abstract art.

"It's obvious that in Soviet Russia the artist is not regarded as having a superior role in the social hierarchy," he said.

"At the time of the Renaissance, in Crete, in Ionia, in Japan, the artist was always at the top of the human ladder because he is, by definition, more sensitive and thus more responsible, in the domain of expression, before the generations that are to follow.

"By his intuition he precedes science and by reason of this fact is able to play his role in science itself.

Then Mathieu, whose works are exhibited in 40 museums throughout the world, turned to painting in the United States.

"I was the first, in 1947, to talk about the young art of painting in the United States and to organize exhibitions of the biggest American painters," he said.

"Now in the United States for the first time in 300 years there is an autonomous school of painting in America, which has nothing to do with the school of Paris.

How did Mathieu come to use the unbelted "tachism" form of painting that he uses?

He looked around at some of his own works on the walls of his immaculately furnished apartment, including a somewhat humorous portrait of himself in the style of Louis XIV, which indicated he would have become famous as a classical painter if he had not chosen the "tachism" form.

You arrive at tachism, he said "by a process of going through the idealism of the Renaissance period, successively through realism to impressionism, which frees you from the realism of photography, to eauvism which frees you from realism of color (you paint trees red).

"Then you come to cubism, which frees you from realism of form (you put the nose where the eye should be), then to geometric abstractism which frees you from realism altogether.

"Finally you come to tachism, which frees you from any of the former aesthetics.

"I have introduced the notion of speed into the art of painting."

Report On Mars

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Recent spectroscopic studies indicate Mars' atmosphere, which is largely nitrogen, also contains poisonous nitrogen peroxide which would make life impossible as it exists on earth.

The National Bureau of Standards, which made the study, said the presence of this gas could explain the planet's shifting polar caps, the so-called dust storms and perhaps Mars' red color.

Malaria causes an annual death toll of two and one-half million among its 200 million victims throughout the world.

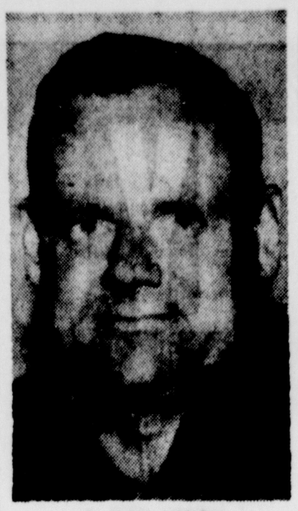
Foreman's Action Averts Possible Tragedy At Lake Gordon

What could have been a tragedy early last month at Lake Gordon was viewed today as a warning to visitors to the city's watershed that every precaution should be taken and strict safety measures followed when in the vicinity of the lakes.

Five youngsters ranging in age from 7 to 12 years might have drowned in 40 feet of water had not Albert Ray Nixon, plant foreman, happened along on a routine inspection tour and guided them to safety.

It occurred this way:

On March 10, one of the first warm days, the five youngsters were playing at Lake Gordon and had leaped across an open space of about two feet onto an ice accumulation. They were sliding on the ice and playing "fox and geese" and were not aware that the chunk of ice 20 feet by 40 feet had broken off and slowly moved toward the Gordon bridge. The ice became slushy underfoot and they were in danger of being swept under the bridge and out into the main body of the lake.



A. RAY NIXON

Nixon making a regular weekend inspection tour (trouble always starts when the weather warms, he says) saw the children from the bridge. The area under the bridge is kept clear of ice because winds whip the water and keep it in constant motion.

Noting that the danger was increasing, Nixon got as close to the youngsters as he could, coaxed them off the ice floe onto strong ice and helped them out of the lake.

Nixon said he had thought about getting a boat but realize immediately that too much time would be consumed and it would have been to late to save them.

"It was one of the closest things to a tragedy I have seen since starting to work here," Nixon said.

Often, Nixon said, the public ignores caution or safety signs and this leads to trouble. No skating or swimming is allowed but these signs are often torn down and destroyed by adults. He urged that visitors to the watershed — Lakes Gordon and Koon—exercise caution and observe safety rules.

Nixon has been employed at Lake Gordon's water plant eight years. He was labor foreman five years and has been plant foreman the past three. He resides at Lake Gordon.

HOME SWIMMING

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nearly one out of every 100 U.S. homeowners will have a backyard swimming pool by the end of 1963, according to Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp.

Instalment financing, which enables families to pay for their pools as they use them, is largely responsible for the increase, the company said.

Highest Sales

DETROIT—The Chevrolet Division of General Motors reported its first quarter sales were the highest in history. Combined sales of 649,934 cars and trucks from January through March were 6 per cent above the previous record set in 1962. The Dodge Division of Chrysler Corp., said sales for the first six months of the 1963 model year were the highest for Oct. 1 through March 31 period in the division's 49-year history.

LADY PUFFERS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The smoking habit has increased more among women than men in recent years, a government survey shows. Approximately 25 million women now smoke cigarettes, up 7 million in seven years. About 37 million males now smoke a 4.5 million increase in the same period.

Allegany High Names Six 'Citizens Of Month'

Six Allegany High School students have been named March "Citizens of the Month" by the grade committees of the Student Council.

They are Marjorie Smith, senior; Mary Anne Sharer and Jack Stimler, juniors; Kenneth Swauger, sophomore; Robert Bruce, freshman; and Donna Miller, seventh grade.

"Citizens of the Year" from each of the six grades will be named following the Easter recess. These students will be the guests at the Student Council dinner scheduled for 6 p. m., April 30, at the First Presbyterian Church on Washington Street. The council will award its "Citizen of the Year" citation to the student honored by the award and inscribe his name on the Student Council "Citizen of the Year" plaque placed on the wall in the school library.

Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, adviser to the council, and Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal, will select the citizen of the year after brochures have been submitted by the grade committees.

Anne Avirett, David Merrill, Elwood Stewart, Polly Lowe, Ronda Skidmore, Katherine Harris and Miss Smith, seniors, are March citizens of the month from their respective home rooms. Other citizens of the month are John Weimer, Lynda Pryor, Carter Mason, Stimler and Miss Sharer, juniors; Linda Harrison, Jonathan Lutton, Virginia Harden, Robert Milburg, Dinah Thompson, Nancy Castelle, Marianne Wilson and Swauger, sophomores; William Davis, Ronna Jackson, Martha Blank, Rodney Keyes, George Showalter, Suellen Stover, Deborah Rowe, James Taylor and Bruce, freshmen; and Gail Barrick, Louise Wilt, Constance Lapp, Deborah Nelson and Miss Miller, seventh graders.

Students and teachers serving on grade committees for senior high are Le Ann Sindy and George Conway, co-chairman, Jeanne Baughman, Davene Sheehe, Leslie Sheehe, Sue Mowen, Allan Foster, David Whitworth, Judy Ringler, and Mrs. John Robb, Mrs. Robert Mann, Paul Cuba, and John Watach, seniors; Dawn Shelkey and Robert Hutcheson, co-chairmen, Donald Saylor, Roberta Belt, Dianne Paul, Jane Runion, Lynelle Johnson, Suzanne Hedrick, Tina Lambert, Nita Schnatterly, Mrs. John Long and Mrs. Ruth Lynch, juniors; Margaret Price and Meshach Browning, co-chairmen, Jane Stallings, Judy Dick, Susan Lucas, Susan Summers, Barbara Buckel, Carolyn McIntyre, Candith Crabtree, Pete Falco, Gary Bobo, Robert Powell, and Mrs. Freda Bowers, James Skidmore and Victor McKay, sophomores.

Grade committees from junior high are Margo King and Mrs. Lydia Acker, co-chairmen, Bonnie Harrison, Linda Fearnow, Brooke Wright, Donna Seifert, Cheryl Shaffer, Suellen Stover, Jack Zucker and Messrs. Thomas Shaffer, Kent Fuller, and James Minick, freshmen; Katherine Zimowski and Harry Lennox, co-chairmen, Carol May, Gary Robinette, Penny Piper, Jane Stoutlemeyer, Steven Dean, Kevin Sellers and Mrs. Jane McCall and Ronald Chapman, eighth grade; Catherine Hutchison and Miss Anne Nicht, co-chairmen, Wesley Connor, Linda Johnson, Alan Kirk, Edward Speis, Donald White, Rosalie Green, Charlene Rotruck, Karen Simpson, and Messrs. Wray Blair, Geral Martin and Gerald Null, seventh grade.

Bidders Off

WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon announced that bidders will be offered the option of bidding on either a 4 per cent or 4⅛ per cent coupon rate for $300 million in Treasury bonds of 1989-94. The offering is the second at competitive bidding. The first such offering was made in January.

Discusses Merger

CHICAGO—Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. said Wednesday it is discussing the possibility of a "merger" with Dynacolor Corp. of Rochester, N.Y., under tentative terms of the merger under discussion would provide for the exchange of one common share of 3-M for each five Dynacolor shares, according to a spokesman.

It took 12 years to complete the construction of the State of Liberty.

Plan Downtown Parking Lot

The Kenneweg Building at 184 Baltimore Street has been purchased by the Downtown Parking Corporation Inc., and will be razed to make way for a parking lot.

The parking corporation is a company formed by downtown merchants and businessmen who have as their aim procuring parking facilities for shoppers.

The corporation has hired Orrie Sensabaugh, local contractor, for the demolition of the historic building and for the grading and paving of the parking area.

When completed, the facility will cover 23,000 square feet and provide room for 75 cars.

The lot will be leased to Coach Systems Inc., which operates lots at George and Baltimore streets; South Mechanic Street and on Union Street.

Simon Rosembaum, president of the Downtown Parking Corporation, said the target date for the lot to be in operation is May 15.

The building was once known as the Revere House and was the headquarters of Maj. Gen. George Crook, who on the night of February 21, 1861, was captured by McNeill's Rangers, a southern guerrilla force.

The parking lot at the corner of North George and Baltimore Street was the site of the Windsor Hotel, called in the Civil War, the Barnum House.

On the same night that Gen. Crook was captured, the Rangers took from under the noses of 8,000 federal troops in Cumberland Maj. Gen. B. F. Kelly, head of the Department of West Virginia, who was staying in Barnum House.

Mark Lazarus is vice president; John Ankeney, secretary, and Harry Kauffman, treasurer.

RC Gray Lady Course Opens Today In Keyser

KEYSER — The second Red Cross Gray Lady course in the Tri-Towns will begin today at 10 a.m. at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, 233 South Mineral Street.

The class is open to interested women in the Tri-town area and surrounding communities, said Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter.

The first class of 17 Gray Ladies is now working at Potomac Valley Hospital.

The five part course will include a two hour orientation to Red Cross, basic for all volunteers, today from 10 until noon. This will be followed by an introduction to Gray Lady service from 1 until 3 p.m.

Tuesday the class will visit Potomac Valley Hospital at 1:30 p.m. for a tour and talks by members of the hospital staff.

This will be followed by 10 hours on the job training at the hospital and a capping ceremony upon completion of the training period.

Mineral County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be hostess to the group. Class members should bring a sandwich and the chapter will provide a salad and coffee.

Piedmont Seeks Applicants For Pool Positions

PIEDMONT — Applications for positions at the Municipal Swimming Pool are being received at the office of Joseph Maybury, city clerk, until May 1, according to announcement made at the council meeting Tuesday evening.

Appointments for pool manager, life guards and basket attendants for men and women will be made by the Mayor and Council May 7.

A request for nine complimentary season tickets to the Municipal Swimming Pool was granted. They will be presented as prizes to the winners of the essay contest being held in the community schools in connection with the April Clean-Up Campaign sponsored by the Tri-Towns Community Council.

The council acted to extend daylight saving time to coincide with the neighboring area.

The recommendations of the W. Va. Health Department to include a grit screen chamber in the proposed sewage disposal plant for the city of Piedmont has been referred to the Upper Potomac River Commission for further study.

There was discussion about blacktopping a walk and repairing the railing at the approach to the Interstate Bridge to Luke. Councilman James Bissett questioned the advisability of using blacktop material. No action was taken.

New street signs to replace missing ones thruout the town are to be erected at once. Police Chief Charles Spiker was requested to find out where signs are missing.

The Police report for March was submitted by Charles Spiker as follows; four arrests for reckless driving, two arrests for intoxication, two for disorderly conduct, one for breach of the peace, three thefts, four traffic warnings issued, eight complaints received and two auto accidents investigated. Parking meter fines amounted to $42.50.

Potomac State Spring Concert Monday Night

KEYSER — The annual spring concert of the Potomac State College concert and stage bands will be presented Monday, at 8:15 p.m. in the college gymnasium, with Charles D. Whitehill conducting.

The concert band, composed of 38 musicians, will lead off the program with Duble's "Bravura March," followed by Bruce Houseknect's arrangement of Handel's "Thanks Be To Thee," David Bennett's arrangement of Luigini's "Ballet Egyptian," and DeBussy's "Clair de Lune" from "Suite Bergamasque," with arrangements by Hugh M. Stuart.

Yoder's "Haskell's Rascals," dedicated to Haskell Harr, famous drum teacher and method writer, will be presented by a snare drum trio consisting of Walter Bosserman, Mechanicsburg, Pa., Gary Williams, Tunnelton, and John Batchellor, McLean, Va.

Selections from C. Paul Herfurth's arrangement of Lerner and Loewe's "My Fair Lady" will include "I Could Have Danced All Night," "On The Street Where You Live," "With A Little Bit O' Luck," and "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face."

Following intermission, the 15 members of the stage band will take over with numbers representing popular dances of today, the slow ballads, Dixieland, Cha Cha, Bossa Nova, and the twist.

Soloists will be as follows: Batchellor on the drums, Bryan Jones, Verona, N. J., on the tenor saxophone; Douglas Donohoe, Vienna, Va., and James Spangler, Romney, both on trumpet; Ralph Baker, Moorefield, on the trombone; and Ervin Fink, Keyser, on the saxophone.

Leading off will be Sam Nestico's "Back Home," followed by Al Davis and Al Polhamus' "C'mon Home." Quincy Jones, "Soul Bossa Nova," Nestico's arrangement of the ever popular "Swing Low Sweet Chariot."

Next on the program will be Art Dedrick's arrangement of "Little Brown Jug," and for a finale the band will play the "Peppermint Twist."

Twin-Piano Recital Planned At PSC

KEYSER — Prof. Leonard G. Withers, head of the Music Department at Potomac State College, has announced a twin-piano recital for Sunday, April 7, at 4 p.m. in the Science Hall Assembly Room.

Featured will be David Carl, a junior at Romney High School, and Mr. Withers.

The program, which will be repeated April 8 at Romney High School, will be composed of both classical and light music and will include selections from Bach, the well-known "Dance Macabre" or "Skeleton Dance," "Deep Purple," "Begin the Beguine," and Strauss' "Blue Danube Waltz."

Mineral Co. Pre-School Clinics Slated Next Week

KEYSER — The only Mineral County pre-school clinics this spring will be held in Wiley Ford and Ridgeley schools next week. The Wiley Ford clinic will be held Monday and the Ridgeley clinic Wednesday, both at 10 a.m.

Clinics are for children from age three months to six years. Diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis (for whooping cough) and smallpox vaccinations will be given.

To comply with the West Virginia school Law, all children who will enter kindergarten or regular school for the first time next fall (1963), must have completed their immunizations before the opening of the school term.

Failure to comply with the school law will result in the child being excluded from school until the requirement is completed. It is also desirable that each child receive the required injections of polio vaccine.

Children in the areas served by the smaller schools including Patterson Creek, Short Gap, Fountain, Limestone and St. Frances may attend the clinic most convenient for them.

Each Saturday between 9 a. m. and 12 noon, an immunization clinic is held in the Health Department Office in the Mineral County Court House, Keyser.

Mrs. Bertha Smith, public health nurse, will be in charge of clinics and urged all parents with pre-school children to take advantage of the opportunity to have their children immunized during the spring clinics.

Moorefield Women Elect

MOOREFIELD — Mrs. T. S. Reynolds was re-elected president of the Woman's Club during its annual meeting this week.

Other officers re-elected were Mrs. Don Smith, treasurer and Mrs. M. M. Harwood, secretary. Mrs. Elwood Williams was named first vice president and Mrs. W. W. Vance, second vice president.

Mrs. Donald Baker, education chairman, announced that students at Moorefield High School English classes will compete for a prize in an essay on the subject, "What The Next 100 Years Hold for West Virginia."

Mrs. W. J. Teets, chairman of the cancer drive asked for volunteers for solicitation of funds on April 17.

The annual spring banquet will be held May 6 in the fire hall with Mrs. Nunley B. Snedagar, former GFWC director of Junior Clubs, Elkins, as speaker. The banquet is held in conjunction with the Petersburg Club.

Mrs. H. G. Muntzing, who attended the state convention last month in White Sulphur Springs, announced that the local club received a citation for being a 100-plus club; a citation from the Treasury Department for the sale of stamps in the grade school; and a first place award in the Drama and Literature section of the Fine Arts Department of which Mrs. James Ansel is chairman.

Mrs. Muntzing is county chairman of the April 30 clean-up campaign being sponsored by the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Garden Clubs of the State and Farm Women's Clubs.

Attorney Generals Meeting Scheduled

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UPI)—Attorney generals from 15 Southern states will meet here April 18-20 to discuss mutual problems.

The occasion will be the annual Southern Regional Conference of Attorneys general. West Virginia is a member of the conference.

New York Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, chairman of the National Association of Attorneys general, will attend the session.

STRIKE MESSAGE

From employees of General Telephone Company of the Southeast employed in Romney and Charles Town, West Virginia, Districts of the Company's West Virginia-Virginia Division and represented by International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers AFL-CIO and CLC in Local Union No. 2035.

To our many friends and customers of the Company, their relations and associates:

Contract Negotiations with the Company over a period starting in late January have broken down because the Company has refused to make an offer on wages and conditions that would wipe out even one-half the difference between our rates of pay and rates for its Bluefield employees.

Our Contract expired on February 15, 1963. We have continued in trying to get a reasonable settlement, the Company has stuck to an offer based on a predetermined fixed cost arrived at in its main headquarters in Durham, North Carolina, before negotiating with us this year.

It is evident that we have no alternative except to strike in the near future for the purpose of trying to gain a position better than what now appears to be second class by the way of comparison with wages and conditions for other telephone industry employees on properties surrounding the area in which we work and employees of the Company in its Bluefield District who are represented by another union.

Many of us have enjoyed the pleasure of serving you for a number of years, even as employees of the former owner, Central Telephone Company, during which time we were represented by the same International Union and under a Contract that provided for better working conditions than we have enjoyed since General bought the properties in 1958, following which our first big loss was hospital expense benefits paid for by the Company. It cost each employee approximately four cents per hour to replace this benefit.

General also bought the Bluefield properties from Central where the hospital expense benefit for Bluefield employees has been continued, paid for by the Company.

We think that our position is justified by looking at a few unquestionable facts;

In the Contract under which we would have been working if now employees of the former owner the top rates of pay for female employees range from 13 to 28 cents per hour higher than our present rates, the top rates for male employees range from 13 to 29 cents per hour higher than our present rates, that Contract provides for eight (8) paid holidays as does those on other telephone properties surrounding us, we get seven (7).

Our top rates of pay range from 13 to 25 cents per hour below the Company's other employees in the West Virginia-Virginia Division who also get Company paid for hospital expense insurance and we do not.

Our top rates of pay range from .26 to $1.01 per hour below those on C. & P. properties in Maryland immediately adjacent to our properties, and from 11½ to 56¼ cents per hour below C. & P. properties in Virginia in predominantly rural areas surrounding us.

As for rates on C. & P. properties in West Virginia, our rates on an average are now in 1963 still below C. & P. rates established in 1957.

We do not challenge the Company's statement that our hourly top rate pay increases have averaged 6 and a minor fraction cents per year during the four year period since General bought the property, a total average of 24½ cents. Remember this is an average.

We do not accept the Company's statement that its net rate of return in 1962 was 4.05 per cent as presenting a true picture of overall net gain. Assets account for something. This figure, according to the Company, is a deduction drawn from a 10. plus per cent gross return for the year.

We agree that it is apparent that overtime labor cost was extremely high in 1962. We accept no responsibility for this, we can and do work overtime only when the Company decides we should do so. We insist that this overtime could have been held to a smaller figure with careful and efficient planning by the Company. We say this without fear of contradiction.

We have humbly tried to give you some idea of our primary problem and plead for your indulgence and support. The more we earn the more we spend and feed into local economy. Therefore, our gain should be your gain.

Please accept our humble apology for any ill convenience our strike might cause you to suffer.

It is our hope that we can survive and come out of this thinking that our friendly relationships of the past will be enjoyed in the future.

Hospital Board Plans Statement On Discharge

The firing last week of the administrator of Hampshire Memorial Hospital in Romney precipitated a meeting yesterday of county and hospital officials, amidst threats of resignation by a group of hospital employes.

Members of the county court met with the hospital's board of trustees to air last Tuesday's unexplained discharge of Henry L. Harkness, hospital administrator, by the institution's board of directors.

L. L. Loy, president of the county court, and members Richard Kuykendall and George Herriott met in closed session for more than an hour with David Shear, Mrs. David Long, H. E. Hiett, L. A. Gainer, Chairman George Shanholtz, Campbell Pancake and Elmer Saville, who along with Loy, make up the hospital's board of directors.

Shanholtz refused to issue a statement on the discharge of Harness. He said that he and the majority of the board are not prepared at this time to make any statement concerning the discharge, "but soon will issue a specific statement" on the board's actions.

Attorneys John Ailes and Charles H. Bean have been retained by a group of hospital employes who want to know why Harness was fired.

The attorneys last Friday requested a meeting with the hospital board to obtain information concerning the administrator's dismissal. The meeting was scheduled for yesterday.

On Monday, Bean and Ailes went before the county court and informed the three commissioners that some of the hospital's employes said they would give notice of their resignation if Harness is not reinstated.

According to the attorneys, Harness has never been informed of the reasons he was fired.

Oldtown PTA Plans Election Tonight

OLDTOWN — An election of officers will be held tonight by the Oldtown Parent - Teachers Association.

An executive meeting will be held at 7 p.m.; room visitation at 7:30 p.m. and the business meeting at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Music Jubilee Is Planned At Apple Blossom Festival

WINCHESTER, Va. — Ernest Tubb, Nashville, Tenn., star of the country music field, and his band, "The Texas Troubadors," will highlight the Shenandoah Country Music Jubilee at the Apple Blossom Festival here Saturday, May 4. Tubb has, for years, been a member of the "Grand Ole Opry" and his WSM show is heard weekly on Saturday at midnight from his record store in Nashville.

The professional Country Music Show will begin at 8 p. m. at the Winchester Armory. Also featured will be Harvey Prigo and the Dixie Playboys," Jim McCoy and Lillie Belle. The dance, at which Tubb and his band will also entertain, is set to begin at 9:30 p. m. and run to 2 a. m.

The jubilee will get under way earlier that day when entrants begin to arrive at 10 a. m. at the Armory for the country music contest. Judging will begin at 1 p. m. and awards will be given in three classes: 1. Best Singer or group of singers; 2. best band; and, 3. best entertainment. Contestants must be registered by noon on May 4.

Two Country Music dances will be held on Thursday night, May 2, first day of the Festival. The Old Timers Country Music dance will be at the Shawnee Fire Hall with Shorty Billmyer and his band. The Country Music get Acquainted dance will be at the Rouss Fire Hall, with Jim McCoy and Lillie Belle as featured entertainers.

On Friday night, May 3, country music dances will again be held at the Shawnee and Rouss Fire Halls, with music by Shorty Billmyer at Shawnee and by Harvey Price and the Dixie Playboys at Rouss. Jim McCoy and Lillie Belle will be featured entertainers at both of these dances.

Information on all events of the Country Music Jubilee, including contest entry blanks and ticket prices, can be secured from R. J. Alford Jr., chairman, P. O. Box 248, Winchester, Va.

Mrs. Charles Thomas and Mrs. Alma Wachter will give the topic of the month; Mrs. Raymond Klotz and Mrs. Andrew DeWitt, the citizenship information and Mrs. Robert Coffey and Mrs. Robert Beachy will tell about safety practices in the home.

W. Va. Residents Warned Of Rabies

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Rabies apparently is increasing in West Virginia and State Health Director N. H. Dyer warned Wednesday that anyone bitten by an animal should get immediate medical attention.

The Health Department said rabies was found in 33 per cent of the 289 animal heads sent to the Hygienic Laboratory during the past six months, compared with 22 per cent for a similar period a year ago.

Dyer said physicians should report cases of persons being bitten to local health officers. He said the animal responsible for the bite should be caught and confined in a veterinary hospital, Kennel or other shelter until it has been determined whether it is rabid.

Local Man Held In W.Va. Robbery Case

A 25-year-old Cumberland man is being held by authorities for robbing and pistol whipping an Air Force man on March 26 near Harpers Ferry.

The man, Harvey G. Knipple, Bowman's Addition, alias Pete Davis and alias Pete Knipple, was apprehended Tuesday by Tfc. Milton Hart, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police; Trooper Roger Reynolds and Capt. James E. Van of the Cumberland Police Department.

The local authorities apprehended the man in the Bowman's Addition area and transferred him to the State Police barracks in Frederick.

Tfc. William F. Davis, of the Maryland State Police at Frederick, said they are holding Knipple, who uses both a Cumberland and Martinsburg, W. Va., address, for the alleged robbery and pistol whipping of a Lovetts, Va., Air Force man.

Tfc. Davis said Knipple allegedly robbed and pistol whipped Heston Eugene Dobson, 37, near Harpers Ferry on March 26.

Authorities said Dobson was hitchhiking along U.S. Route 340 and that Knipple was apparently one of the men in a car which picked up the GI.

The first information on the case was given to the State Police at Frederick by the Federal Bureau of Investigation which was under the impression it was a kidnapping case.

However, later the FBI informed State Police that Dobson got into the car on his own free will, and the FBI ruled out kidnapping.

State Police at Frederick said yesterday it had been determined the alleged assault occurred in West Virginia and Knipple is being held for West Virginia State Police. He was expected to waive extradition yesterday.

Following the attack, Dobson was treated in a Martinsburg, W. Va., hospital for several severe lacerations.

Tfc. Davis said the GI had about $18 to $25 cash on him at the time of the attack. He is stationed at Westover Air Force Base, Conn., and was home on leave at the time of the incident.

Taylor And Burton Together Again

LONDON (UPI) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor and husky former Welsh miner Richard Burton were together again Wednesday night less than 24 hours after an announcement of Burton's separation from his wife.

Neither was available for comment on the New York announcement by Mrs. Sybil Burton that she and the actor had agreed to separate but are not considering divorce.

Burton, 37, has been Miss Taylor's almost constant companion since they worked together on the epic "Cleopatra" in Rome in 1961 and 1962 and recently completed another picture here.

The two have been liked romantically even though both are married.

Workers Receive Probationary Status

Two temporary workers at Sylvan Retreat Tuesday were placed on probationary status under the Civil Service system by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Upon completion of six months probation the two workers will receive permanent status. They are Edna Cameron, a laundry worker, and Henrietta Dodds, a cleaning woman. Raymond G. Messmer, superintendent of Sylvan Retreat, recommended the action.

The world's largest land owner is the United States government with a holding of an estimated 769 million acres.

House Fire Investigation Continues

A Bowman's Addition woman is being held on suspicion of arson after a two-story frame house was badly damaged by fire at Bowman's Addition Tuesday night.

The woman was questioned in the state's attorney' office yesterday by Cpl. Milton Hart, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police; and William F. Baker, county investigator.

Mr. Baker said the investigation will be continued today with the questioning of other witnesses.

The series of events which led to the woman's detention began at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday when Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company was called to the home of Henry Howe, Forest Avenue, Bowman's Addition.

Fire Chief Gilbert Kerns said flames were shooting from the second floor windows and were visible around the base of the flue when firemen arrived. The woman at the scene was in an hysterical condition and told firemen she believed two men were in the second floor area, Kerns said.

Trooper Daniel Kerr of the LaVale Barracks of the State Police who made the initial investigation, and firemen searched the ruins of the second floor but found nothing. Later, Howe and another man drove up to the house in a car, police said.

No one was injured in the fire which Chief Kerns said was apparently started by a kerosene lamp.

Damage, estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000, was confined to the second floor and attic of the dwelling, he said.

The woman was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, then to City Jail by Officer Harold E. Gibson of the city Police Department where she was held overnight for questioning yesterday.

Bowman's Addition firemen were at the scene three hours. A total of 21 men reported and three pieces of firefighting equipment were in use.

Water Skiiers Get New Rule

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Tidewater Fisheries Commission adopted a regulation Wednesday making it unlawful for water skiiers to travel closer than 100 feet from swimmers, boats, or shorelines.

The regulation, which was recommended by the Boat Advisory Committee, will go into effect 45 days after general publication which is expected within the next week.

New Look For Socialism?

Socialist leaders from 12 European countries gather in London today for a conference of the International Socialist Bureau. Their hope is to develop a final, common position on NATO and the Common Market. A preliminary session in Brussels February 24, reached agreement on the desirability of avoiding any trade war between the six-nation Common Market and the rival seven-nation European Free Trade Association. The session also affirmed the importance of a re-examination of NATO with an eye to seeing how it can best promote Western cooperation.

European socialism has long ceased to be dogmatic; it is said that Socialists today have in common an attitude of mind rather than any abstract ideal. "Popular Front" collaboration with Communism has been firmly rejected. Moreover, 15 years of increasing prosperity finally convinced some party theorists of the efficacy of competitive capitalism. A new manifesto of the West German Social Democratic Party, adopted in 1959, declares that "private ownership of means of production may justly claim the protection of society." That document also acknowledges national defense as a duty of every citizen.

Socialist parties now are the most likely alternative government in both West Germany and Great Britain. Willy Brandt, the Social Democratic mayor of West Berlin, has a decidedly "pro-Western" image. In Britain there is an obvious possibility that a Labor government will be in power before the end of the year. Harold Wilson, Labor's leader, has been consistently ambiguous about international issues. But it is perhaps reassuring to recall, as The Economist of London does, that when Ernest Bevin last brought Labor to power in 1945, "he wedded Britain more securely to the American alliance than a disunited public opinion would ever have allowed a Conservative government . . . to do."

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Pieces Just Don't Fit

The job of us professional commentators, or licensed libertines, as Arthur Krock once called our breed, is to suggest answers to certain perplexing questions. Well, we try. But there are so many contradictions between official claims and statistics, on the one hand, and the evidence of our senses on the other, that the business becomes almost impossible at times.

For example, there are the unemployment figures and the projections therefrom. Automation, so it is said, is putting a "hard core" of irreclaimable people out of work. Maybe this is true. But the other day I started reading the "help wanted" columns of a daily newspaper. Having just been informed that fifty per cent of the unemployed in New England, which happens to be my section of the country, are women, I looked at the "female help wanted" section first. The results startled me, for, though many of the advertisements called for some kind of training, most of them were asking for a type of schooling or apprenticeship that almost anybody could obtain with even a minimum of get-up-and-go.

How much experience does a woman need in order to act as an attendant in a coin-operated laundromat, for instance? Or to become a cocktail waitress or a part-time counter girl? Or, given a natural gift of sharp eyes, to succeed as a proof-reader? Or, given some previous business life, to take a crack at managing a snack bar?

These are some of the jobs that are, at the moment, going begging. And there seem to be scores of openings for typists, and registered nurses, and cleaning women, and dental assistants, and for general office workers, and for waitresses, and for sewing machine operators. The list of openings for the more obvious types of trained or semi-trained women went on and on, occasionally interspersed with a request for some more esoteric skill. Not many, I imagine, could meet the requirements demanded of a mortgage girl or a legal secretary or a claims examiner with a knowledge of surgical instruments. But if such skills are needed in our economy, surely there are good openings for teachers who know how to teach them.

The "male help wanted" columns seemed to be filled with notes of urgency. Barbers, cooks, automobile mechanics, accountants, adjusters, auto seat cover installers, simonizers, concrete masonry workers, countermen, drill press operators, welders, newsboys, dish washers, steel warehousemen, rate clerks, registered pharmacists, salesmen of all types and descriptions, porters, plumbers, pressmen, clam and oyster openers, tool and die makers, delivery vehicle drivers, science and mathematics teachers, commercial artists, service station attendants, motel managers, lintoype operators—well, the list eventually became a droning bore to read.

Some of these job openings are obviously closed to beginners. But, again, how much ambition or cash does it take to get some training if you really want a job?

Turning from the difficulty of balancing the help wanted columns against the latest political warnings that chronic unemployment is staring this nation in the face, I tried to make something of the lament I had heard that "urban sprawl" is about to conquer our ancient wilderness heritage. I happen to be for the so-called "wilderness bill," now pending in Congress, that would require the federal government to set aside large tracts of forest and mountain for the delectation of tomorrow's generation of campers and hunters and hikers.

But the stridency of those who would destroy our present Congressional committee system in order to jam such things as the "wilderness bill" through the House of Representatives in a hurry seemed to me a little odd the other night when I reached a Connecticut road after coming home from Washington. Turning a corner, I had to jam on the brakes to keep from hitting a possum, a wilderness animal, who was crossing the pavement with all deliberate speed. The possum stopped to look at the headlights, then moved on at a pace that would have disgraced a lazy turtle. And I suddenly recalled a statistic I had read to the effect that only a quarter of the land in Connecticut, one of our most heavily populated states, is used for any human purpose whatsoever. Plenty of room for possums to move in from the south. Plenty of wilderness still.

Well, you take it from there. And remember what Emerson said. "Why so hot, little man?" News of the human "population explosion" hasn't yet reached Connecticut's possums.

'What Should We Ask For Next?'

Contradictions Becloud Policy Toward Cuba

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Confusion, if not frustration, today characterizes the policy of the Administration toward Cuba.

Nearly two weeks have passed since President Kennedy told a news conference that the Soviet government had withdrawn only 3,000 troops out of the 17,000 stationed on Cuban soil. He then added:

"We are waiting to see whether more will be withdrawn, as we would hope they would be. The month of March is not finished yet, and we should have a clearer idea as to what the total numbers should be in the coming days."

The month of March has passed, but the "clearer idea" has still not materialized. The only action that has been taken by the Administration is a sharp warning—not directed to the Russian government—but to the poor Cubans who have bravely attempted to raid ports and start guerrilla action such as Castro himself employed when he fought his way into power.

It seems to be regarded as legitimate for the United States to encourage and assist in guerrilla-type warfare in South Vietnam against Communists there, but somehow the effort of the Cuban patriots to rescue their own country by similar tactics is frowned upon officially in formal announcements from the Department of Justice. Neutrality laws are cited as standing in the way. It is announced that such laws will be enforced by the arrest of those Cuban patriots who attempt to launch from American territory any expeditions to wrest their homeland from Castro and the Soviet troops.

Contradiction after contradiction, moreover, has emerged to becloud the statements issued by the United States government. To take refuge in the neutrality laws seems to be in conflict with the following declaration on March 12 by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"Then we have felt, along with many others of our allies, that the kind of Cuban regime that we have today not only is not fit to participate as a regime in the activities of the Inter-American system, but that with its declaration of subversive and other types of war upon the hemisphere, it is not entitled to normal economic or other relations with the free world."

The neutrality laws were plainly designed to apply to expeditions started on United States territory against countries with which the United States maintains friendly and normal relaions. But a state of war now exists, for all practical purposes, between Cuba and the United States. Also, a blockade was undertaken last Autumn and foreign ships were intercepted by the United States Navy. In recent weeks, Soviet-built Mig's, flying from Cuba, have attacked unarmed American ships.

In the last several months, moreover, a hostile military operation, involving the erection of bases equipped with missiles as well as bomber planes, had been carried on inside the territory of Cuba. This was aimed at the United States. One wonders what more proof the government here needs that any steps taken by this country to protect itself are proper under international law and that so-called "neutrality" laws do not apply in the present circumstances to Cuba.

Actually, the constant use of air surveillance by the United States over Cuban territory is not really in line with the customary interpretation of the concept of "neutrality." The continuous pressure by the government here upon other governments to boycott all trade with Cuba is also hardly "neutral."

Secretary Rusk, in his March 12 speech, said:

"Now, we are discovering with regard to Cuba that, having failed to take the steps that might have prevented in years past the establishment of a Marxist-Leninist regime in Cuba, that the problem of finding a cure is more difficult."

The foregoing might well be paraphrased and applied today as the Administration, instead of finding a cure, permits the Soviets to strengthen their hold inside Cuba. It has even enlisted the help of Great Britain's Navy to keep Cuban patriots from attempting to regain their homeland.

Mr. Rusk also said in his speech that "the presence of Soviet forces in this remisphere cannot be accepted as a part of the normal situation in this hemisphere."

But the Soviets not only have been infiltrating Guatemala and Brazil, but they are still maintaining a military force in Cuba, less than a hundred miles away from the coast of this country.

Senator Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Military Affairs, said in a speech the other day that, "without positive action on our part, our neighbors to the south may fall one by one until the entire hemisphere is lost to us." He added that he was convinced that "The Cuban situation is the most immediate, pressing, and important problem facing our nation today."

Yet the Administration is using its influence to discourage a counter-revolutionary movement against the Castro regime, which deliberately invited the Soviet government to send troops and build missile bases in Cuba. How can the United States justify a policy of inaction against the Havana regime and invoke "neutrality" laws against the only individuals who wish to risk "their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor" to overthrow a tyrannical dictatorship?

Letters To The Editor

Sir:

Much has been said lately about the rights of College instructors to teach or discuss anything in English classes, regardless of its taste, origin or odor. But nothing has been said about the rights of students who do not want to participate in classroom discussions of fornication and perversions, replete with words that we usually associate with the scribblings of morons on public toilet walls.

And what about the freedom of those who don't want to have their tax money spent for the purchase and dissemination of such material, and the parents who don't want their children to have to participate in this phase of "Culture" in order to obtain a College degree.

We know that there is a demand by a segment of the population for racy books, erotic plays, kootch shows etc., and these demands have always been met by Carnival sideshows, Waterfront dives, Night Clubs and Pornography peddlers. But this does not seem to be enough. In the name of Academic Freedom and Liberalism, this material must now be forced down the throats of everyone. The taxpayers must pay for it and keep their mouths shut, or we will send for the Civil Liberties Investigator, and he will put them in their place.

A favorite argument by those who favor this type of book is that evil is only in the eye and mind of the beholder. This would make murder, rape, arson, incest, robbery, the atrocities of the Nazis and Communists all right if viewed with a pure mind. Another argument is: how do you know if a book is lewd or vulgar without reading it? You don't have to take a bath in a cesspool to know that it would be unwholesome, and you don't have to become addicted to narcotics to know that they would be harmful to you.

I suggest that if the books and plays in question are to be studied in College, that they should be included in a special course, entitled "Contemporary Pornography" for those who wish to explore this phase of "Culture."

Please don't teach them in the guise of English Literature.

Few Humans Have Exceeded 500-Pound Mark

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Is there a limit to how much a person can gain by eating all he wants? Yes, because the bigger the body, the greater the need for food. In time, the individual has all he can do to consume enough to feed his excess blubber.

The scientific explanation revolves around heat production, which is in direct proportion to body weight. Fat men and women generate more heat than their leaner counterparts. Heat production also is increased by overeating—like putting more coal in the furnace. Thus the calories dissipated through heat loss soon equal the caloric intake of food.

But there is a possibility of becoming elephantine. A 300 to 400 pound man or woman is extremely inactive so that few of the calories consumed in the diet are used for muscular exercise or work output. This adds to the storage of fat and increased poundage.

Despite the fact that the heavyweight spends most of his time sitting and eating, much energy is being produced to metabolize the enormous amount of food. This tends to even the caloric intake and output and may explain why so few humans have exceeded the 500 pound mark.

According to Gould and Pyle, the largest person on record came from North Carolina. He tipped the scales at 1,000 pounds and was 7 feet 8 inches tall. But this man is an exception. Most of the remarkable instances of obesity reported in medical journals were between 400 and 500 pounds, but the exact weight can be questioned.

Marie Francoise-Clay was one of these baby blimps. She lived in poverty and followed her husband, an old-clothes dealer, on foot from town to town. She gave birth to six children and was celebrated for her obesity. At age 40, Marie was 5 feet 1 inch tall and one inch greater around the waist (a trim 62 inches). Her neck was obliterated by the blubber and her breasts were over a yard in circumference. She had so much fat at the armpits, her arms were permanently elevated.

TOMORROW: Repair of fractured hip.

TENDER DANCER

Mrs. T. L. writes: Every time anyone touches me harshly I develop black and blue marks. This is embarrassing since I'm a dancer and have to be handled quite a bit. Every time my partner lifts me or tries a throw, I bruise so much I have to use a good deal of make-up. Is this anemia?

REPLY

A disturbance in the clotting mechanism of the blood or increased fragility of the capillaries may be responsible. A routine set of blood tests is available to determine the cause of your condition.

ITCH FROM JUICES

J. D. writes: Could drinking too many fruit juices cause rectal itch?

REPLY

Yes, especially when allergy exists or the citric acid changes the acidity of the bowel contents. Send stamped self-addressed envelope for leaflet on rectal itching.

TOMORROW: Heavyweights.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One night while we were blindfolded for our "mystery guest" spot on TV's "What's My Line," a would-be comic jumped up on the stage and created quite an uproar before the ushers shouldered him into the wings. The episode brought back memories of the night Sarah Siddons, the famous English tragedienne, playing Lady Macbeth, had an unexpected visitor during the sleep-walking scene. It was her new dressing room attendant, bringing her a breaker of ale she had ordered from a nearby tavern. Instead of giving it to her in her intermission, he delivered it smack in the center of the stage.

Karl Haas, Director of Fine Arts at Station WJR, Detroit, has a real sense of humor. Asked to prepare a program to entertain sick students at Wayne University, he labeled the concert, "Music for Ill Literates." A morning TV program of rock 'n' roll selections he listed as "Music to Steal Hubcaps By."

Legend has it that when Dante was discovered by a contemporary serenely smiling amidst the withering flames of Hades, he shrugged off the heat casually and explained, "I don't mind it, really: I'm just down here to gather material for a book."

Guatemalan Junta Second Big Test Of JFK's Alliance For Progress

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Eleven days after he stepped off his plane from visiting the presidents of Central America, JFK faced the second biggest test of his Alliance for Progress—the military ousting of President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes of Guatemala.

The first big test was the ousting of the newly elected President Victor Raul Haya De La Torre of Peru by a similar military junta. This one, Kennedy fluffed—which is the direct reason why he has trouble in Guatemala today.

For, just as one bad turn deserves another, the military of Guatemala have followed the military of Peru. The Guatemalan colonels saw how the Peruvian colonels got away with spiking free and democratic elections, yet still continued to get dollars from a forgiving Kennedy Administration; so they figure they can do likewise.

In each case, the issues are almost identical.

In Peru—Haya De La Torre, after many years in exile, won a free, though hotly contested, election as president of Peru. He was strongly anti-Communist, but a left - of - center, new - dealish reformer.

Afraid of his reforms, the army used Sherman tanks to smash the gates of the outgoing pro-American President Prado, and sent him into exile. Haya was blocked from taking office.

For a brief period, the Kennedy Administration hesitated. Then, despite previous Kennedy protests against the military, he bowed to the military. Kennedy even sent Jim Loeb, a wholly correct and courageous ambassador, into diplomatic exile as a sop to the Peruvian military.

Loeb was kicked out of his post and hasn't yet been given another one.

The results of the Kennedy kowtow to military might were duly noted all over Latin America, especially by the colonels.

In Guatemala—the colonels read the papers. So, when ex-President Arevalo, a similar social reformer, came back to Guatemala last week to run for president, the colonels followed the pattern of Peru. They used Sherman tanks to kick out pro-American Ydigorias, whose term was about to expire, and set up their own government in order to block Arvealo.

Significantly, both Guatemala and Peru badly need reform. In 1959, President Eisenhower allocated $50,000,000 to Peru for agrarian reform, in order to give landless peons small plots of land. But as of today, April, 1963, none of this money has been used.

Kennedy followed Ike by pushing land reform, but got nowhere with the Peruvian aristocracy.

Likewise, in Guatemala, Ydigoras, while a pro-American flag-waver, has done nothing for landless peons despite offers of cooperation from the USA.

These reforms are the essence of the Kennedy Alliance for Progress, and all Latin America will be watching to see whether the colonels of Guatemala, having thumbed their noses at the alliance — though using American tanks and equipment to do so—will now get the benign blessing of the Kennedy Administration.

No End To Junkets

Not all the junkets of Adam Clayton Powell, the No. 1 "Harlem Globetrotter," have yet come to light. This column can report the details of another taken by his former assistant, John H. Young, III, to South America to report on the "arts and cultural life" of that continent.

Young drew a salary of $10,000 a year as a "consultant" to the House Education and Labor Committee of which the Congressman from Harlem is chairman. But last year Young was rarely seen in Washington.

During one of his absences, Young spent an average of $20.90 a day for hotel rooms, plus $16.50 a day for meals, plus $12 a day for "miscellaneous expenses," while touring Latin America. That's a total of $49.42 a day.

When he got back, Young turned in a report that amazed Congressmen. He took up the taxpayers' money and the taxpayers' time with a report which stated, "There's not a single professional cellist . . . nor a competent ivola player . . . in all of Jamaica."

Young reported on a "semi-subsidized choral group" in Venezuela and a "puppet company staffed by 12 girl puppeteer volunteers" in the same country. About the only thing he didn't get around to investigating was the number of piccolo players in Brazil. The whole bill cost the taxpayers $1,788.12.

Wrong Economy

When it comes to demanding economy, Rep. Glenn Cunningham, the conservative Republican from Omaha, Neb., is one of the shrillest demanders on Capitol Hill. He has demanded a balanced budget, a consistent debt ceiling, a cut in Kennedy extravagence.

However, when it comes to Fort Omaha, that old Indian fort which protected settlers in the days of the prairie schooner, that's something else again. In this case, the Congressman from Omaha isn't interested in economy. On the contrary, he demands that Fort Omaha remain.

Secretary of Defense McNamara, who is trying to carry out both the President's and the Republican desire to save money, had decided to close Fort Omaha. After years of honorable service under the Army, it was transferred to the Navy in 1947.

Since then, it has become increasingly unimportant. After all, most of the Indians are gone—or else on reservations—and there is little reason for a fort at Omaha. It operates a couple of recruiting centers, a veterinary food inspection service, a Naval reserve office, and the 8578th Air Force Reserve recovery group. All of these could be closed down or moved, with saving to the taxpayers.

However, the Congressman from Omaha, like so many others when their ox is gored, has been sending vigorous protests to the Defense Department — to be less economical.

Images Of Images Of ...

By John Crosby

PARIS

Daniel J. Boorstin's book, "The Image," has just been published here and has caused considerable confusion, especially to my French friend, Jean-Jacques.

"This book says that making illusions is the principal industry in America — the movies, radio, television, newspapers, books. People don't like to do things in America — they just like to read about it or go to a movie about it. Is this true?" asked Jean-Jacques.

"Not quite," I told him. "The principal industry of America is not creating illusions but writing books like Boorstin does about other people creating illusions. You understand?"

"I don't think so," said the Frenchman. "I don't understand you Americans at all. Boorstin says Americans go to Rome not to see the Colosseum but to see the fake Colosseum Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer built for 'Ben Hur.' They're more interested in the image of reality than the real thing."

"Well, they go to Rome to see many things — where 'Spartacus' was shot, where "Cleopatra' was shot, where 'Roman Holiday' was shot. Americans have very broad interests."

"The supreme example of American behavior, Mr. Boorstein says," the Frenchman pursued, "is that of an American who has his car parked on the edge of the Grand Canyon. But he is not looking at the Grand Canyon. He regards instead transparencies of the Grand Canyon in a Viewmaster viewing machine. That's getting pretty far removed from reality."

"Oh, it goes much further than that," I told him.

"You mean, instead of parking his car beside the Grand Canyon and looking at transparencies of the canyon in a viewing machine, he'd rather read a book about a man who parks beside the Grand Canyon, etc. etc?"

"He reads the book review, not the book," I said. "And that's just the beginning. You have no idea of the enormous ingenuity of the American image-makers. We can create images of images of images. Now Irving Lazar steps into the picture."

"Who is Irving Lazar?"

"He is a celebrated agent who sells books to the movies."

"Aaah, he reads the book and sells it to the movies."

"No. He never reads books. He thinks it would blunt his sensibilities to read books."

"He reads the book review."

"Never. Book reviews are for women's clubs."

"How does he find out about the book, then?"

"Somebody telephones him long distance, the longer the distance the better. From Bangkok, perhaps, and tells him about the book."

"Then he calls Jack Warner and sells him the movie rights to the book for half-a-million dollars."

"Mr. Warner reads the book, then?"

"Mr. Warner is much too busy buying books to read them."

"Mon Dieu! Mr. Warner buys a book he hasn't read, sold him by a man who hasn't read it either, about a man who parks his car by the Grand Canyon but prefers to look at the images of the Grand Canyon rather than look at the real thing. We're getting pretty far from the Grand Canyon."

"That's just the beginning. Then comes the casting. Rock Hudson is rejected. He's too big. Alan Ladd is rejected—too small. Jack Lemmon is just right but he's busy, so they settle on Shirley MacLaine."

"Shirley MacLaine plays the part of a man who looks at images of the Grand Canyon?"

"The Grand Canyon is out. Cinerama has done it. Walt Disney has done it. Fox-Movietone News has done it. Instead of the Grand Canyon, they use the South Dakota badlands. And instead of looking at it through a Viewmaster, she's flat on her stomach looking at it through binoculars because she's a secret agent of the F. B. I. trying to stop diamond-smuggling over the Canadian border."

"So the American people don't even see an image of an image of an image of the Grand Canyon."

"They don't even see the movie. The people have gone bowling. The Americans are very very advanced at making images of images, etc., but it's getting harder and harder to get people to look at them. The image business is shot to hell."

Pear Shrimp Salad To Brighten Spring Menus

Today . . . this week . . . this spring! Anytime is the time for salad. There's hardly a dinner menu that does not contain a salad in one form or another. Pear Shrimp Salad is a doubly delicious salad since it's hearty enough for the blustery days of March and yet is refreshing in April's burst of sunlight. Tender, tangy shrimp marinate in a zippy salad dressing until time to garnish luscious canned pear halves. Crisp salad greens underline the canned pear halves and a carousel of cottage cheese and green pepper strips.

The uses for canned Bartlett pear halves are legion, and they deserve special notice on spring and Lenten menus. Canned pears are extremely rich in refreshment and satisfaction, but surprisingly low in calories. The texture and appearance of canned pear halves resembles the fresh fruit more closely than any other canned fruit. Their mild and delicate flavor makes them a perfect salad partner, meat accompaniment and dessert-time treat.

Pear Shrimp Salad offers an extra measure of satisfaction to all salad lovers, for the salad dressing-marinade is an appealing combination of favorite flavors. Snappy onion salad dressing mix and pear syrup creat an unusually light, bright accessory to the pears and shrimp. Pear Shrimp Salad is this season's best bet for the pure refreshment of a salad.

PEAR SHRIMP SALAD

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) Bartlett pear halves
2 cans (4½ounces each) shrimp
1 pound cottage cheese
Green Pepper strips
Salad greens

Drain canned pears, reserving syrup for dressing. Drain and rinse shrimp and marinate several hours or overnight in dressing. Place two chilled canned pear halves on side of lettuce lined salad plate. Fill pear centers with marinated shrimp. Place ½ cup cottage cheese on each salad plate and garnish with green pepper strips. Serve with Pear Onion Dressing. Makes 4 servings.

PEAR ONION SALAD DRESSING

¼ cup pear syrup
¼ cup vinegar
1 envelope onion salad dressing mix
⅔ cup salad oil

Mix pear syrup and vinegar, add salad dressing mix. Pour in salad oil and shake well. Makes 1 cup dressing.

Casablanca has a population of more than a half million persons. Less than 50 years ago, it was a small fishing village on a swamp in North Africa.

Pantry Special

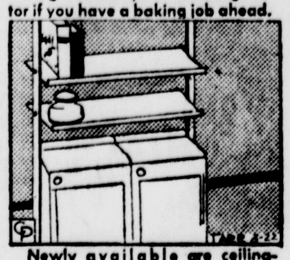
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (12-oz.) pork shoulder
2 teaspoons Prepared Mustard
1 teaspoon Instant Minced Onion
1 envelope White Sauce Mix
1¼ cups milk
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
4 hamburger buns, split, toasted, and buttered

Melt butter in medium-sized skillet over moderate heat. Dice pork shoulder. Add pork and mustard to butter in skillet. Stir while browning 3 to 4 minutes. Remove pan from heat. Add onion, contents of envelope of white sauce mix and milk. Place over heat; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Reduce heat; add sliced eggs; continue cooking just long enough to heat eggs through. Spoon a portion over 4 toasted bun halves. Cut each remaining bun round into 2 portions. Serve plain on plate along with sauced portion. 4 servings.

WIFE PRESERVERS

A butter wrapper makes an ideal cake-pan greaser. They're worth saving a few days in the refrigerator if you have a baking job ahead.

You can make your own patching plaster, to repair nail holes in a wall, by mixing equal parts of salt and starch.



Newly available are ceiling-braced extension pole units with trough-like shelves which fit above a washer or dryer to hold laundry soaps, detergents, etc.

You can prevent neighborhood dogs from knocking over your garbage can by securing it with a piece of pipe, driven into the ground and run through the handle of the can.

Ham A La King Deluxe

1 small green pepper, minced
½ lb. sliced fresh mushroom or 2-4 oz. can, drained
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup milk
1 cup thin cream
2 lightly beaten egg yolks
2 cups diced cooked ham
½ cup diced pimiento
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons sherry
Salt and pepper to taste

Cook green pepper and mushrooms in butter until soft but not brown. Make cream sauce by blending flour and butter in top of double boiler; gradually add milk and cream. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Mix a little sauce with egg yolks, then combine with rest of sauce. Place top of double boiler over boiling water. Add rest of ingredients and stir until sauce reaches right consistency and is hot. Serve on toast points or patty shells. Makes 6 servings.

Lenten Leftovers—Patty Shell

Leftovers, the dilemma of modern day cookery, can play a significant role in Lenten meal-planning. A patty shell, the basis for a festive meal, can be prepared in minutes. The rest is up to you. Whether it's the recipient of a simple fish salad or a fanciful egg florentine, it's a deliciously different meal that will steal the limelight of a pre-holiday table.

The convenience of patty shells is almost infinite. Easy to store, simple to prepare, frozen puff pastry shells rise into delicately flaky layers when placed in a hot oven.

Here we've heaped them to overflowing with creamed fish. Serve it with a luscious tossed green salad, a light dessert and, of course, rich, hot coffee.

Creamed Fish

(serves 4)

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup flaked, leftover fish

Melt butter or margarine over low heat. Add and blend flour for five to ten minutes over low heat. Stir milk in slowly and season. Stir with a wire wisk until smooth and boiling. Immediately add flaked fish. Blend and spoon into baked patty shells.

With scissors, cut marshmallows in small pieces. Heat orange juice and wine to boiling; pour over marshmallows; stir until marshmallows are dissolved. Add lemon juice and orange rind. Chill until mixture begins to thicken, then beat with a rotary or electric beater until foamy; fold in whipped cream. Pour into 4 sherbet glasses or dessert dishes. Chill until firm. Garnish each serving with a spoonful of whipped cream and 2 or 3 orange segments before serving.

NOODLES 'N' CHEESE CONTINENTAL

4 oz. egg noodles
1 qt. boiling water
2 cups Fairmont Cottage Cheese
½ cup Fairmont Homogenized Milk
2 tbsp. onion, finely chopped
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
¼ tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
Dash Tabasco sauce
½ cup grated American Cheese
½ cup cracker crumbs
Paprika

Cook noodles in boiling water until tender (about 7 minutes). Drain and rinse in hot water. Combine Fairmont Cottage Cheese, milk, onion, Worcestershire sauce, garlic salt, salt, pepper, and dash of Tabasco. Mix well and add to noodles. Put into a greased casserole. Top with grated cheese and cracker crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika. Cover casserole and bake in a moderate oven at 350° F. for 30 to 40 minutes. Remove cover for last 10 minutes of baking to brown top. Makes 4 large servings. Ingredients cost approximately 50c.

CREAMY COLESLAW

Sunday Breakfast Special— Hot Cherry Coffee Cake

Sunday morning is the one chance in the week when most families can have breakfast together at their leisure. There's time to linger and enjoy each other's company, and there's time, too, for those extra-special foods you're too rushed to make the rest of the week.

Home-baked coffee cake right out of the oven is a favorite for Sunday breakfast. Here's a simple-to-make recipe for Cherry Coffee Cake your family will ask for again and again.

The cherry filling is baked between two layers of butter-rich batter, delicately-flavored with a hint of orange. Serve this sugar-topped coffee cake piping hot for peak eating pleasure.

Cherry Coffee Cake

(Yield: 15 squares)

3 cups sifted flour
3¾-teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup sugar
½ cup butter
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
1½ teaspoons finely-grated orange rind
1 (1 pound, 6-ounce) can cherry pie filling
Granulated sugar

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Combine eggs, milk, and orange rind. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only enough to moisten.

Pour half of batter into greased 12x7½x2-inch baking pan. Spoon cherry pie filling over batter. Spoon remaining batter into pan. Sprinkle top with granulated sugar. Bake in 375 degree oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Cut into squares while still warm and serve.

Pirate's Pie

3 eggs
2 cans (6½ oz. each) chunk style tuna
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 medium tomato, cut in ¼" slices
4 slices American cheese
2 cups mashed potatoes

Beat eggs slightly and add to separated chunks of tuna. Add mushrooms and parsley. Place mixture in bottom of well-greased 9" pie tin. Top with tomato slices and 3 cheese slices. Spoon mashed potatoes over cheese. Cut remaining cheese slice diagonally in quarters, and arrange on mashed potatoes. Bake at 375° F. for 30 minutes, or until potatoes are lightly browned and cheese melts. Cut into wedges and serve hot. Garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ◇

Confronted with an apparently hopeless cause, South devised a very neat end play to bring home his contract.

The three no trump contract was distinctly on the aggressive side and, tho both players stretched their values, North is perhaps most to blame. His raise to two no trump with 14 rather barren points and completely even distribution was definitely against the odds.

For reasons best known to himself, West ignored his partner's overcall and opened the jack of diamonds instead of a spade. The ace was played from dummy which felled East's lone queen. Declarer saw that he was confronted with a long shot, since he must find the hearts divided three-three, as well as the queen of clubs on side.

His first move was to play the queen of hearts from dummy which East covered with the ace. The normal procedure by the latter would be to come back with a heart, permitting declarer to find his own way. However, East had been doing some card placing. The bidding had marked South with the king of spades and, on the basis of what had occurred so far in the play, it appeared to East that his opponent also held the king of hearts and the king of diamonds. It was not likely then that he also had the ace of clubs, for, with 13 high card points, his proper initial response would have been two no trump.

East accordingly shifted to a small club, in order to build up tricks for his side in that suit. West played the ace and continued the suit. South, however, withstood the temptation to finesse North's ten of clubs and went up with the king. It appeared unlikely to him that East would attack this suit unless he had an honor, in which case an end play was in the offing provided that South retained his jack of clubs.

Declarer led to his king of diamonds and then ran the hearts. When the suit broke evenly, dummy's lone heart was cashed, and then a small spade was led. East was obliged to put up the jack in order to force out South's king of spades. The latter then proceeded to get out with his jack of clubs. East was in with the queen and, after cashing another club, he had to lead away from his queen-eight of spades permitting the dummy to take the last two tricks.

Different Lenten Dinner

If you are hunting for something different for your Lenten or Friday menu collection, this Tuna Tetrazzini may be one dish you'd like to try. It's delicious, certain to satisfy even those folks who never seem to get enough on meatless days.

While you cook up the spaghetti for this sunpper dish, you can be gathering the other ingredients that go into making it so good. Plump mushrooms and bits of olives, pimientos and onion help to flavor the cream of celery soup, used as a tasty substitute for plain cream sauce. The ingredient that makes this rich and quite elegant is a sharp natural cheddar cheese. One eight-ounce wedge, shredded and generously sprinkled over each layer, does the job very well. As the tetrazzini bakes, the melting cheese forms a pleasant surprise throughout.

Here's a dish that is likely to be talked about, asked for and praised, so why not be the first to serve it.

Tuna Tetrazzini

1 4-oz. spaghetti, broken into 2-inch pieces
1 10½-oz. can cream of celery soup
½ cup milk
1 8-oz. wedge sharp natural cheese, shredded
1 13-oz. can tuna, drained, flaked
1 3-oz. can sliced mushrooms, undrained
⅓ cup chopped onion
¼ cup sliced pitted black olives
Salt and pepper

Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Combine soup and milk, mixing well. Add spaghetti, 1½ cups cheese, tuna, mushrooms, onions, olives and pimiento, mixing lightly. Season to taste. Pour into a 1½-quart casserole and bake at 350°, 45 minutes. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and return to oven until cheese melts.

A bee can sting only once, as a general rule, for when the insect tries to withdraw the stinger, the barb will usually break off.

Maine Sardine Salad

For a quick-and-easy salad plate, place Maine Sardines on a bed of lettuce. Garnish with lemon wedges. Add sliced hard-cooked eggs, bright crimson tomato slices, cream cheese balls and a few rings of Bermuda onions. Pass toasted crackers and your pet salad dressing.

There's no apple sauce like canned apple sauce. Why? Because canned apple sauce is a blend of two to five different types of apples to give it the utmost in good flavor and consistency. You are never at a loss for a quick dessert when you have canned apple sauce in the house.

Shrimp-Corn Casserole

(Serves 4-6)

3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
¾ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 4 ounces)
2 (12-ounce) cans whole kernel corn, drained
1 tablespoons grated onion
½ teaspoon celery seed
¼ teaspoon onion salt
1 pound shrimp cooked, shelled, and deveined
Parsley

Melt butter. Add flour and blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and cook, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Add corn, onion, seasoning, and half of shrimp. Mix well. Turn into greased 1½-quart baking dish. Top with remaining shrimp, and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Garnish with parsley.

Blue Cheese Potato Salad

(Serves 4-6)

2 pounds cooked potatoes, coarsely diced (about 5 cups)
½ cup chopped onions
¾ cup sliced celery
½ cup sliced green pepper
¾ cup crumbled blue cheese (about 4 ounces)
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
½ cup French or Italian dressing
1 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Combine potatoes, onions, celery, green pepper, blue cheese and eggs. Add dressing, sour cream, salt and pepper. Mix well and chill several hours. Garnish with additional hard-cooked egg slices, stuffed olives or radishes, if desired.

Meatless Casserole Meal

Building variety into meatless menus takes only a little bit of ingenuity.

For instance, you can turn a simple family casserole dish into something special by baking each serving in individual dishes.

For sure success, start with a recipe with flavor appeal for the whole family. This one for Salmon Asparagus Cheese Bake is a hearty combination of two long-standing favorites, salmon and asparagus, with a delectable sauce made with cottage cheese, green pepper, onion, and mushroom soup.

To complete that special touch, each individual casserole is topped with crisp chow mein noodles before it's popped into the oven to bake.

(Courtesy Meadow Gold Dairies)

Salmon Asparagus Cheese Bake
(Serves 4-6)

- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 (10½-ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1¼ cups cottage cheese
- 1 (1 lb.) can salmon, drained and boned
- 1 (10-ounce) package, frozen cut-up asparagus, partially cooked
- Chow mein noodles

Cook onion and green pepper in butter until tender (about 5 minutes). Stir in salt and pepper, mushroom soup, and cottage cheese. Simmer for ten minutes. In buttered individual casseroles or 1½-quart casserole, alternate layers of salmon, asparagus, and sauce. Top with chow mein noodles. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

More than 90 per cent of American homes have electric irons and 60 per cent have vacuum cleaners.

Convenient Snacks

If you are planning to remodel your kitchen, here's a really "bright" idea: a quick-lunch counter for the kids' noonday and after-school snacks and the family's bedtime refrigerator raids. Install a permanent table or counter and benches surfaced with colorful ceramic tile. You'll find they not only provide the proper festive air, but the tile surfaces make the clean-up job simplicity itself.

Busy teen-agers are apt to skip meals, filling in with snacks. Often their between-meal foods may help meet caloric needs but not nutritional requirements. Help teens to help themselves to good health by providing plenty of wholesome snack foods to supplement regular meals. Cookies, fruited quick breads and other baked products made with enriched flour satisfy a teen's sweet tooth and also contribute vital thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and the mineral iron.

Flank Steak Dinner

Would you like to serve a steak dinner that is easy on your budget? Answer your family's pleas for streak by preparing a kingly flank steak dinner, the American Meat Institute suggests.

Flank steak is economical because it comes from the hind quarter of beef located below the sirloin, giving the meat good quality but making it less juicy and tender than sirloin. However, flank steak is easily tenderized and kept juicy through proper cooking.

Most flank steaks are less than one-inch thick, about 12 to 14 inches long, and four to six inches wide. The fibers run lengthwise, making it wise to cut the surface in diamond shapes (called scoring) to shorten the fibers. For tenderness, long, slow cooking with moist heat is needed.

Freezing temperature of salt water is four degrees lower than that of fresh water.

Salad Molds Add Zip To Lenten Menus

Many a Lenten menu has been saved from the doldrums by the presence of a cool, shimmering gelatine mold. Molded main dishes look handsome, and because they are so simple to make always live up to their attractive appearance.

Egg Salad Mold, for instance, combines chopped hard-cooked eggs with nippy seasoning and diced vegetables — green pepper, pimiento, and celery.

It will do yeoman service through the hot weather that follows, for it is a basic salad mold recipe. Eliminate the eggs and add crab meat or shrimp, for instance, and you have a superb sea-food salad. Lobster, tuna, or salmon are equally delectable as basic mold ingredients.

Thanks to the presence of unflavored gelatine, there is little cooking involved — only the few minutes required to dissolve the unflavored gelatine in the liquid. Because unflavored gelatine is such a reliable product, every time you make a salad mold it will emerge from the refrigerator with just the proper consistency. Armed with an envelope of unflavored gelatine, the canny homemaker can provide her family with a wide variety of delectable Lenten dishes.

The gelatine salad may come to the table in a beautiful mold, and few dishes will look as spectacular. But for family service, you may chill the salad in a bowl rather than a mold and, if you wish, spoon it out to avoid unmolding.

All through the Lenten season, salad molds will add zip to your menus.

EGG SALAD MOLD

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ¾ cup cold water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco
- ¾ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1 cup finely diced celery
- ¼ cup finely diced green pepper
- ¼ cup diced pimiento
- 4 hard cooked eggs, chopped

Sprinkle gelatine on water in a 2½ quart saucepan to soften. Place over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved, about 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in salt, lemon juice, Tabasco and mayonnaise. Beat with a rotary beater to blend. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Stir in remaining ingredients. Turn into a 3-cup mold. Chill until firm. Uumold and garnish with salad greens.

YIELD: 4 servings.

NOTE: If desired, 1 cup flaked or finely cut sea food (tuna, salmon, crab meat, lobster or shrimp) may be substituted for the eggs.

Lamb Whirls Are Impressive, Colorful Entree

Coming to the aid of busy homemakers are versatile ground meats and all the many ways they may be prepared.

Next time, choose ground lamb for a change. Select an enticing recipe with a new twist, like Lamb and Bean Whirls, and you'll have an easy-does-it meal that attracts praise as well.

The ground lamb is mixed with tomato juice and seasoned with herbs. The meat is rolled as a jelly around cooked frenched green beans. The roll is sliced and the colorful whirls are cooked in the broiler. It's so simple to prepare, yet makes a very impressive main course.

Lamb and Bean Whirls

- 1½ pounds ground lamb
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon basil
- ¼ teaspoon thyme
- ½ cup tomato juice
- 1 package (9 ounces) frozen frenched green beans, cooked

Mix together lamb, salt, pepper, basil, thyme and tomato juice. Place on waxed paper and shape into a 10x12-inch rectangle. Spread green beans over meat. Beginning with a 10-inch side, roll as a jelly roll. Cut into 10 slices, each 1 inch thick. Place on broiler pan so the top surface of the lamb whirls is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil until brown on first side, 8 to 10 minutes. Turn and brown on second side, about 2 to 3 minutes. 5 servings.

Color Easter Menus Cranberry

Give the Easter dinner a cranberry glow with easy-to-make cranberry accompaniments. Choose a cranberry glaze to spoon over baked ham, a cranberry salad mold or a spicy cranberry fruit compote. Each is an Easter special.

Here are two ham glaze suggestions. One made with jellied cranberry sauce. The second is made with cranberry juice cocktail. Try one of them on the Easter Ham.

Cranberry Apricot Glaze

- 1 lb. can Jellied Cranberry Sauce
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup drained canned apricots, sieved, or 1 can strained apricot baby food

Beat cranberry sauce with beater until "saucy" smooth. Add brown sugar and sieved apricots. Spoon over ham the last half hour of baking or heat and pour over ham slice just before serving.

Cranberry Cocktail Glaze

- 1 cup Cranberry Juice Cocktail
- 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- ¼ teaspoon allspice
- 1 teaspoon vinegar

Combine ingredients in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes 'til thickened. Pour over slices of ham in casserole. Or use as gravy for baked ham. Makes about 1 cup glaze.

Pineapple rings topped with Cranberry Mint Molds is a flavorful relish-salad. Mold the cranberry gelatin mixture in fluted paper cups. Peel off paper and place on rings of canned pineapple to serve.

Cranberry Mint Molds On Pineapple Rings

- 1 package strawberry flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 lb. can Jellied Cranberry Sauce
- ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract
- 6 canned pineapple rings

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Chill until partially set. Crush cranberry sauce with fork and beat until smooth. Add to partially set gelatin. Stir in peppermint extract. Pour into 6 (½ cup) individual molds. Chill until firm. Serve on slices of canned pineapple as a relish-salad for the Easter Ham.

Try this Cranberry Pineapple Compote with the Easter dinner. A mildly spiced cranberry syrup is spooned over pineapple chunks and the dish is garnished with toasted almonds and grated orange rind.

Cranberry Pineapple Compote

- 1 1-lb. can pineapple chunks
- 1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 5 tablespoons sugar
- Dash salt
- 2 3" cinnamon sticks
- 5 whole cloves
- ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind
- ¼ cup toasted almonds

Drain pineapple reserving ¼ cup syrup. Combine syrup and cranberry cocktail. Mix cornstarch, sugar and sale in saucepan. Stir in cranberry cocktail. Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt in saucepan. Stir in cranberry cocktail mixture, add spices and orange rind. Cook over medium heat until clear and thickened, stirring constantly. Remove cinnamon sticks and cloves. Pour hot syrup over pineapple in compote dish and chill. Garnish with toasted almonds and orange rind before serving. Serve with ham or pork.

Deep South Ovenly Chicken

- 1 boiler-fryer, 2½ to 3 lb. cut in serving pieces
- 1 cup packaged biscuit mix
- 1½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ½ cup finely chopped pecans
- ½ cup evaporated milk
- ½ cup melted butter or margarine

Wash chicken pieces; drain and pat dry. Combine biscuit mix, seasonings and chopped pecans. Dip chicken into evaported milk, then coat well with biscuit mixture. Place in a 13 x 9-inch shallow baking dish. Pour melted butter or margarine over chicken pieces. Bake uncovered in a 375° F (moderate) oven for one hour, or until chicken is fork-tender. Makes 4 servings.

The fertile fronds of the ostrich fern resemble somewhat an ostrich plume.

Fried Chicken And Baked Fluffed Sweet Potatoes

Who says an everyday meal has to look dull? Here's one served in a young, light-hearted fashion by simply hoisting the fried chicken and garnishes aloft on skewers planted in apples . . . as companions to Baked Fluffed Sweet Potatoes. Could be that everything would taste extra zestful just because it looks so gay and inviting.

And those sweet potatoes! They're firsh whipped into fluffs with sour cream and seasonings. Then comes the young, imaginative touch . . . a whisper of deluxe French dressing . . . just enough to lend a tiny flash of spirited sharpness to the sweet mealiness of the potatoes. Tell if you wish what that haunting special flavor is. Or keep it as your own joyful secret. All anyone will realize is that never, but never, have sweet potatoes tasted so relishing good.

Baked Fluffed Sweet Potatoes

- 4 medium sweet potatoes
- 2 tablespoons French Dressing
- 2 tablespoons dairy sour cream
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- Melted butter or margarine for brushing

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Scrub and dry potatoes. Bake 45 minutes or until tender. Cut a slice from top of each potato. With a spoon, scoop out potatoes and mash well. Whip in the salad dressing, sour cream, salt and pepper. Spoon potato stuffing into each shell, rounding slightly. Brush with butter or margarine and return to oven for an additional 15 minutes or until heated through. Makes 4 servings.

French Toast—A Model Of Culinary Versatility

Orange-Cinnamon French Toast

- 1 (6 ounce) can frozen concentrated orange juice, opened
- 2 eggs, beaten slightly
- 1 (1 pound) short loaf French bread
- Cinnamon-sugar mixture

Cut frozen orange juice into small sections; add to beaten eggs in a pie plate and blend together with a fork. Cut French bread into 16 equal-sized slices, each about 1-inch thick. Dip each bread slice into egg mixture, turning it to coat both sides. Grill or pan fry dipped bread slices in a small amount of hot fat, turning them to brown both sides. Sprinkle each slice with cinnamon-sugar. Serve immediately.

Yield: 8 servings—2 slices toast per serving.

Orange-Sugar French Toast

- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup shortening or cooking oil
- 8 slices enriched bread
- 3 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ½ teaspoon grated orange rind

Combine beaten eggs, milk and salt in a pie pan. Melt shortening in a large skillet. Dip each bread slice into egg mixture, turning it to coat both sides. Brown in hot skillet on both sides. Combine sugar and orange rind; sprinkle a teaspoon of this mixture over each slice of hot toast. Serve immediately.

Yield: 4 servings—2 slices toast per serving.

Deviled Chicken

- 6 small raw fillets of chicken (white meat, boned)
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon chili pepper or paprika

Dip the chicken in melted butter and broil 10 to 15 minutes. Mix the rest of the ingredients together and pour them on the chicken when it is done. Serve.

Food Shopping Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Food shoppers will find a good assortment of fresh meats, spring vegetables, and fruits for the pre-Easter weekend.

Best vegetable buys for this weekend include asparagus, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, celery, dandelion, green onions, dry onions, and potatoes. Other features will be sweet potatoes, mushrooms, tomatoes, parsnips, radishes, and rhubarb.

In the fruit department bananas, watermelons, coconuts, and Chile honeydews will be prominent.

Dairy products and eggs continue to be good buys.

On meat shelves there'll be good features in lamb, especially leg roasts. A fair variety of beef—mostly chuck, round and rib roasts—will be featured. Hams, turkeys, ducks, and geese will be plenty for the Easter holiday period.

Fish shoppers will find plenty of fillets, shad, scallops, smelt, oysters, and clams.

How are you fixed for canned apple slices? They're superb for pies, of course . . . no paring, coring or slicing. Also fine for apple crisps and Betty, to serve chilled alone for desserts sprinkled with nutmeg and sugar, or to offer lightly salted as a relish with meat.

Creole Sauce Adds Flair To Fish Fare

In the French Quarter of New Orleans, Mardi Gras heralds the coming of the Lenten season and with it, the need for homemakers to brush up on special meatless dishes.

Creole food is another of New Orleans' claims to fame, and this Lenten recipe for Creole Baked Fish is a home economists' interpretation of that distinctive cooking style.

It's the sauce that gives this Lenten dish its special Creole flair. Made with buttermilk, tomatoes, and delicately seasoned with oregano, the sauce adds a delectable flavor.

Creole Baked Fish

(Serves 4-6)

2 pounds fish fillets, fresh or frozen (cod, halibut, perch, or whitefish)
3 tablespoons butter, melted
Salt and pepper
¼ cup butter
1 small onion, chopped
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano
1 cup canned whole tomatoes
1 cup buttermilk

Thaw fillets, if frozen. Cut into serving-size pieces. Dip into melted butter. Season with salt and pepper, and arrange in shallow baking pan.

Cook onion and celery in ¼ cup butter until tender (about 10 minutes). Stir in flour and seasonings. Gradually add tomatoes and buttermilk. Simmer for 10 minutes, stirring constantly.

Pour sauce over fish. Bake in 350 degree oven for about 45 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Cherry Pecan Cake

(Makes 1 loaf cake)

⅔ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks, beaten
2 cups sifted cake flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup milk
¾ cup finely chopped pecans
1 cup (6 oz.) finely chopped glace cherries
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
¼ cup sugar
Confectioners' sugar frosting
Whole glace cherries
Pecan halves

Cream butter and ½ cup sugar until fluffy. Add vanilla and egg yolks. Add milk alternately with sifted dry ingredients, mixing well. Stir in pecans and cherries. Gradually add the ¼ cup sugar to beaten egg whites. Beat until rounded peaks form. Fold into batter. Bake in greased and lightly floured 10x5¼x3¼-inch (2 qt.) loaf pan. Bake at 350° for 1¼ hours or until done.

Frost with confectioners' sugar frosting and decorate with whole glace cherries and pecan halves.

Sardine Breakfast

Get rid of morning blues by preparing an extra special breakfast surprise. Substitute plump, meaty Maine Sardines for the customary bacon or sausage. Maine Sardines with fried eggs are something special, and they can be cooked right on the griddle with the eggs. When the fish are hot and bubbling, place them around the eggs and watch the family go to town.

Simple, Zesty Sauce Brightens Lenten Menu

If Lenten meals leave you wondering what to serve next, try a twist on your favorite meatless standbys. You can work wonders by varying an ingredient here or there, adding a touch of something different, or experimenting with an intriguing new sauce.

French-fried shrimp, for example, can take on new glamour and appeal when you serve them with a different and delicious sauce made with American blue cheese.

A simple-to-make blend of the zesty blue-marbled cheese with sour cream, mayonnaise, chopped dill pickle, and a hint of onion can bring a bright flavor accent to shrimp and give new life to the family's interest in meals.

Mellow American blue cheese, which is budget-priced, can be used in various sauces to pep up vegetables, as well as entrees.

Blue Cheese Sauce

(Yield: 1½ cups)

¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated onion
½ cup chopped dill pickle, drained

Mash blue cheese well with fork. Blend with sour cream. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, and grated onion. Mix well. Stir in chopped pickle. Chill. When ready to serve, garnish sauce with additional crumbled blue cheese.

Collop Monday

In the early days of England, Collop Monday was the day that fresh meat was cut into collops or steaks to be salted and dried until Lent was over, says the American Meat Institute. Today it is still an English custom to serve eggs and collops, i.e., eggs and bacon.

Easy Entertaining

Planning an Easter buffet supper? Keep preparations to a minimum with ham slices baked in a flavorful and colorful fruit sauce, the American Meat Institute suggests. Scalloped potatoes are a natural accompaniment and they may bake right along with the meat.

Week's Food Economies

This is the time to start planning for the foods you will serve for the coming holiday season. With anticipation of the possibility of extra expenditure it behooves shoppers to take advantage of the best buys this week, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist, Baltimore Office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

A number of food traditions are associated with the celebration of Easter. Ham will be a good choice for Easter 1963 because it will be economical. Larger pork marketings, more cured hams in storage and more beef to choose from will contribute to making prices of ham more attractive.

Shoppers may buy a whole ham, but usually hams are offered for sale cut into halves or into butt or shank portions. The portions or ends have some of the center slices removed which reduced the yield of meat somewhat compared to the full half of either end. Hams may be divided into those that are fully cooked and those that require additional cooking. Fully cooked ham may be served cold without further cooking, but flavor and texture are often improved by heating. Canned hams are fully cooked. The tenderized and regular smoked hams must be cooked to an internal temperature of 160°F. or 20 to 30 minutes per pound before eating. Ham should be glazed the last half hour before the end of the cooking time.

Fresh pork marketings from now through June are expected to be up around seven per cent. Watch for attractive buys in pork.

Eggs play an important role in the Easter holiday. White eggs are in demand for coloring. Grade A eggs are recommended for hard cooking.

Seafood counters offer the best buys in Rockfish, shad and porgies.

Vegetables on the best buy list are from Florida, sweet corn, tomatoes and green peppers; from Texas, carrots and beets. This list will provide variety along with the yellow and green color that indicates Vitamin A content is high.

Maine Sardines In Mustard Sauce

For lunch or light supper, during Lent, serve your family a tangy dish of Maine Sardines in mustard sauce with stuffed olives. Take two cans of Maine Sardines in mustard and arrange them in a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with chopped stuffed olives, one tablespoon chopped parsley and two hard-cooked chopped eggs. Place under the broiler for five minutes until bubbly and serve on buttered toast.

A most delicious pancake topping is canned apple sauce heated and thinned with apple juice to the consistency of heavy cream.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The Director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, William C. Foster, has written to me answering what we said here in a recent issue of "Senate Cloakroom": that our test-ban negotiators had made too many concessions. We warned against any agreement which would jeopardize our national security. Director Foster reassures me that he and other key officials in the Administration recognize the fact that "a strong military establishment remains essential." He says that "no action could be taken that would obligate the United States to disarm without prior approval of Congress." Director Foster ended his letter to me this way:

"As you may know, the President, the Secretary of State and I have all said that a test ban agreement would be submitted in the form of a treaty to the Senate for the traditional two-thirds vote. Under Section 33 of the Arms Control and Disarmament Act, a disarmament agreement must either be approved in this fashion or by a majority of both Houses. The American people are thus assured that no disarmament agreement could be put into effect without the approval of their elected representatives."

A report of the American Bar Association's Committee on Communist Tactics, Strategy and Objectives contains this statement:

"During the last 25 years, the United States has had 3,400 meetings with the Communists, including Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam, Panmumjom, and Geneva. The negotiators spoke 106 million words (700 volumes). All this talk led to 52 major agreements, and Soviet Russia has broken 50 of them."

Now, don't misunderstand me. Despite our poor showing at negotiating with the Russians, I feel that we have to keep trying.

Can the American taxpayer get his money's worth in foreign aid? Mr. John Q. Public has dug deep into his pocket to the tune of about $100,000,000,000 for foreign aid. To help pass this year's foreign aid appropriation bill, the Kennedy Administration appointed a "citizens' committee" to assess the aid program. The 10-man committee, headed by General Lucius D. Clay, has just reported. It's a tough report. Among the many noteworthy observations were these: the United States is trying to do "too much for too many" in extending foreign aid to 95 countries and territories; too much money is spent to get military bases in some countries, and such aid should be cut; military assistance to foreign nations "should be reduced progressively"; the burden of foreign aid "is falling unfairly upon the U. S."—Western Europe "can and should do more"; aid to the new countries of Africa should be sharply curtailed and limited, particularly in the Congo; economic aid should be withheld from Indonesia unless it "puts its internal house in order." Those are a few of the recommendations.

Here are a few footnotes on foreign aid which do not appear in the Clay report. President Goulart, of Brazil, to whom the United States has given many hundreds of millions of dollars in foreign aid, on March 18 angrily demanded a personal apology from President Kennedy for the State Department's assertion that Communists had infiltrated the Brazilian government. Four days after we had signed an emergency loan agreement to provide the Government of Indonesia with $17,000,000 worth of goods, President Sukarno purchased 3 new jet airliners, costing as much as we had loaned his government. (As the Baltimore Sun commented, Indonesia's problems are "a kind that no amount of high-speed transportation will solve.") Senator Stephen Young, Democrat, of Ohio, reports that, on his flight to Europe to attend a UN conference on science and technology for underdeveloped nations, he had to fly tourist class as a U. S. delegate, while representatives from the underdeveloped nations, to whom we were giving foreign aid, all flew first class. Small potatoes, you say? Well, multiply this by thousands and you will begin to get the picture.

In President Kennedy's letter of thanks to General Clay for the committee's comprehensive study and detailed report on foreign aid, he said:

"You must be sure that the committee's recommendations, including greated selectivity, stricter self-help standards, greater participation by the developed countries in aid efforts, and continued improvements in administration, will be carefully applied in our continuing review of this program."

Some 160 executives of the Peace Corps will fly from Washington—all 160 of them—to spend two weeks in Puerto Rico, reports Deputy Director William Moyers. "The idea is to spend two weeks in a close and familiar setting with the volunteers and also to balk desk flabbiness," explains Moyers. While in the Caribbean, the 160 Washington executives of the Peace Corps will collect their regular salaries, the lowest of which is over $11,000 a year, and will have their expenses paid, and I venture to guess that the time on the Caribbean island will not be deducted from their annual vacation time.

HOW MUCH IS 100 BILLION DOLLARS?—Handing out the sum of $144,190 every day, it would take you 19 centuries to get rid of 100 billion dollars, which is approximately the amount the Administration proposes to spend in one year.

"ANOTHER DAY OLDER—!"—Of each 8 hours of work the average American works 2 hours and 16 minutes to pay his taxes, 1 hour and 28 minutes for food, 1 hour and 24 minutes for housing, 36 minutes for transportation, 34 minutes for clothing, 19 minutes for medical care, 18 minutes for recreation, and 1 hour and 5 minutes for all other expenses. "Sixteen Tons and What D'ya Get?"

Decision Delayed On Liquor Cases

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners took under advisement yesterday two cases in which proprietors of drinking establishments are charged with refilling bottles with other than the contents under which the bottles were stamped.

Charged with the violations are Joseph F. Lyons, president of the Clary Club Corporation, and Harry W. Little, president of the Southern Bar Corporation.

Lyons was represented by Attorney William C. Walsh, and Little by Attorney Miller Bowen. In statements to the board, each of the attorneys asked for consideration, pointing out each of the men charged had cooperated with the investigation.

Walsh also said Lyons has a large investment in the historic Clary Club and employs nearly a dozen people in operating the establishment. Lyons also faces a hearing on the same charge on Friday in Federal Court, Baltimore.

Textile Workers Attending Institutes

Aaron W. Bean of Frostburg, and Leroy Hare, this city, members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, are in Washington, D. C., attending the second of a series of legislative institutes conducted by the Education Department of the TWU of A (AFL-CIO).

Leaders in government and labor are appearing before the institute composed of men and women who work in the mills daily. A visit to the Venezuelan Embassy will be another feature of the week's program.

Tall Cedars To Hold Ceremonial Here

Algonquin Forest 140, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will be host to the District 21 spring ceremonial here April 27.

The group requested permission of the Mayor and Council Tuesday to conduct a parade from the Court House, to Baltimore Street, to North George Street, and disband at the B&O freight house.

The wall paper industry got its start in America in 1739 when printed designs were produced in Philadelphia.

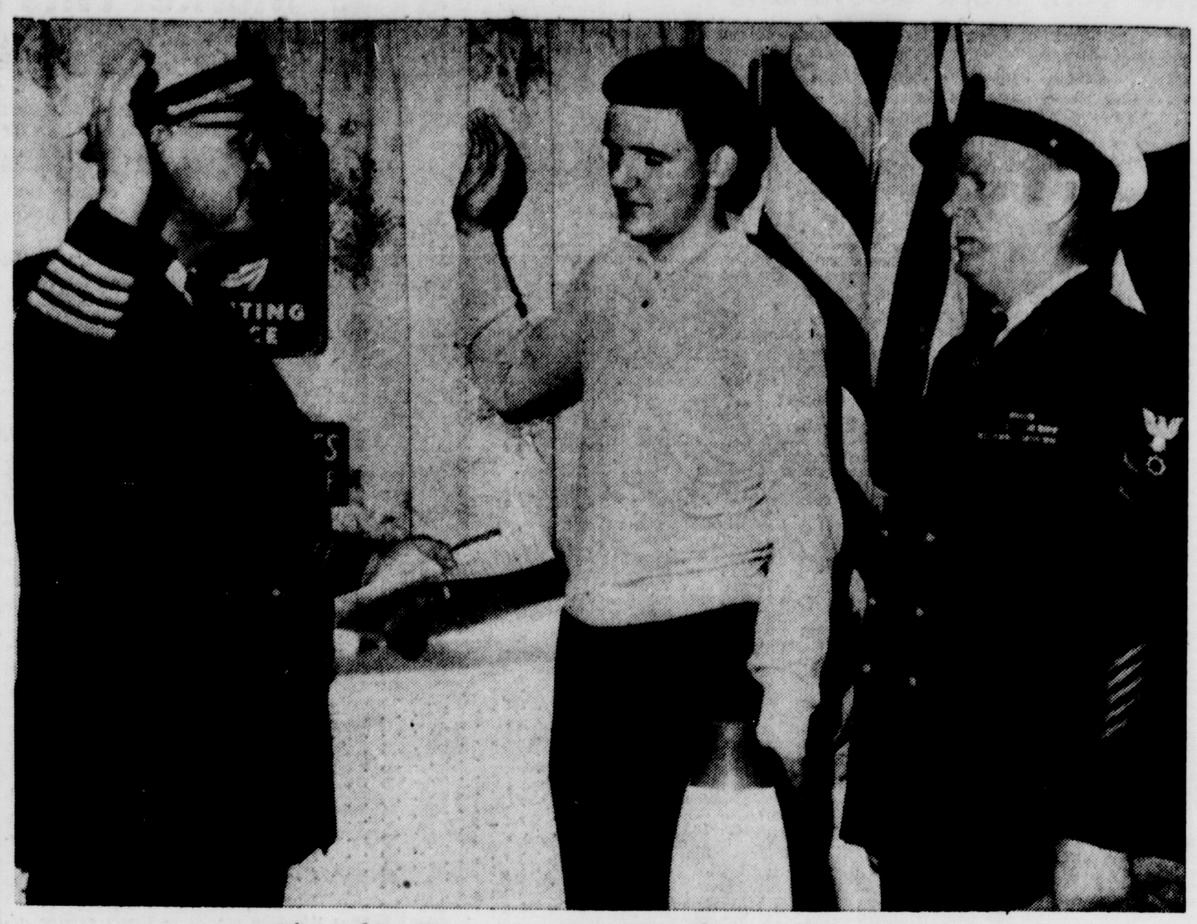
Dr. William C. Van Newkirk, chapter president, emphasized that the chapter was making no judgments since it did not know the facts.



Chief's Son Joins Surface Division

Captain Roy C. Smith III, left, is shown swearing in William L. Wagoner, 16-year-old Springfield, W. Va. boy, as the newest member of Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 (L) last night. Looking on is Chief Engineman Donald D. Wagoner, father of the newest member, who has been called a "plank owner" as one of the original members of the local division. Captain Smith, commanding officer of the Washington, D. C. Naval and Marine Corps Center, was the senior officer of the inspection team which conducted the annual inspection of the division here last night.

Thoroughfare Plan Explained To Club

Details of the proposed Thoroughfare Plan of the City of Cumberland were related to the Cumberland Rotary Club Tuesday by John R. Joyner, resident planner for the City of Cumberland.

Mr. Joyner, a member of the staff of Blair and Stein Associates, was introduced by Robert G. Garner, president elect.

Explained was the system of arterial, loop, collector and local streets which are proposed in the plan.

A detailed report was presented on the function of the Cumberland Thruway in the proposal which will be submitted to the public at a hearing here April 16 at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

Celanese Workers Honored At Party

Two members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, were honored upon their retirement at a party Saturday night in the union hall.

Honored were Mrs. Cora Dietle and Mrs. Hazel Barbe, who retired Friday after serving in the cafeteria department at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

Both were presented luggage at the event attended by friends and fellow workers and representatives of the staff of the Amcelle plant.

needs of the county discussed with the grand jury is recommended.

School Inspections

The grand jury recommends that Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker make inspections of all public and private schools, hospitals and other public buildings and report to the October grand jury any recommendations necessary for maximum protection from fire hazards.

J. William Hunt, chairman of the Washington Memorial committee, and U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall were commended for their efforts to establish a Washington memorial on the site of Fort Cumberland.

The Frostburg Police Department was commended by the grand jury for its efforts to require strict compliance with the state criminal laws.

Employes Commended

Among the county employes commended in the five-page report were Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein and his staff, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Grim, for their management of the County Infirmary; County Treasurer James W. Bishop, Mrs. Johanna Sills, county auditor; State's Attorney James S. Getty and his assistant, Donald W. Mason, and Mrs. Leo Shipley, secretary to the grand jury.

For a change the grand jury also expressed appreciation to its foreman, Glenn Watson Jr., and the clerks, Mrs. George Hollar and Douglas Boden.

The report was received by Judge Cobey, who excused the grand jurors with the admonition that they are still subject to recall in an emergency until the October grand jury is impaneled although this is not likely.

During its three days of sessions, the grand jury examined 26 witnesses and returned 19 indictments.

Automobile Tag Sale Continues

Although Monday was the last day for use of old Maryland automobile license tags, sale of car tags is continuing at a fairly brisk pace this week in the office of Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

On Tuesday some 193 sets of car tags were sold and yesterday clerks disposed of about 100 more.

Meanwhile, the sale of tags for privately-owned trucks has begun at the Court House. These tags are not required until midnight Tuesday, April 30. Some 105 sets of trucks were sold Tuesday and 76 more yesterday.

Mr. Orndorff stressed that the office at the Court House has no tags for trailers or motorcycles. Only privately-owned trucks and farm trucks are handled here.

Bowman's Addition Firemen Seek Funds

The Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company is starting its annual campaign for funds designed to bring in some $800.

Fire Chief Gilbert Kerns said that about 300 coin cards are being distributed in the Bowman's Addition area this week. The holders will keep them three months and they will be collected early in July.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD —I don't know when Tony Curtis is going to have time to go to Europe with his bride, Christine Kaufmann. He's just made plans for another picture. This one he couldn't turn down—not with John Frankenheimer directing "The Confessor," a psychological drama from the John Donahue novel set for June publication.

John and Tony both are swamped with work, and "Confessor" won't start until October under the Mirisch Company banned for United Artists release. Preceding this will be "Captain Newman, M.D., just completed, and next week Tony starts "Monsieur Cognac." He'll also complete "Playboy," and counting on all fingers, this makes at least four pictures for Tony in 1963.

Few celebrities as well known as Jimmy Cagney who have managed to retire have found such satisfaction in a new form of expression as has Jimmy. In admitting his retirement recently, Jimmy said that he is taking up most of his time painting. Now I learn Jimmy leaves April 12 on a painting vacation with artist Serge Bomgart, who has been teaching him.

They'll brush and palette their way through Egypt, the Greek Isles, Spain and other spots. And while in Spain, perhaps Samuel Bronston can lure Jimmy out of retirement by offering him any role he wants to play in "The French Revolution."

The two-day trip producer Andrew Fenady made to San Francisco was to talk with federal authorities about using famed Alcatraz, "The Rock," for his movie starring James MacArthur, "The Silent Gun."

Just last week the government moved all federal prisoners off Alcatraz and since then there have been rumors, but nothing official about how the prison in the bay will be used. It has been said it will become a tourist attraction, charging admission for visitors to look around the old maximum security fortress. Whether or not Uncle Sam lets a movie company take over for backgrounds hasn't been settled.

There will be no living with Phil Harris now he's the father of a beauty contest winner. His and Alice Faye's pretty daughter Phyllis, a junior at the University of Arizona, has been chosen Miss Arizona. She will represent the state at the Atlantic City beauty pageant next summer which makes her eligible to become "Miss America."

Marlo Thomas, pretty brown-eyed daughter of Danny Thomas, is sure to have an interesting career ahead of her. Among the offers she's received since opening locally on the stage in "Sunday in New York" 'is one from young producer at Columbia, Bobby Cahn, to appear in a sequel to his hit, "The Interns."

Neile Adams, Steve McQueen's wife, who has been having a bout with the flu, has been told by her doctors that she will be well enough to join Steve in New York by the weekend to celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary. She hopes to stay on for the completion of locations on Steve's Paramount picture "Love With the Proper Stranger," with Natalie Wood as his co-star.

Hercules Leases Plaza Office

The Hercules Powder Company has announced that office space has been leased in the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center but the purpose of the move appears unclear.

The announcement by the company follows:

"The Hercules Powder Company announced that they have taken office space in the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center for the purpose of establishing a special study team to work on advanced weapons systems.

"The new group will be composed of Hercules personnel, working on projects of interest to Hercules, and consequently, the work performed by this group could not be conducted at the government-owned ABL."

LONG RUN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The off-Broadway long-run record for a drama is held by Jean Genet's "The Blacks," still current at St. Marks Playhouse. It passed the 700-performance mark on Jan. 3 Several off-Broadway musicals have exceeded this, but never a straight play.

Clise's And Sportsman's Club To Play For Y Tourney Senior Title

Tri-Towns Stars Advance To Jr. Division Finals

Four Championship Games Scheduled Tonight At YMCA

Tim Butts sank a pair of free throws with four seconds left last night to give the Sportsman's Club a thrilling 53-51 verdict over the defending champion Devon Club in one of two senior division semi-finals staged last night in the YMCA Gold Medal Basketball Tournament.

Clise's Service Station moved into the championship berth opposite the Sportsman's Club with a 67-62 win over Peskin's. Clise's, featuring the starting five from Frostburg State Teachers College, will meet the Sportsman's Club in the title game today at 9 p. m.

The Tri-Towns All-Stars, paced by a trio of Piedmont High School cagers, racked up a 64-67 decision over the Fort Ashby Eagles in a junior unlimited semi-final last night. The Tri-Towners will take on O'Neal's All-Stars for the junior crown tonight at 8 o'clock.

Lovers Leap Wins

In the other contest on yesterday's four-game card, Lovers Leap whipped Springer's Cavaliers, 69-54, to move into the finals in the 135-pound class against Boal's. They'll battle it out tonight at 7, following the 115-pound championship game at six between Cessna's Wildcats and Lovers Leap.

The score was tied four times during the hectic fourth period of last night's Sportsman's Club-Devon Club struggle. The final frame opened in a 40-40 knot. It was tied again at 44, 46 and 51. The latter tie was reached with ten seconds to go, and Butts' free throws snapped the deadlock, won the game and killed the Devon Club's chances of repeating as tourney champs.

Ned Pitzer scored 17 points for the Sportsman's Club, a group of cagers from the Martinsburg area, and Bucky McDonald, the tourney's outstanding player two years ago, aided the cause with 12.

Joe (Pooch) Taylor fired in 24 points for the Devon Club before fouling out with five minutes remaining in the game.

Wiltison Scores 20

Bill Wiltison headed a trio of Frostburg State cagers who were in double figures for Clise's. Wiltison pumped in 20 points, while George Lauder had 18 and Corky Connolly canned 12.

Peskin's had four players in double digits, headed by James Washington with 20. Peskin's matched the winners in field goals (25), but were beaten at the foul line, where Clise's missed only two of 19 attempts.

Eugene Taylor, one of the standouts of Piedmont's West Virginia Class A championship finalists, tossed in 19 points to help lead the Tri-Towns aggregation into the finals. Keith Russell and Victor Clay of the Lions scored 17 and 13, respectively. Donnie Bosley and Steve Allen tallied a dozen each for the Eagles.

Lovers Leap led all the way in ousting the Cavaliers from the title picture. Dick Gruber rang up 19 points for Lovers Leap, Dick Bittner had 18, and Fred Dayton came through with 17. The Cavaliers' Morris took game scoring honors with 21.

New Coach Feels Marshall Can Compete In MAC

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Marshall University's new basketball coach says he believes that 10 or 12 scholarships for his varsity squad is all he will need "to compete in the Mid-American Conference."

But Ellis Johnson, who doesn't officially take over the coaching job from Jule Rivlin until July 1, said it will take him "three or four years to get together the kind of team" needed for such competition.

Johnson made the observations while stopping here on a recruiting trip. He said he has already made 11 recruiting junkets.

"I'll get the boys. They are here to be had in the area that Marshall draws from and I will recruit them, the former Morehead Coach said.

Johnson says he feels the MAC is the "fifth toughest" conference in the land, following the Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Southeastern and Atlantic Coast Conferences.

Marshall won one out of 12 MAC outings last season.

Red Sox Have New Manager, Power Boys, New Hope As Club Seeks To Come Up From Second Division

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — The one-time clubhouse boy for Portland of the Pacific Coast league, Johnny Pesky, sat in the clubhouse here as he talked about his new charges, the Boston Red Sox, and their chances for 1963.

Puffing on a cigar, in keeping with his new position as manager, Johnny talked optimistically about the Bosox, who had finished seventh last year under Mike Higgins, now executive vice president of the club.

"I think this is a much better ball club than Mike had last year," said Pesky. "And I have to give him all the credit in the world for he is the one who made the deals which brought the men I think will help us move up. Mike is one of the best baseball men in the business and I think he did a fine job.

"We're looking for lefthanded pitching, I like our infield, and the outfield might be pretty good."

Stuart Big Man

The big new man, via the trade route, is Dick Stuart, the homer-hitting first sacker who came into the majors as a brash young man who talked almost as good a game as he produced with the bat.

Another is Roman Mejias who hit .286 for the Colts last year and will be the Bosox left fielder as Carl Yastrzemski is being moved to center field. Still another new face is Felix Mantilla, ex-Brave and Houston infielder last year. And for infield or outfield insurance the Red Sox got Dick Williams, last year with Baltimore, and Dick can, and has, played every position in baseball.

"Stuart and Mejias should help us a lot," says Pesky, once a Red Sox playing hero himself. "Stuart's been great. His attitude is good. I think he's a fine boy. He's happy here and all the guys like him."

The infield that Pesky likes will have Stuart at first, Chuck Schilling at second, Eddie Bressoud at short and Frank Malzone at third. Replacements include Billy Gardner, who can play most anywhere in the infield; Jim Jones, rookie up from York, who is a second baseman; Rico Petrocelli, a rookie from Winston-Salem, who is a shortstop, and Mantilla, who can play either in the infield or outfield.

Joining Yastrzemski and Mejias in the outfield will be Lou Clinton, who had a fine season (.294) with the Bosox last year. Among newcomers here is Jim Gosger, up from Winston-Salem and Pete Jernigan, who was with Seattle. Gary Geiger, the slim outfielder, will be worked at first and will fill in for outfield duty.

Carries Three Catchers

Pesky plans to carry three catchers for at least 30 days. Russ Nixon and Bob Tillman will be No. 1 and 2 and the third will be Archie Skeen, who came to camp as a member of the Seattle team but has looked good.

Pitching always is a problem and gone is Vic Schwall, who went away in the Stuart deal. Heading the cast of starters are Bill Monbouquette, who won 15 last year; Bob Wilson and Gene Conley. Among newcomers who may help are Dave Morehead, who was 10-9 for Seattle, and Jerry Stephenson, a 11-5 thrower from Winston-Salem.

Pesky's bullpen looks good with Dick Radatz, the 235-pounder who was 9-6 last year; Arnold Earley, and the Pittsburgh acquisition, Jack LaMabe. In camp but not on the roster is George Spencer, who formerly pitched for the Giants, and was 11-2 for Seattle last year.

Yankees Favored At 1 To 3 Odds To Repeat As AL Champions

Angels, Twins Seen Trailing Bombers In '63

Six Junior Loop Teams Improved Over Last Year

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK AP) — The New York Yankees, solid at every position as usual, are being quoted at 1 to 3 to win the American League pennant for the third straight year. Never before has a team been made such a prohibitive favorite.

The Yankees rate it. They should win again but they need not have a cakewalk. At least six of the teams which trailed them last year will be better. They are Los Angeles, Minnesota, Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland and Boston.

Not all figure to be in the race but each should be troublesome. Of the six, Los Angeles and Baltimore appear to be the most improved. They called the Angels' third place finish last year a miracle. New adjectives may have to be coined to describe Billy Rigney's crew this year. They could climb to second and may even give the Yankees a run for it should the Bombers stumble as they did in 1962.

Kids Gain Experience

Minnesota, the Yankees' most persistent rival last year, should be just as good and perhaps better because of the year's experience gained by the kid infielders Bernie Allen, Rich Rollins and Zoilo Versalles.

Baltimore opens the season with new faces at four key positions as a result of several profitable deals that brought shortstop Luis Aparicio, outfielder Al Smith, catchers Dick Brown and John Orsino, infielder Bob Johnson and pitchers Pete Burnside and Stu Miller.

Detroit should be better if only because Al Kaline, the great outfielder, is in good health again, having fully recovered from a fractured collarbone which kept him out of action for half the '62 season.

Cleveland, in the midst of a rebuilding program emphasizing youth, has unearthed several flashy rookies who have been the talk of the Cactus League in Arizona.

Has Long Ball Hitters

Boston, a do-nothing club for years, finally decided to become active in the trade mart and came up with a couple of long ball hitters in Dick Stuart and Roman Mejias. This pair is bound to add sock to the team. The Red Sox have been lacking in this valuable commodity since the retirement of Ted Williams.

The possible order of finish:

1. New York
2. Los Angeles
3. Minnesota
4. Baltimore
5. Detroit
6. Cleveland
7. Boston
8. Chicago
9. Kansas City
10. Washington

The Yankees have a strong, every-day line-up that does not require platooning. Except for young Joe Pepitone, who succeeds Bill Skowron at first base, the world champions present a solid core of distinguished regulars. Their down-the-line strength is even greater because of the full-season availability of shortstop Tony Kubek and the blossoming of Tom Tresh, rookie-of-the-year in 1962, into an accomplished outfielder.

A judicious trade which brought fireballer Stan Williams from the Dodgers in exchange for Skowron strengthened the Yanks' pitching. The big right-hander, a 12-game winner at Los Angeles, will be manager Ralph Houk's No. 4 starter behind Whitey Ford (17-8), Ralph Terry (23-12) and Bill Stafford (14-9). It is doubtful if any club in the league boasts four such front line starters.

Twins To Practice

The Twins, of the Dapper Dan Little League, will practice on Saturday at East Side Field, beginning at 1 p.m.

Orioles Nipped By Braves, 3-2

Baltimore Held To Five Safeties

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Denny LeMaster and Tony Cloninger teamed for a five-hit pitching job Wednesday to lead the Milwaukee Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

With the victory, the Braves climbed above .500 on the grapefruit circuit for the first time. It was the 13th victory against 12 defeats. The defeat left the Orioles with a 16-8 record.

LeMaster, sophomore lefthander, made a bid for a starting role by pitching seven strong innings. He held the Orioles to three hits and one run, that in the fourth on Al Smith's single, Joe Gaines.' double and Jerry Adair's sacrifice fly.

Cloninger yielded an unearned run in the ninth on a walk, Gaines' single, a double play and an error by left fielder Lou Johnson.

The Braves collected seven hits off Milt Pappas and Dick Hall. They scored once off Pappas in the fourth on Pappas' throwing error and Gus Bell's double and twice off Pappas in the fifth on Ty Cline's double and singles by Frank Bolling and Len Gabrielson.

Clippers Lose Playoff Opener

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Dick Meissner scored three goals Wednesday night to pace the Hershey Bears to a 4-1 victory over Baltimore in a rough first round game of the American Hockey League Calder Cup playoffs.

The second game of the best-of-three series is Thursday night at Baltimore.

The game was marred by fights and referee Dolpon MacArthur handed out a total of 70 minutes in penalties.

Meissner, making his first playoff appearance, put the Bears in front after only 25 seconds of the first period, beating goalie Marcel Pelletier with a close shot.

Meissner, who had scored nine times in the regular season against the Clippers, connected for his next two in less than eight minutes of the second period. The first was a 40-footer and the second a rebound.

The Bears added another when Howie Yanosik connected with a 60-foot screen shot. Baltimore's only tally was made late in the final period by Ed Ehrenverth after a face off in the Hershey zone.

Jofre Overwhelming Favorite To Retain Bantamweight Title

Faces Japanese Challenger In 15-Round Bout

By DON SAWATO
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Brazil's Eder Jofre, the world bantamweight champion, was rated an overwhelming favorite Wednesday to retain his title against Japanese challenger Katsutoshi Aoki Thursday night.

The 15-round scrap between the champion and Aoki, world's fifth ranking bantamweight, takes place in the 10,000-seat Tokyo Kokugikan Sumo Arena.

The 27-year-old Jofre will be making his sixth defense of the crown he won via a sixth-round knockout over Eloy Sanchez of Mexico at Los Angeles Nov. 18, 1960. Sanchez took over the title vacated through the retirement of Jose Becerra of Mexico.

Japanese boxing writers predict the Brazilian champion will win by a knockout.

They said Jofre, who has an impressive undefeated record of 46 wins, 33 of them by knockouts, will finish the Japanese challenger in the later rounds—about the 10th.

Aoki, only 20, lacks the polished ring technique of the champion.

Experts say that the Japanese southpaw's only chance to win is to get Jofre before the champion has an opportunity to figure out Aoki's style of fighting.

If the bout goes beyond the fifth round, experts feel Aoki has no chance, particularly because he has very little defense and because Jofre gets better as the fight progresses.

It will be the second world bantamweight title match to be held in Japan since Becerra defended his title against Japan's Kenji Yonekura in Tokyo May 23, 1960.

Blank's At Eagles, Purple Heart Club At Nugget Tonight

Art Blank's Tavern and the Cumberland Eagles will be battling for a berth in the finals of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League playoffs when they conclude their six-game series tonight.

The winner of the series will represent the American Division against the victor in the National Division in next week's league championship games.

The Eagles going into the last three games of the series have a six-point lead, 66-60.

Yankees Receive More Bad News

FT. MYERS, Fla. (AP)—The New York Yankees, already burdened by injuries to Roger Maris, Whitey Ford, Tony Kubek and Tommy Tresh, got more bad news Wednesday.

Third baseman Clete Boyer, who sustained a bruised right hand in Tuesday's exhibition game with Philadelphia, reported he could hardly move the ring finger and X-rays will be taken Thursday to determine if the finger is broken.

"The injury may be more serious than we suspected," Manager Ralph Houk said gloomily, "but we don't think the finger is broken. We're just taking precautionary measures."

In the meantime the Yankees announced Maris was flying to his home in Raytown, Mo., where he will take whirlpool and physical therapy treatments at a local clinic for his leg injury.

Jones Receives Hagen Award

Writers Honor Former Golfer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Robert T. (Bobby) Jones Jr. received the 1962 Walter Hagen Award Wednesday during a nostalgic interlude in the meeting of the Golf Writers Association of America.

The award is made annually to the "golfer or official, past or present, who has made the most distinguished contribution to the furtherance of Anglo-American Golf." Its administration is conducted by the writers.

The donor of the awards, Dr. S. Leonard Simpson of London, made the formal presentation, paying tribute to Jones for his "character, personality and infinite courage." He called Jones a practical man who had a dream, "a dream of a great golf course," the Augusta National, where Thursday the 27th annual Masters Tournament begins.

Jones was greeted by a standing ovation as he entered the meeting room in a wheelchair. He has been confined to the chair for some years by partial paralysis and an arthritic condition.

Cards Trip Nats, Snap Losing Streak

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Harry Fanok and Bobby Shantz protected a St. Louis lead in the late innings Wednesday and the Cardinals broke a four-game losing streak, defeating the Washington Senators 6-4.

It was a battle of extra-base hits. Starter Ray Washburn of the Redbirds yielded four safeties in his five-inning stint and they were all for extra bases, three doubles and a triple good for three runs. Four of the Cards' eight hits were long ones, three triples and a double.

Fanok, still trying for the one open shot on the Cardinal staff, walked two men to start the seventh inning. An outfield fly and an infield out turned the walks into a run. Fanok did not give up any hits and Shantz, left-handed bullpen ace, gave up one hit as he hurled the last two innings.

Jim Piersall, Larry Osborne and Don Leppert doubled and Jim King tripled for the Senators. Julian Javier, Gene Oliver and Ken Boyer tripled and Stan Musial doubled for the Cardinals.

England's Henry Cooper Named Fighter Of Month

Williams Moves To Fourth Place In Heavy Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henry Cooper of England was named "fighter of the month" Wednesday by Ring Magazine and moved up to the No. 9 ranking among the world's heavyweight boxing championship challengers.

Another heavyweight who advanced in the Ring ratings was Cleveland Williams of Houston, Tex., who moved up from sixth to fourth place behind Floyd Patterson, Cassius Clay and Doug Jones among the contenders for Sonny Liston's title.

Cooper returned to the ring wars and knocked Dick Richardson of Wales into retirement with a fifth-round knockout in a bout for the British and Empire heavyweight titles. Cooper next is scheduled to fight Ingemar Johansson of Sweden for the European crown.

There were shakeups in the welterweight and featherweight rankings following the dethroning of champions on the ill-fated program at Los Angeles, where Davey Moore lost his life.

Emile Griffith, who lost his welterweight crown, was made the No. 1 challenger to Luis Rodriguez of Cuba. Rian Curvis of Wales was No. 2.

In the featherweight division, Howard Winstone of Wales and Mitsunori Seki of Japan were advanced to the No. 1 and 2 ratings behind Sugar Ramos of Mexico, whose punches led to the death of Moore in their title bout.

Pittsburgh Hands Yankees 6-4 Loss

FT. MYERS, Fla. (UPI) —The Pittsburgh Pirates closed out their spring exhibition schedule here Tuesday afternoon with a 6-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

The Yankees provided Stan Williams, former National Leaguer, with a three-run lead, but the Pirates overcame the deficit. Bob Clemente led the offense with a pair of triples, which drove in two runs.

The clinching run came on a throwing error by Williams in the sixth inning after he fielded Bob Skinner's high bouncer back of the mound.

Don Cardwell pitched eight innings for the Pirates, giving up all the New York runs and their seven hits, and Roy Face finished the game.

Williams pitched six innings for the Yankees before giving way to Marshall Bridges.

White Sox Leave Dave DeBusschere Behind To Work Out

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Dave DeBusschere, who doubles as a professional basketball player, was left behind with two other rookie pitchers Wednesday when the Chicago White Sox broke camp and headed north with the Cincinnati Reds.

DeBusschere, basketball star with the Detroit Pistons who did not report for spring training until last Thursday, was left behind to work out for two weeks with the White Sox farm hands here.

Pitchers Bruce Howard and Dennis McClain also will remain here until a decision is reached about their disposition. Still another player who did not accompany the team was infielder Deacon Jones, who is hospitalized with an eye injury.

The White Sox traveling squad numbered 26 players.

Palmer Heavy Favorite To Win Fourth Masters Championship

Augusta Event To Open Today For 27th Year

Nicklaus, Player Are Rated Behind Defending Champ

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer has the driving woes, Jack Nicklaus has an aching hip, Gary Player has a strange premonition—and 82 other golfers wish them the worst of luck in the 27th Masters Tournament, opening Thursday.

It's the tritely but appropriately dubbed Big Three against the field in the season's first major championship, to be contested during the next four days over the blossoming but deceptively treacherous Augusta National course.

Palmer, who has projected his powerful game and flair for dramatic finishes into a half-million-dollar-a-year enterprise, rules an overwhelming favorite to win an unprecedented fourth title and become the first player ever to put Masters championships back-to-back.

He is an astounding 4-1 pick by the unofficial oddsmakers, although he acknowledges that the booming drives which have carried him to the pinnacle of golf have lost much of their steam.

Unhappy About Driving

"I'm still not happy about my driving," Palmer said Wednesday after shooting eight pars and a birdie in his final 9-hole windup. "I think I've mastered some of my trouble—I've been overswinging. But I don't feel as good up there on the tee as I have in the past."

Rated right behind him at 6-1 are his main rivals for international honors—Nicklaus, the blond butterball from Columbus, Ohio, playing his second year as a pro, and Player, the smart, cool little South African who leads the American tour in money winnings.

Everybody else is almost forgotten—much to the chagrin of some of the tournament toughened professionals, who refuse to concede that any one man—or even three—has a lien on golf honors.

First off the tee at 10 a.m., EST will be those two grand old throwbacks of the golden past—Freddy McLeod, 81, U.S. Open winner in 1908, and Jock Hutchison, 79, winner of the PGA in 1920 and the British Open in 1921.

By tradition, they have opened competition for years. Behind in twosomes will come 52 U.S. professionals, 15 U.S. amateurs and 17 foreign champions, totaling 84. McLeod and Hutchison aren't included in the official list.

Player Goes First

Player is first of the Big Three to take to the picturesque 6,850-yard, par 72 Augusta course, teeing off at 12 noon with Labron Harris Jr., the U.S. national amateur champion.

Nicklaus, 23, who never has done better than seventh in three previous tournaments, makes his bid this time as he has in the past—with little advance preparation.

Recently he had to quit the tour to take treatment for bursitis in his left hip.

"I have taken a hundred shots and other kind of treatment," Jack said. "It doesn't bother me when I swing but hurts when I walk. Mainly, I'm sorry because I haven't been able to get as ready for the tournament as I would have liked."

Jack's rivals wonder what he might do if he felt healthy. He had a blistering 67 on Tuesday, and Wednesday toured the back nine holes with Palmer in 32, four under par.

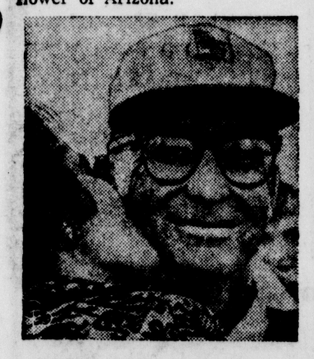
Putts Magnificently

Player, a veteran at 27, has not been particularly sharp from tee to green this week but has putted the massive, undulating Augusta egrens magnificently.

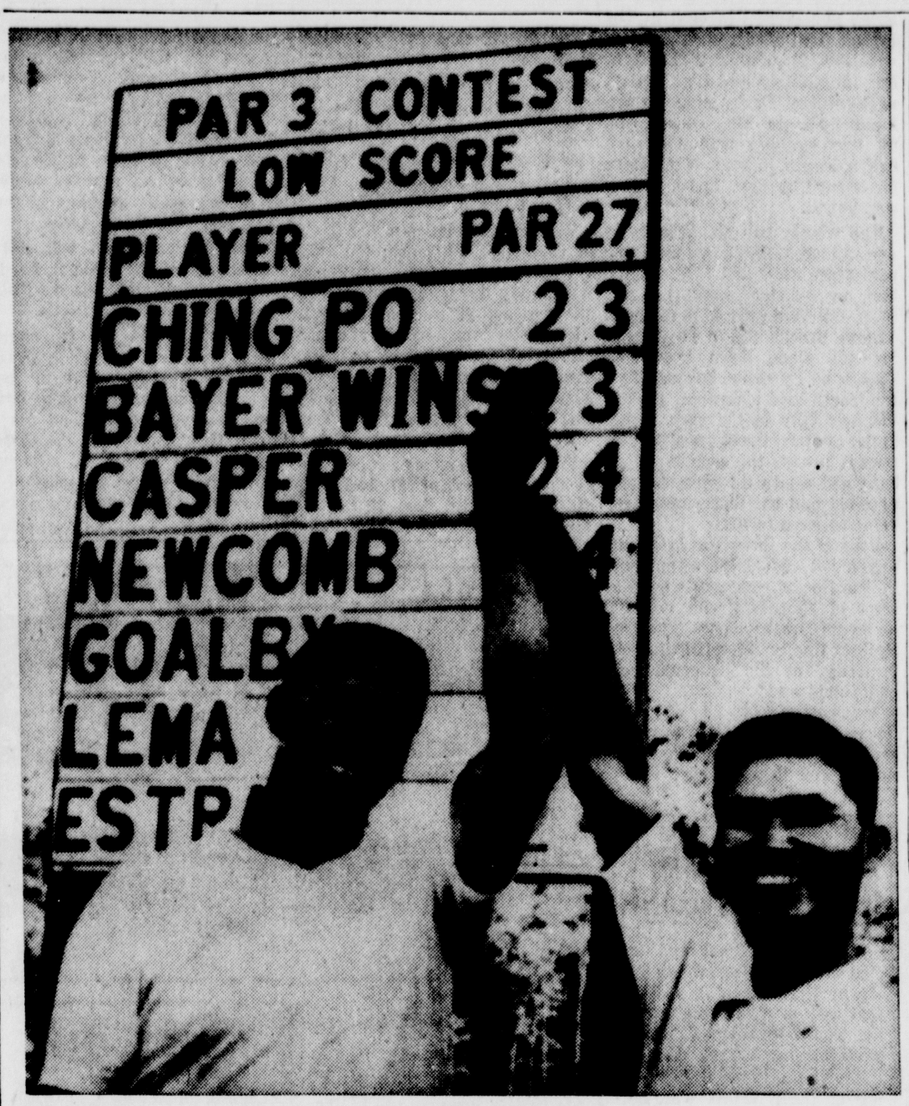
"I'm not unhappy about my game, I think I can win," said Player, who always talks with complete candor. "But, you know, I have a strange premonition that the tournament is going to be won this year by somebody else—somebody besides Palmer, Nicklaus and myself."

Music was first taught in public schools of the United States in the mid-1800s.

The saguaro cactus is the state flower of Arizona.



AWARD TIME — Winner of the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., for the third time, Jerry Barber received first prize of $3,900 plus a kiss from Carol Smith, who is "Miss Wilmington." Barber now plays in Masters.



THE WINNAH — Chen Ching Po (right), from Formosa, holds up the arm of big George Bayer after Bayer won a par-three course contest in Augusta, Ga., yesterday. Bayer, one of the biggest men in golf, and Ching Po, one of the smallest, tied with 23's in the pre-Masters event, but Bayer won the first hole of a sudden death playoff. Both golfers will be among an 85-man field which tees off today in the 27th Masters Tournament at the Augusta National course. (AP Photofax)

Celtics Down Royals To Tie NBA Playoffs

Bob Cousy Paces 128-110 Triumph

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Boston Celtics, sparked by Bob Cousy's 15-point spree in the opening period, rolled to a 128-110 victory over the Cincinnati Royals Wednesday night to tie their Eastern Division playoff series in the National Basketball Association at two-all.

Cousy opened up with the Celtics trailing 17-11 late in the quarter, ringing up seven points in one minute. With 1:40 remaining in the opening quarter, Cousy and John Havlicek each scored two baskets and K. C. Jones added a two-pointer as the Celtics closed the stanza with a 34-25 lead.

Bill Russell came on in the second quarter with 14 points and led Boston to a 70-55 halftime lead. The Celtics backed him with a tight defense that cost them 13 fouls in the quarter but held Cincinnati to only eight field goals.

Cincinnati controlled the boards in the third quarter and closed the gap to 93-84 going into the final period. Boston regained its attack in the fourth quarter. Frank Ramsey scored eight, Tom Heinsohn seven and Havlicek six to run up a 122-100 margin with three minutes remaining.

Cousy finished with 20 points, while Russell scored 26 points and pulled down 21 rebounds to lead both teams in these departments. Oscar Robertson had a Cincinnati high of 25.

San Francisco Has Good Chance To Break Pattern Of Last 4 Years — No Pennant Winner Able To Repeat

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Alvin Dark, the manager of the champion San Francisco Giants, won't admit that he doesn't have any problems this year "for every club has problems" but the fact remains that the 1962 National League titleholders are a set ball club and certainly the one to beat again. They just could make it two in a row — first time to happen in the senior circuit since 1958.

There won't be many changes made and Al's big problem at the moment is how many pitchers he will carry for his two bonus boys, Bob Garibaldi ($130,000) and Al Stanek, and not only must he keep them with the club but they have done pretty well in camp games and could be handy to have around.

"Every club in the league has problems," Al says as he carefully weighs what few words he emits about the team which beat the Dodgers in the playoff set last October and then almost kayoed the proud Yankees.

"I just don't like to talk about problems. Any club that doesn't admit they have problems must have some real ones. I'd rather talk about our good points.

Has Set Ball Club

"Sure we have a set ball club," Al continued as we talked in his office at the Phoenix Municipal Stadium before the Giants took on another Cactus League opponent.

"We have five outfielders and we know their caliber. Willie Mays, Harvey Kuenn, Willie McCovey and Matty and Felipe Alou give us what we need here.

"The infield is set and I know that Joe Amalfitano and Ernie Bowman will be our utility men. Bowman did a good job for us defensively last year."

• • •

IN ADDITION to the infield regulars, Orlando Cepeda, Charley Hiller, Jose Pagan and Jim Davenport, the Giants are looking again at Hal Lanier, the California League All-Star second baseman last season and son of Max Lanier, former major league pitcher and now a Giant farm manager. Lanier is a second baseman after starting out as a pitcher and then playing shortstop. Another infield prospect is Jerry Robinson, who hit 36 homers for El Paso last year, and still another is Charley Peterson, who was another El Paso standout with 29 homers.

"I'll have to keep more pitchers on the staff than ever before," explains Dark. "The pitching staff, I would say, is the only place anyone can break in.

"Garibaldi pitched five innings the other day and looked good. Stanek relieved and stopped a rally. They're poised kids. Ron Herbel (8-14 with Tacoma) and Gaylord Perry (10-7) with Tacoma) have proven to be good minor league pitchers. And John Pregenzer (a 6-foot 5-inch right hander who was 14-9 with Springfield last year) has looked wonderful. So far he hasn't allowed a run."

Pitching Staff Solid

The pitching staff, headed by Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal Billy O'Dell and Billy Pierce, is as solid as you can find anywhere and the quartet which gave the Giants their pennant win last year. Marichal, who was 18-11, was the last to sign, for a reported $25,000, and he's a recent arrival.

Only blow to hit the camp so far was the injury to left-hander Billy Hoeft, an acquisition from Baltimore. Hoeft slipped on the gravel going into a restaurant here and jammed his shoulder. Trainer Frank Bowman says that it will be a matter of time.

Tom Haller did a fine job catching last year with Ed Bailey splitting the job and adding equal power.

Dark, who didn't have much time for a vacation during the winter months although he considers play in the Bing Crosby tourney "a vacation," says that he looks for the Cards, Dodgers and Reds to be the chief contenders.

The Giants will have a new ball park at nearby Tempe for training next year.

Eastern League Eliminates Playoffs

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — The Eastern League voted 4-2 Wednesday to eliminate the postseason Shaughnessy playoffs this year.

Rankin Johnson, league president, pointed out that this year the loop enters its 41st consecutive season with its classification raised from A to double-A. The six clubs are affiliated with major league teams and playoffs now require their sanction.

Johnson said the playoffs in recent years had proved to be a "hazardous, costly venture" with a lack of overall fan interest during early autumn.

New Yale Coach Completes Staff

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Yale head football coach John Pont has completed his staff by naming C. W. Van Schoyck, former head coach at Wilmington (Ohio) College, as freshman coach and retaining three members of the Yale staff.

Harry Jacunski, Fritz Barzilauskas and Gib Holgate are the holdovers Pont will retain from last year's Yale coaching staff.

Van Schoyck served at Wilmington since 1950.

Two Terp Gridders Placed On Probation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The University of Maryland student court has recommended disciplinary probation for two members of the Terp football squad who were involved in a New York City hotel fracas earlier this year.

The action, approved by a college dean, would make the two, Kenneth Ambrusko and Lorace McQueen, ineligible for any participation until next February. Ambrusko and McQueen have the right of appeal.

In The Pocket Cops Biscayne At Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla., April 3 (AP) — R. F. Bensinger's favored In The Pocket outfinished Pymelian to win the $10,000-added Biscayne Bay at Gulfstream Park today, as Kentucky Derby eligibles finished 1-2-3. In The Pocket won by two lengths, with Pymelian half a length in front of Cosdave for second money. Space Skates was fourth.

The winner ran six furlongs in one minute, 10 4/5 seconds and paid $4.90, $3.30 and $2.80. Pymelian, an 18-1 shot, paid $11.40 and $6.20. Cosdave paid $6.40 to show.

Steve Brooks had In The Pocket in fifth place down the backstretch as Pymelian sprinted to a one-length lead over Spicy Living, the only filly in the race. Going to the far turn Brooks sent In The Pocket up on the outside to go head and head with Pymelian and Cosdave and the three turned for home on even terms.

None of the three was in a quitting mood and at the eighth pole In The Pocket was only a head in front of Pymelian with Cosdave a length farther back. In The Pocket finally asserted his superiority, at the sixteenth pole and pulled away.

Arnold Winick, trainer of In The Pocket, said he had not made up his mind whether or not he would run the colt in the Derby.

Catholic League Title At Stake In Game Tonight

St. Peter & Paul and St. Patrick's clash tonight at Allegany High School in a game that will determine the Catholic Youth Basketball champions for the 1962-63 season.

It will mark the fifth meeting of these teams with SS. Peter & Paul holding a 3-1 edge in victories. In the four previous games staged on SS. Peter & Paul court, St. Patrick's won the opener, 37-34, and SS. Peter & Paul swept the next three games, 36-23, 36-33 and 36-29.

The "Fighting Irish," coached by Dick Boyle, won the first half of the split season schedule while Coach Bob Mattingly's Fayette street quint bagged second half honors.

Cardinals May Sign Early Wynn

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —The St. Louis Cardinals were reported Wednesday to be interested in signing 43-year-old pitcher Early Wynn, who was let go Tuesday by the Chicago White Sox.

Marty Marion, former Cards manager and now a scout in the organization, said he would recommend that Wynn be signed.

The Philadelphia Phillies also were known to be interested in the burly righthander, who has won a total of 299 games during 22 major league seasons.

Wynn actually was released by the White Sox last season but reported to spring training this year as a free agent on a look-see trial. Manager Al Lopez decided Tuesday that he could not use Wynn.

Wynn pitched in five exhibition games for Chicago this spring. In his latest appearance, on Tuesday, he pitched four shutout innings against the Cincinnati Reds.

War Relic Dies

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — War Relic, son of the great Man o' War and sire of winners of more than $4 million, is dead at 25. He apparently was the victim of a heart attack.

He died Monday and was buried Tuesday in Man o' War Park alongside the graves of his sire and War Admiral, another son of Man o' War.

U.S. Will Have 372 Athletes At Pan-Am Games

Competition Opens In Brazil April 20

NEW YORK (AP)—A squad of 372 athletes, the largest contingent ever to represent the United States in international competition on foreign soil, will carry the American colors in the Pan-American Games at Sao Paulo, Brazil, April 20-May 5.

With the completion of the trials to determine the team, the U.S. Olympic Committee announced Wednesday the squad will include 279 men and 93 women in the 21 sports classifications. The entire official party, including coaches, trainers, managers, doctors, nurses, administrative personnel and equipment men, will number 469.

This figure was exceeded only by the delegation of 507, including 401 athletes, for the 1959 Pan-American Games at Chicago. The U.S. sent a total of 405, including 310 athletes, to the 1960 Olympic Games at Rome.

The American team will be smaller than the one for Chicago because of the restrictions on entries in swimming and track and field. Each nation will be permitted to enter only two athletes in each swimming and track event instead of three. In the 1959 games, American athletes swept the three medals in many of the track and swimming events.

The American team will start assembling at the official headquarters in Miami Beach, Fla., on April 13.

The first chartered jet plane will leave Miami Tuesday, April 16 at 8 p.m., and arrive in Sao Paulo, Wednesday morning. Two more chartered flights, on April 17 and 18, will complete the mass movement. A number of athletes will be transported on scheduled commercial flights the same days.

U.S. officials said the American team is a powerful one although a number of national champions in track and field will not compete because of business or school conflicts.

Students Taught To Draw On Floor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Drawing on the floor makes the students concentrate more," said art teacher Richard Ewen.

Ewen, 34, said his experimental concept of seeing from different angles was "purposely thought out to introduce a new drawing challenge to make the student aware of different approaches to any subject."

He also introduced another experiment by having his students work on a collective mural drawn on a roll of adding machine tape.

CIG To Concentrate On Three Counties Of Eastern Shore

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Civic Interest Group (CIG) has scheduled demonstrations and conferences this month in an effort to integrate three Eastern Shore communities.

The demonstrations are scheduled for Saturday at Cambridge. Clarence Logan, state chairman of CIG, has asked Gov. Tawes to provide State Police protection during the demonstrations.

Logan said in a telegram to the governor that there was inadequate police protection last Saturday when 17 demonstrators were arrested in Cambridge. Logan said one demonstrator, Gloria Richardson, was roughly handled by police.

Meanwhile, officials of Crisfield and Princess Anne have agreed to meet with CIG officials April 22 to discuss a program of orderly integration. Wade Ward, state's a'torney for Somerset County, will act as negotiator.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, passed in a cause therein pending of Alice Brackett Mills et al vs. Katherine Williams Brooks, a minor, and designated as Case No. 26870 Equity on the docket of said Court, the undersigned Trustee will offer for sale, at public sale, along side the building of the First-Second National Bank and Trust Company on Liberty Street in Cumberland, on

THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1963
At 11:00 O'Clock A. M.

All that piece or parcel of land situated on the Westerly side of North Smallwood Street, being made up of 2 parcels, one described in a deed from George S. Brackett et al to Elizabeth B. Shoupe, dated August 19, 1929, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County in Liber 161, folio 353, containing the Shoupe residence; the other adjoining lot being that conveyed to Elizabeth B. Shoupe by Oliver H. Bruce et al by deed dated June 20, 1933, and recorded among said Land Records in Liber 169, folio 490; also a vacant lot on an alley immediately across from the above mentioned property which was conveyed to Elizabeth B. Shoupe by F. Ernest Brackett et al by deed dated July 16, 1938, and recorded among said Land Records in Liber 181, folio 101; reference to all of said deeds is hereby made for a more particular description by metes and bounds. The two lots above mentioned as the residence property have a frontage on North Smallwood Street of 90 ft. more or less and a depth of 91 feet more or less to an alley. The vacant lot across the alley is a parcel 55 feet by 48 feet more or less, formerly used for garages.

The residence property is improved by a large substantial frame dwelling containing 12 rooms and 2½ baths, divided into three apartments, heated by a steam heat stoker-fired furnace, full basement with two car garage in basement. The dwelling was built about 1898. The architect's blue prints of the entire building can be furnished. Inspection of said property by appointment with Trustee, 14 Greene Street.

Immediately following the sale of the above residence property, which shall be offered as a whole, the Trustee will then offer for sale a parcel of land on Gray Avenue in Cumberland, fronting 400 feet with a depth of 100 feet, shown on Plat as 16 lots in Block 15, Ridgedale Addition; being the same property which was conveyed to Elizabeth B. Shoupe by the County Commissioners of Allegany County by deed dated January 5, 1937, and recorded among said Land Records in Liber 176, folio 450.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third cash at time of sale, balance upon ratification of sale by the Court or all cash at the option of the purchaser. Balance to bear interest at the usual rate. Taxes to be adjusted to date of sale.

LUTRICIA N. STREETER, Harriman Apts. #12, E. Circle, Wilsons Avenue, Bristol, Pennsylvania and WILLIAM ABATE, Levitstown, Pennsylvania,
No. 26900 Equity in the Circuit Court For Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to obtain an injunction.

This is to give notice that on the 22nd day of March, 1963 a petition was filed in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, State of Maryland by the Plaintiff against the Defendants whose last known address was Bristol, Pennsylvania and Levitstown, Pennsylvania. The Petition alleges in substance that the Petitioners on July 27, 1961 conveyed unto the Defendant, Lutricia N. Streeter, Bristol, Pennsylvania, a life estate in certain property located on the South side of Walnut Street in the City, of Cumberland, State of Maryland. That the Petitioners retained for themselves a reversionary interest in the said property. That on March 19, 1963, the Plaintiffs received a phone call from the Defendant William Abate, Levitstown, Pennsylvania threatening to remove certain premanent fixtures from the said premises.

The Plaintiffs have thereupon requested the Allegany County Circuit Court sitting in Equity to temporarily restrain the said Lutricia N. Streeter and William Abate from removing the said fixtures.

It is thereupon this 22nd day of March, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Ordered that the Petitioners by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland once in each of four successive weeks before the 17th day of April, giving notice of the object and substance of this proceeding to Lutricia N. Streeter and William Abate as provided by law in the case of non-residents warning them to be and appear in person or by solicitor in this Court on or before the 2nd day of May, 1963, to show cause, if any he may have, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Ushers Club Members Will Sell Lilies

FROSTBURG—Members of the Ushers Club of Beall High School will sell Easter Lilies on local streets and canvass the town on Saturday in conjunction with the sale being sponsored by Lodge 348, Loyal Order of Moose.

It was previously announced that St. Michael's Girl Scouts would sell the flowers. Those who sell the lilies and canvass will have proper identification, said Robert Bowser, chairman.

Old Hospital Use For County Building Urged

Grand Jury Backs Drive On Lotteries

Concluding its activity after three days of sessions, the Allegany County Circuit Court grand jury yesterday afternoon submitted a five-page report in which it suggested that consideration be given to acquiring and renovating the existing Sacred Heart Hospital as a county office building.

A new Sacred Heart Hospital will be built on Haystack Mountain. A $500,000 campaign to raise funds for the new hospital was oversubscribed by $200,000 last month.

The grand jury also concurred in the observation made Monday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey that illegal lotteries flourishing throughout the county should be eliminated through strict enforcement by duly constituted police officers of the county. The grand jury noted that Article 27, Section 358, of the Annotated Code of Maryland provides that persons convicted of drawing or selling lottery tickets may be fined from $200 to $1,000 or imprisoned from three to 12 months, or both.

Building Recommendations

More than half of the grand jury report is devoted to recommendations concerning county buildings. The entire grand jury inspected the Court House and County Jail and committees inspected the Infirmary, Sylvan Retreat, County Home, Union Street County Building, Pennsylvania Avenue School and the books of the County Treasurer.

The grand jury believes that extensive repair to the jail is neither feasible nor economical and a new jail is essential. The county commissioners will submit plans to the October grand jury for either a new jail or new jail facilities as part of a county office building, according to the report.

However, the 23 grand jurors do concur in a previous recommendation for the immediate construction of an auxiliary exit from the cell block into the jail yard. The only present exit from the cell block is through the front door. The report says that the county commissioners have agreed to investigate this matter without delay.

The grand jury also favors removal of curbing in front of the jail to help relieve congested parking problem. Seat belts also are endorsed for the vehicles used by Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein and his deputies. Another recommendation is that the long windows in the jail be closed by installing brick from the inside.

Concerning the Union Street Building, it is noted that previous grand jury recommendations have been fulfilled. The only immediate improvement necessary is the repair of the stairway from the first floor to the basement. An exposed steam pipe in the boiler room also should be covered. The grand jury believes that the Juvenile Court should use a night depository of a bank instead of keeping money in an antiquated safe.

Court House Cited

Another section of the report notes that the physical condition of the Court House is good although new lights should be considered for the office of the Register of Wills. Previous grand jury recommendations concerning the Court House have been completed or are in process of completion.

Although observing that the County Infirmary is in excellent condition, the grand jury backs a new stove for cooking. Sylvan Retreat is in satisfactory condition, previous recommendations are in progress.

The grand jury finds that records in the county treasurer's office are kept in excellent order by an efficient staff.

A stove in the kitchen is the only recommendation for the County Home, where previous recommendations have been carried out.

An unscheduled check was made at Pennsylvania Avenue School. The physical condition of the property is good considering the age of the building started in 1909 and the grand jury concludes that the students are receiving proper attention. The grand jury recommends that the safety engineer for the Board of Direction consider renewing the doors at either end of the building that serves as fire escapes.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster reviewed the county school program with the grand jurors. Continuation of the practice of having the educational

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Aftermath Of Cumberland's Worst Fire

Seventy years ago today the worst fire in the history of Cumberland left a section of the downtown business district in rubble. The photographer who took the above picture was looking west on Baltimore Street and aimed his camera toward the intersection of Baltimore and Mechanic streets. The old Windsor Hotel, razed in recent years to make way for a parking lot can be seen in the background. Also visible on the street is an old time Steam-operated fire engine. Damage was estimated at approximately $250,000. (Photo courtesy of Herman J. Miller, 217 Valley Street, a member of the Cumberland Fire Department).

State Colleges All Accredited, Dr. Jones Says

Team Will Visit FSTC In 1964

Frostburg State Teachers College was originally accredited in 1953 by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and preparations are being made now for the accreditation team visit in October 1964, according to R. Bowen Hardesty, FSTC president.

He said Dr. F. Taylor Jones, executive secretary of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, yesterday issued the following statement concerning the accreditation status of the state colleges in Maryland:

"The six state colleges in Maryland — Bowie, Coppin, Frostburg, Morgan, Salisbury and Towson— are all fully and equally accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"None of them is on probation. In each case the accreditation includes every aspect of the college's educational program.

"The Middle States Association does not accredit by category. Each institution is evaluated and acted upon individually on the basis of its declared objectives. We do not classify or identify them as liberal arts colleges, teacher colleges or community colleges or by type of any other sort. Published membership lists show the names of accredited institutions in a single alphabetical order by states.

"When a Middle States institution begins offering an educational program which is significantly different from those it has been conducting or offers instruction at a higher academic level than heretofore or opens a new off-campus center, the new work level or location is automatically fully covered by the institution's existing accreditation.

"The institution then maintains its accreditation status by demonstrating to the association within two years that the new undertaking merits approval in its own right, as the institution as a whole does. In the meanwhile, its accreditation is not changed in any respect.

"The accreditation of every Middle States institution is reviewed periodically through extensive studies and team visits, normally at 10-year intervals."

Trial Dates Are Assigned

Seven days have been set aside for criminal trials during the current term of Allegany County Circuit Court.

These include all five weekdays starting April 15 and April 22 and 23 of the following week.

Trial dates also have been assigned for 53 civil cases on some 35 different week days in April, May and June.

Five days in April, 22 in May and eight in June have been reserved for these civil trials. April dates are 24, 25, 26, 29 and 30.

Civil trials in May are scheduled May 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 27, 28, 29 and 31. Trial dates in June are June 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 10, 11 and 12.

Car Fire Checked

Firemen from East Side station were called to 526 Pearre Avenue yesterday afternoon and checked a fire in an auto belonging to John Reed. The call came in at 5:25 p.m. An extinguisher was used.

Today Is 70th Anniversary Of $250,000 Blaze In City

Cumberland's biggest fire occurred on Tuesday evening, April 4, 1893—70 years ago today—when upwards of $250,000 worth of buildings and merchandise were destroyed within a few hours in what has since been referred to as "the Baltimore Street fire."

A history of Allegany County compiled by James W. Thomas, LL.D., and Judge T. J. C. Williams says, "It was a dreadful event and those who witnessed it will never forget the awful night. . . ."

The fire started about 6:30 p.m. and swept everything before it from McKaig block on down to the corner building.

Skipping this building, the blaze continued up Mechanic Street as far as the place occupied by the Morehead building, which was about where the Maryland Nut Shop is now located.

The fire, the origin of which was never known, began in a frame warehouse that stood in the alley which ran from Mechanic Street to Liberty Street, just back of the Walsh, Gross and McKaig blocks on Baltimore Street.

Wind Fans Fire

At first it was believed local volunteers could check the blaze, but the high wind "dispelled all hope of keeping the terrible holocaust within reasonable bounds."

Local fire companies active at that time were the Cumberland, Mountaineer, Canada, Vigilant and South Cumberland hose companies and the Pioneer Fire Company.

The late Hopewell Hebb, who was mayor at the time, believed by 8 p.m. there was a chance of the entire city being swept by fire so he telegraphed for help to Washington, Martinsburg, Meyersdale, Bedford and Frostburg.

Local firemen finally got the blaze under control about midnight with an assist from volunteers from Frostburg, Piedmont, Bedford and Martinsburg.

Firemen Come By Train

Mayor Hebb was notified that members of the Washington city fire department had started for Cumberland on a special train, but at midnight the mayor, finding the situation under control, telegraphed B&O Railroad officials to stop the Washington department members at Harper's Ferry.

A final reckoning of the losses was never published, but the general estimate at the time placed the total damage between $250,000 and $300,000.

In a few months stone masons, bricklayers, carpenters, and laborers were busy on the track of the fire and within a year new and in each case more substantial buildings took the place of those destroyed.

Railway Drops Opposition To Merger Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Maryland Railway dropped its opposition Wednesday to the proposed merger of the Pennsylvania and New York central railroads.

In testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission, W. Arthur Grotz, Western Maryland president, said the line changed its position after concluding an agreement March 20 with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and the Pennsylvania railroads.

Under terms of the agreement, existing business relations between the Western Maryland and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will be continued. The Pennsylvania signed the agreement as the prospective surviving corporation in the proposed merger with the New York Central.

Approves Mergers

Western Maryland previously had taken the position that the merger could harm its own interchange with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. Western Maryland's position had not been placed in the ICC's record of the merger case but its views had been circulated among interested parties.

"With the execution of this agreement, Western Maryland has no further opposition to the proposed merger," Grotz testified.

"I should add that I firmly believe that railroad mergers are in the public interest as a means of increasing efficiency and establishing a sound financial basis for this vital segment of the Amercan economy.

"The proposed merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads meets both the objective of efficiency and the objective of a sound financial basis."

Is Vital Link

Grotz said that during the past 50 years the Western Maryland and the P&LE have developed a "well known and efficient traffic route between the Eastern Seaboard, principally Baltimore and Philadelphia, and points in the middle and Far West on or reached via the New York Central Railroad using the P&LE as a bridge carrier."

He said a study shows that during 1960 and 1961 the Western Maryland received in excess of 14 per cent of its gross freight revenues or an average of more than $6 million a year from traffic which it interchanged with the P&LE.

Grotz said the Western Maryland could not long survive the loss of any substantial part of the traffic now interchanged with P&LE, a New York Central subsidiary.

Volunteers Called To Automobile Fire

Volunteer firemen of LaVale yesterday afternoon were called to the intersection of U.S. Route 40 and Winchester Road, where an auto caught fire.

The fire about 4:30 p.m. damaged the hood of the car. It is believed the blaze started from a gasoline leak around the carburetor. When firemen arrived on the scene, Tfc. Charles Snow, with the use of a fire extinguisher, had the fire under control.

The car is owned by Mrs. Jane Bruner of Hyndman who was traveling on Winchester Road toward Route 40. Fifteen men and two trucks went to the scene.

Council To Meet

The Mayor and Council will meet Friday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall for a discussion session, according to Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

Sewing Machine Training Course Is Planned Here

Will Be Financed Through ARA Grant

Plans for setting up a training program for sewing machine operators here this spring were made yesterday afternoon during a conference at the Cumberland Blouse Company plant.

The project is to be financed with a $5,000 grant allotted to the area recently by the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare through the Area Redevelopment Agency.

Attending were J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational, industrial and adult education for the Board of Education; Francis A. Kenney, local manager of the Department of Employment Security; Nathan Melnick, owner, and Attelio Eppolite, manager of the Cumberland Blouse Company.

Tentative plans were made to offer sewing training to 25 trainees for a period of five weeks in a 100-hour course.

Instructors will be selected by the company and the Vocational Education division of the Board of Education.

Trainees will be processed and selected by the Department of Employment Security.

Subsistence allowances will be provided for trainees under the Area Redevelopment Agency program.

It was decided, Mr. Lonnholm said, that the course will not begin immediately, and probably not until after May 6.

The training course for sewing machine operators will be financed through the federal grant announced last month by Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, who said $3,875 of the money will come from the Labor Department and the rest from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Volunteer Firemen 'Graduate' Tonight

Graduation exercises will be held today at 6:30 p.m. at Bedford Road fire hall for 15 volunteers of that company and two from Baltimore Pike Fire Company who have completed a 60-hour basic firemen's course sponsored by the University of Maryland Extension Service.

A representative of Extension Service will be on hand to present pocket cards denoting the completion of the course. Dinner will be served to the firemen and their wives.

Will Build Home

Donald McIntyre, 817 Mt. Royal Avenue, secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a one-story dwelling on Van Buren Avenue. It will be 55 by 20 feet and of brick veneer construction.

Assembly Gives 'Fond Embrace' To Education

Only Rebuff Comes On Per Pupil Plan

By GORDON BEARD

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Education made substantial gains during the 1963 session of the Maryland General Assembly, despite the last-minute failure of a bill to increase state aid to public schools.

The $13.5 million school bill would have based state aid on number of pupils rather than minimum salaries for teachers. It actually was a salary bill, because teachers would have been able to by-pass the legislature in the future and deal directly with the boards of education.

But that was about the only education bill which didn't make it through the legislature successfully, as Gov. Tawes and the lawmakers gave education a fond financial embrace.

In addition to the ever increasing appropriations for elementary and secondary schools, the General Assembly placed strong emphasis this year on higher education.

Elevates Colleges

A bill carrying out the recommendations of the Curlett Commission study of higher education was enacted early in the 90-day session and signed into law by the governor.

The new law elevates the five state teachers colleges into four-year arts and sciences institutions. It also creates a state council on higher education to serve as an advisory agency for the University of Maryland, the expanded teachers colleges and junior colleges.

Another piece of major legislation authorized the University of Maryland to establish branches in Baltimore County, on the Eastern Shore and in Western and Southern Maryland.

The university was allotted $100-000 to plan a new branch. The Baltimore County branch, under consideration for 10 years, heads the priority list. It would handle day students, or commuters, with no dormitories required.

While expanding facilities and strengthening the structure of higher education, the legislators also moved to make it easier for more students to enroll.

A higher education loan corporation was established. It will be able to lend up to $1,000 a year per student, or guarantee loans made by other institutions, with repayment to be made after graduation.

The original capital improvements budget submitted by Gov. Tawes listed $12.3 million for construction and improvement of higher education facilities.

In his supplemental capital budget, the governor appropriated another $1.5 million for buildings and land at the teachers colleges. and he added $371,050 in general funds to implement the Curlett plan by providing more faculty members and instructional equipment.

Gets 60 %

About 60 per cent of the state's general fund spending during the next fiscal year, or more than $185 million, will be allocated to education. The total is $13.5 million higher than in the current budget.

In the field of education, the General Assembly also:

1. Passed enabling legislation authorizing Baltimore City and 11 counties to borrow up to $94.6 million for schools and community colleges.

Emmanuel Guild To Hear Missionary From Brazil

Miss Evelyn Kinsinger of Grantsville, a missionary in the interior of Brazil, now home on leave, will be the guest speaker here Tuesday at a luncheon meeting of the Women's Guild of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

The meeting, one of a series of lecture-luncheons, will begin at 12:30 p. m. and is open to all members of the Guild and their guests, according to Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, chairman.

Miss Kinsinger, a graduate of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing here, went to Brazil in September 1955 as a medical missionary sponsored by the Mennonite Church. She was assigned to Araquacema, Golas, in the interior of Brazil, where she spent two terms of three years each.

After graduating from Memorial School of Nursing, Miss Kinsinger attended the Hartford Seminary Foundation and also took a six-month course in midwifery at Frontier Nursing School, Hyden Kentucky.

In her talk she will describe her experiences, the life of the natives, and progress being made in Brazil. She will illustrate her talk with slides.

Symphony Offers Concert Friday At Fort Hill

The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra will make its fourth appearance in Cumberland Friday at 8:15 p. m. at Fort Hill High School auditorium. John F. Vandegrift, ticket chairman, said adult and student tickets will be available at the box office Friday evening.

The concert program will include the King Stephen Overture by Beethoven, Handel's Concerto for Viola and Orchestra in B minor, "Death and Transfiguration" by Richard Strauss, and Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 4 in F minor, Opus 36. Godfrey Layefsky, the orchestra's principal violist, will be soloist for the Handel Concerto.

This year's concert is sponsored by 24 Cumberland area civic groups and Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc.

ACLU To Seek Reinstatement Of Teachers

Md. Branch Attacks Firing Procedure

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland branch of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) said Wednesday "there is reason to suspect possible violation of academic freedom" in the release of four teachers from the Frostburg State Teachers College faculty.

A statement from the Rev. Irving R. Murray, chairman of the branch, also said "good professional procedure was not followed" and urged that the four teachers be reinstated for one year.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the college of 1,200 in the Western Maryland mountains, had this to say of the ACLU statement:

"It is unethical for me to give information which should be presented first to my board (the State Board of Education). When my board meets, I shall present the cases to the . . . board. That is all I have to say at this time."

The teachers — Dr. Edmund Skellings, 31; Norris L. Merchant, 27; John Ireland, 24, and John Cole, 28—said they were notified March 28 that their contracts were not being renewed.

They contended it was because they wanted to use three controversial novels in their English courses, but Hardesty said earlier this was not the case. The books are "Lolita," "Lady Chatterley's Lover" and "Tropic of Cancer."

Attacks Procedures

The Rev. Mr. Murray, who is pastor of the First Unitarian Church in Baltimore, said his statement was based on reports from two ACLU investigators sent to the Frostburg campus Tuesday. He said the two, Dr. Arthur Stinchcombe, chairman of the Maryland branch's Academic Freedom Committee, and Fred Weisgal, counsel for the branch, planned to confer with Hardesty and report further.

"Good academic practice requires that judgments of faculty members be made by a committee of their peers, i.e., men competent in the relevant scholarly disciplines, never by a single individual, certainly not by a mere administrator," the statement said.

"This was not done at Frostburg, where the decision was taken by Mr. Hardesty after consultation with the English Department head only, not with a committee of that department's faculty.

"We recognize that Mr. Hardesty legally has the right of non-reappointment with probationary teachers. When, as in the present instance, non-reappointment is 'explained' on the flim flam basis of an alleged 'immaturity' of the teachers, there is reason to suspect possible violation of academic freedom."

The ACLU statement also said it understood Hardesty's decision must be confirmed by the State Board of Education and this has not been done. The ACLU, it said, "will supply counsel for the four teachers and seek an opportunity to present their case before the board.

"The board now has a rule. . . that a teacher in his second year of employment may be dismissed only by written notice given not later than Dec. 15," the statement said.

Violation Charged

"It is recognized sound professional procedure at first-line American colleges that such notice be given six months before the end of the school year. In the present instance notice was given March 27 and 28, too late to enable the four teachers to find other suitable employment for the next academic year.

"We will argue before the board that the manner and timing of these dismissals impose undue hardship on the teachers."

The Rev. Mr. Murray also said the ACLU would urge the state board "to look into this problem in all the colleges under its jurisdiction, and to set up sound procedures for the protection of academic freedom."

There will be ACLU comment on the matter of the books, he said, after the investigators have talked with Hardesty.

Tuesday night, the Frostburg chapter of the American Association of University Professors voted 13-4 to ask its national office to "proceed immediately" with an investigation into whether academic freedom was violated.

Paw Paw Man Killed Near Mt. Storm

Euclid Runs Over Earl E. Twigg, 20

A 20-year-old Paw Paw, W. Va. area man was killed instantly yesterday morning when a Euclid truck ran over him in an accident in the vicinity of Mt. Storm, where an earthen dam is being constructed for the Virginia Electric Power Company.

Dead is Earl Edward Twigg of RD 1, Paw Paw, who was an employe of the Garbert Construction Company of Mt. Storm.

Trooper Carl Chapman, stationed with the West Virginia State Police at Petersburg, said the accident occurred about 9:55 a.m. when Mr. Twigg was in the process of "spotting" Euclids which were being loaded with rock being used in the construction of a dam on Stoney River.

The trooper said Mr. Twigg was spotting two Euclids at the time. He motioned for one of the trucks to move back toward a shovel being used to load the rock.

The other Euclid driver, Paul Zinn of Masontown, accidentally bumped Mr. Twigg and the right rear wheel ran over him, killing him instantly.

The victim was taken to the Grant County Memorial Hospital in Petersburg where J. L. Boor, coroner, said the man's death was accidental. Ronald Cosner, of Mt. Storm, driver of the Euclid which was motioned back by the victim was a witness to the accident.

Stone and Webster are contractors for the job and Garbert of Mt. Storm and George F. Hazelwood Co. of Cumberland is subcontractor.

The accident occurred five or six miles off U.S. Route 50 in the Mt. Storm area, Trooper Chapman said.

The victim was a son of Herbert V. and Geraldine (Twigg) Twigg, of Oldtown.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

State Music Educators Will Visit Frostburg

All 1,200 members of the Maryland Music Educators Association have been invited to attend the association's third annual conference at Frostburg State Teachers College on April 26 and 27, according to LaVern J. Hahn, Allegany County supervisor of music education.

Mr. Hahn and Dr. Ward K. Cole of Frostburg are serving as co-chairmen for the conference which is expected to attract between 300 and 400 music educators to Western Maryland late this month.

In his letter to his fellow music educators, Mr. Hahn wrote in part:

"We are all aware that our personal professional growth is immediately reflected in the musical growth of our youth. As the schedule of events indicates—we, the teachers from various areas of public school music education, will have an excellent opportunity to share our experiences with highly qualified professional educators."

The day before the conference begins, the All-Maryland High School Orchestra will rehearse in the Beall High School auditorium from 9 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. John Farinacci, orchestra director of Cleveland High School, will be guest conductor of the orchestra.

The conference will conclude Saturday, April 27, with a concert by the All-Maryland orchestra from 3:15 until 4:30 p. m.
